

U. S. MUST SEND MORE MEN TOWARD SENATOR WARNS

Reed Sees Need For Greater Sacrifice; Would Train Boys of the Nation

Washington, Dec. 13.—Warning that the United States must prepare to assume further burdens to win the war was given in the Senate by Senator Reed in vigorous opposition to a trust scheme the Webb export combination bill, which President Wilson, in his recent address, urged Congress to enact.

Declaring that Congress should concentrate upon great war problems and defer considering the anti-legislation as the export trade measure, the Missouri Senator said that with Russia out of the war and Humana also "out of the war" numerically, is now superior in man power.

Although an opponent of army conscription, Senator Reed predicted that new draft levies probably would be necessary and urged military training for youths between eighteen and twenty-one during their leisure work. Invasion of America, he asserted, was not beyond the realms of possibilities should other allied powers fall beside Russia, Rumania and Serbia.

The Webb bill was denounced by Senator Reed as destructive of the Sherman anti-trust law. He denounces trusts and monopolies and a proposed legalizing of illegal combinations which would encroach on consumers abroad, and increase domestic prices.

"It repeals," he said, "every vestige of that system of artificial statistics built up during twenty-eight years by the Federal Government so far as the same apply to commerce with foreign powers. It is intended to directly legalize the creation of trusts and monopolies and to control every foreign market in which the American citizen may seek to sell his goods. Indirectly it will enable these same combinations to control the domestic markets, because control of the price of the surplus that goes abroad to find a market controls the price of the home product.

This legislation has the enthusiastic support of the allied trusts of the United States, together with their servants, agents, employees and sympathizers. It will be supported by every newspaper that believes in the control of big business, which regards every effort to control or circumscribe the powers of capital as undesirable and dangerous.

Cannot Trust Memory to Keep Dates Correctly

Memory plays odd tricks. At the time important events occur they make such deep impressions that it would seem impossible for them to be forgotten in any degree. Dates, names and places often slip the memory. A diary prevents mistakes by recording essentials in their proper relative order at the time and scene of action. Old diaries long since laid away have been frequently used as conclusive evidence in court. Since the diary writer's body realizes the importance of keeping permanent records to give in later years as many individual experiences as possible.

Of equal importance is the study of French, which language is of more importance than ever before. To meet the demand for and to encourage the keeping of permanent records and gaining knowledge of French and newspapers are supplying readers with "The Soldiers-Sailors Diary and English-French Dictionary." In this book the diary spaces are undated and may be used any day. It never can become out-of-date.

The Soldiers-Sailors Diary and English-French Dictionary is being distributed in this city exclusively by this paper on a coupon plan explained on another page. The book, which is richly bound in durable textile leather and practically indestructible, is of pocket size.
