

'BABY BONDS ARE SELLING RAPIDLY IN HARRISBURG

Mail Carriers Pleased With Results After Three Days' Work

Letter carriers, city and rural, will be the prime missionaries in selling "baby" bonds and thrift cards for the government campaign to raise a new war fund of $2,000,000,000, in the opinion of Postmaster Frank C. Sites who stated this morning that the sales had been heavier than was expected.

"When the vast population of this country understands accurately," declared Mr. Sites, "I am of opinion that this system will become so popular that it will be permanent. The Liberty Bond campaign had a hard time getting started, but when the public appreciated what a splendid investment it is the campaign fairly whirled. Of course it was patriotic in the people to support this so liberally, but I would not call it a sacrifice by any means. Financial men understood instantly that it was a superb investment and the poorer population will pretty soon see that this one is equally good."

"The mail carriers were jubilant to-day for they had already begun to arouse the people along their various routes. These men are all enterprising and they know every man, woman and child, so that their canvassing will go right to the spot. I predict that the baby bond will become tremendously popular, for with the thrift card, it fills a long-felt want, the ready and lucrative means to save money. It is also likely that many persons of means will buy the limit, $1,000 worth. No one can purchase more than $100 worth at one time, but there is nothing to hinder a man from patronizing various localities until he has accumulated to the value of $1,000. Even this, however, will not prevent the poor man from getting his share. All Harrisburg mail carriers were provided with supplies of stamps yesterday and sold them widely."

Greatest precautions have been taken to insure and protect buyers of these certificates from loss. They are issued in the name of the owner, his or her name and address being written into it. To protect the owner in case it should be lost or stolen, provision is made by which the certificate can be registered. When this is done, it is payable only at the particular post office where registered. Upon giving evidence of the loss of a registered certificate, the owner shall be entitled to receive payment of the amount for which it shall have been registered. The amount which can be registered is, of course, the sum or sums which have been paid on it that is from $4.12 up to $84.40.

In case one is lost and found the name and address of the owner is safely back to the owner. All postmasters are required to take every means to get lost certificates back to the rightful owners. The registration right makes it absolutely certain that no one can lose a certificate and thereby sustain loss. And registration gives no more trouble than to go to the nearest post office and have the stamps canceled and the certificate registered. Then all risks are upon Uncle Sam.

Plan For Reception at Y. M. C. A. on New Year's

Plans for the social activities at the Y. M. C. A. on New Year's Day will be arranged by the social work committee, which will meet to-morrow evening, at 7:30 o'clock. "The Power of the Consecrated Life" will be the subject of an address to be delivered by Dr. W. A. Granville, president of Gettysburg College, in Falconer Hall, Sunday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock. The meeting is the second of a series of men's mass meetings, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. Special music will be furnished by the Stevens Memorial Male Chorus, and William Boyer will sing several lantern solos. A reception will be given to the soldiers from the Middletown Aviation camp, Friday evening. Special program of interesting features has been prepared.

I WAS SCARCELY ABLE TO BE ABOUT

"Was Miserable Night and Day."

Says M. L. Collins, 1118 Cumberland St., Harrisburg, "I was bothered with bad headache which made me miserable night and day."

"I often had nervous and dizzy spells and many sleepless nights, it was a dreadful condition to be in."

"My stomach gave me a lot of trouble with gas and nervous indigestion, no food agreed with me."

"I was so worn out that I was scarcely able to be about, and this state of affairs had me worried."

"I had heard a lot about Sanpan, and decided to try it, and in a short time it drove out my ailments."

"My headaches left, nerves got steady, could sleep well, my stomach got fine and food agreed with me and everything came out great."

Sanpan is being introduced at Keller's Drug Store, 405 Market St., Harrisburg, where the Sanpan man is meeting the people.—Adv.

Father's First Letter to Santa Claus

By A Good Many Men

Dear Santa Claus:—

I am a middle-aged father, proud of a family of two boys and three girls, and it has been a long time since I wrote to you, but this year I have something to say that is important, at least it is to me.

As you know, this has been a pretty tough year on fathers, but most of us have not "made a squeak"—we are glad to be fathers, and are willing to pay for the privilege. But now that we're approaching the time that you'll be crawling down our chimney, I want to make a few suggestions, about the things that you might leave.

Of course I always need shirts, and there are pajamas — (cotton are good enough, silk would just tickle me to pieces); neckties, nice quiet ones; handkerchiefs, with my initial in the corner; silk hose, bath robes, kid gloves, and such things that I need badly for I have sort of let my supplies run low this past year.

You know, Santa, I would like to have you talk these things over with my folks. And by the way, I would like to say that if you do get any of these things for me, that they be rather modest and retiring in pattern, for I don't want to compete with the boys in noise making.

Thank you Mr. Santa Claus, and I hope you will have plenty of things to go around here at home with many things for our brothers, sons and fathers — and all those brave men, who are spending their Christmas on the war side of the water.

Merry Christmas and a peaceful, happy New Year to you, Mr. Santa Claus.

Sincerely, A FATHER.
