Secretary McAdoo calls the people with these words: "What is of superlative importance in the readjustment that must take place is that our people shall be impressed with the necessity of economizing in the consumption of articles of clothing, food and fuel, and of every other thing which constitutes a drain upon the available supplies, materials and resources of the country."

"So far as I have been able to observe, the American people are not sufficiently aroused to the necessity of economy and of saving in the life of America, but not only in the life of America, but of the nations of the world."

To the great task facing the country, Secretary McAdoo calls the people with these words: "What is of superlative importance in the readjustment that must take place is that our people shall be impressed with the necessity of economizing in the consumption of articles of clothing, food and fuel, and of every other thing which constitutes a drain upon the available supplies, materials and resources of the country."

Secretary McAdoo denounced purchasers of Liberty bonds who sell their bonds when they do not imperatively need money. "It is by actually lending money to the Government and not by merely promising it and shifting the load to some one else," he said.

Secretary McAdoo expressed the hope that additional funds to be raised during the balance of the year be by bond issues rather than by taxation, saying: "It is my earnest conviction that the general economy of the country should be permitted to readjust itself to the new revenue laws before consideration should be given to the imposition of additional tax burdens."

Tollgates Go.—For the first time in fifty years, travelers on the Donegal-Mt. Pleasant turnpike are passing over that road without paying. The road was freed Saturday and at that time the old tollgates were torn down according to the agreement which was made April 12, 1916.

To Mark Site.—Plans to build a monument on the Bushy Run battle site in Penn township, Westmoreland county have been completed. Congressman E. E. Robbins is chairman of the committee. The State Historical Commission has set apart $2500 for this purpose, and school children raised $700 in penny collections, which raised the sum to $3200. It is proposed to raise about $5000. The monument will mark the spot in Penn township where the English forces, under command of Colonel Henry Bouquet, won their victory over the French and Indians.

State to Run Sales.—A Department of Agriculture statement to-day says: "Interest in improving dairy herds by the addition of registered stock has been urged for years by the dairy experts of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, and with the agitation over the increasing cost of producing milk, the needs for the better class of cattle is made more apparent. Many farmers who desire to secure better cattle have been backward in its purchase, somewhat on account of the lack of proper attention being called where such cattle can be purchased. The bureau of markets of the Department of Agriculture has arranged a small list of mostly pure bred cattle offered for sale in several sections of the state and is ready to place farmers in touch with owners of registered cattle. The cattle is valued at a total of about $50,000."

Kick on Gas Rates.—The Jones & Laughlin Steel Company, one of the largest industrial concerns in the Pittsburgh district, to-day filed complaint with the Public Service Commission that the Equitable Gas Company, of Pittsburgh, had given notice that it would withdraw its industrial rate of 17 cents per thousand cubic feet for users of over half a million feet annually. The company contends that it is the only large consumer and that no substitute is practicable by December 24, when the change is to take effect, that it is impossible to use coal and that oil is hardly obtainable. As it is engaged on government contracts it asks that the company be required to furnish it gas as long as it has such work. The commission fixed December 19 for a hearing. Residents of East Hickory and Endeavor, Forest county, to-day complained that the Bell Telephone Company planned to withdraw long distance service.

CONGRESS MUST PROVIDE 5 BILLION

Of the $12,316,000,000 estimated ordinary expenditures for the year ending next June 30, $1,327,000,000 is for war purposes, and the proportion is about the same for the fiscal year ending in 1919.

Has Horse Burden Well.—So far the nation has borne the financial burdens of the war well, says Secretary McAdoo, owing to the healthy business condition and the valuable aid of the established Federal Reserve System. In the future, however, increasingly greater habits of economy must be developed by individuals and business institutions. The Secretary declares, and "business as usual" cannot be adopted as the guiding principle of the war. People must save and invest in government securities to avoid postponing victory.

With this admonition, Mr. McAdoo proceeds to cite the enormous figures of Government receipts and expenditures which are the fruit of wartime. Total estimated receipts for the
