Musical Comedy at Majestic Wins Favor of Large Audience

For the first time in many weeks a musical attraction is presented at the vaudeville program at the Majestic Theater for the first half of this week.

The novelty of the comedians was exceptionally good, Jimmie Hodges and Elmer Coudy furnishing much of the fun by the usual array of jokes, some of them old, but many more that are original.

COLONIAL To-night, for the last time — Ethel Barrymore in "The Eternal Mother."

REGENT To-day and to-morrow — Douglas Fairbanks in "Reaching for the Moon."

VICTORIA To-day and to-morrow — "The Retreat of the Germans at the Battle of Arras," official war pictures.

Those who witnessed the opening performances of "Pretty Baby" at the Majestic theater, yesterday, have remarked upon the fun element in the big musical revue.

"The Eternal Mother," with Ethel Barrymore as the star, has that sublime appeal, the power of mother love.

"The Retreat of the Germans at the Battle of Arras," the Victoria Theater, yesterday, were amazed at the scenes of the actual fighting and were given an idea of just what this war really means.

"A whirlwind of action and a plot of fun, and typically Fairbanks," is a description given of the new Douglas Fairbanks film, "Reaching for the Moon."

The great crowds of people who witnessed the showing of "The Retreat of the Germans at the Battle of Arras," at the Victoria Theater, yesterday, were amazed at the scenes of the actual fighting and were given an idea of just what this war really means.

HEINZ WOULD PLACE BAN ON ALL 'GOUGERS'

Threatens to Cut Off Supply From All Who Demand Unfair Prices

Philadelphia, Dec. 4.—Howard J. Heinz, representative of the United States food administration for Pennsylvania, issued a statement yesterday in which he instructed county administrators that retail dealers who charge "unreasonable prices" are to be driven out of business by having their food supplies cut off.

Instructions From Heinz In his statement of the method which food administrators will pursue when dealing with retail dealers, Mr. Heinz said:

"As to the small retailer or distributor whose business is less than $100,000 a year, Section 4 of the act makes it unlawful for any person (a) to destroy any necessities for the purpose of enhancing the price; (b) to permit waste or permit deterioration of any necessities; (c) to board any necessities; (d) to engage in any discriminatory or unfair practice; (e) to make any unjust or unreasonable rate or charge; (f) to combine or conspire with any other person in any way to enhance the price of any necessities.

"If, then, the small retailer does any of these things which are prohibited, the rules and regulations for the license system explained above provide that no licensed dealer shall knowingly sell any food commodity to any person engaged in the business of selling such commodity who is violating the provisions of the food administration act by making any unreasonable rate of charge in selling or otherwise handling or dealing in such commodity, or by holding back such commodity beyond his reasonable requirements, or by hoarding."

Unnecessary credit and delivery systems should be abolished, in the opinion of the government, Mr. Heinz asserted, for these are considered economic wastes. He also said that the success of the food administration law depends upon enlightened public opinion. He said:

"The first evidence received by me of gouging by retailers will be turned over to the Department of Justice for action."

"We have our own inspectors," he said, "as well as seventeen women who are known as price obtainers. But our efforts to bring the gouger to justice should not stop with their efforts. If any woman believes she has the evidence that will fasten a charge on a culprit, let her come at once to me, and I'll dot all in my power to see that the man, if guilty, gets his just deserts."

War Stamp Talk

If every person in the United States were to purchase a war thrift stamp at 25 cents, Uncle Sam would have twenty-five millions of dollars with which to fight the war for liberty and democracy.

If every man, woman and child in this country were to make up their minds to do their bit in subscribing to the loans the government now needs, the two billions provided for in the war stamp act would be forthcoming in less time than it takes to tell it.

If every one could realize what this means to the government and the boys at the front the success of this new project of the government would be assured and the 1918 issue of stamps would be exhausted before all who desired to subscribe would have had an opportunity.

Here is what you give: $4.12 for a war savings certificate stamp in December, 1917 and January, 1918. Each month thereafter you pay one cent more for these stamps.

Here is what you get: If these stamps are left intact until the first day of January, 1923, you get $5.00 for each and every one.

Four per cent, compounded quarterly. A clear conscience. The comforting thought that you have done your duty as a loyal American.

Call at the Post Office and get the proof. Contributions that have not yet done so, should call the hospital and a wagon or truck will be sent for them.

Necessity Is the Father of Modern Conveniences

One must crowd more than a day's work into a day in times like these.

To get from one place to another is one of the vital problems of the busy man and woman.

To get there in comfort and trim—ready to get right down to business — makes for efficiency in work.

The delightful, deep upholstered cozy interior, of OVERLAND TOURING SEDAN makes travel easy and comfortable.

And when the weather permits you can quickly convert this excellent Sedan into an open car.

When will it be convenient for our man to call?
