

Red Cross Nurses Meet Soldiers From Gettysburg

Gettysburg, Pa., Dec. 14.—Adams county's representatives among the Red Cross nurses "over there" are meeting some of the boys from the home county or those who spent the summer in the camp here. A letter received by friends from Miss Kate Wolf tells of meeting a soldier boy from New Oxford, but does not disclose his name. M. B. Skipper, one of the soldiers lads of the camp here who is now across, has written of how he was taken sick on the way over and sent to a hospital on his arrival in France to be cared for by a nurse who proved to be Miss Beulah Armor, of Gettysburg. Although Skipper had not previously known the young lady, the meeting was full of interest because during his spare time while encamped here he had clerked in one of the town stores and Miss Armor's brother was also a clerk in the same store.

GINGEROLE absorbs instantly, is very penetrating and that's why it only takes a few minutes to get rid of earache, headache, toothache, backache and neuralgia. Justice Administrators Scathing Rebuke to Lawyer Opposing Draft

Washington, Dec. 14.—A scathing rebuke administered by Chief Justice White to one of the lawyers attacking the draft law enlivened argument before the Supreme Court yesterday in cases testing the constitutionality of the Army draft act. J. Gordon Jones, representing Alexander Bertram, convicted in Georgia of failing to register, declared the law was unconstitutional because it required men to take part in a war which had never received the people's approval. His remarks were cut short.

70,000 War Sufferers in Saloniki to Be Given Aid by U. S. Red Cross

Among the largest of war relief works being carried on at the present time are camps for homeless thousands of persons in and around Saloniki, which were started by Dr. Edward W. Ryan, head of the American Red Cross in that region. There are 70,000 sufferers camping out in the tents which have been set up. While the Saloniki conflagration was still raging Dr. Ryan set up soup kitchens, and within twelve hours of the start of the fire he was feeding 2,500 people. The allied military authorities came in later, and the work has been kept up ever since, with English, French and Americans co-operating. The problem now is what to do when the Macedonian winter sets in and the tents are no longer habitable. The afflicted people are in a hopeless, improvident state of mind. They are a wretched lot, having lost everything in the fire, and they refuse to do a stroke of work for themselves. There are many old women and children and hundreds of nursing babies living in the tents. In the baby's nursery Red Cross nurses bathe the children, with boy scouts as helpers. According to a late report not a baby had died at one of the camps which was inspected. In spite of the circumstances there also was little sickness in this camp.

MAJ. GEN. MUR TO HEAD DIVISION OF STATE GUARD

Served in the Philippine Insurrection and Spanish-American War

Camp Hancock, Augusta, Ga., Dec. 14.—Lieutenant Colonel King, chief of staff of the Twenty-eighth Division, announced yesterday that Major General Charles H. Muir, recently assigned to command the One Hundred Sixty-second Infantry Brigade at Camp Jackson, S. C., has been designated as the new commander of the Pennsylvania National Guard division. Muir is fifty-five years old, has seen thirty-two years' service in the Regular Army and was in the Philippine insurrection and Spanish-American War.

The commander is reported to be a soldier of much force and enthusiasm. Major Fuqua, now assigned to Colonel King and during the latter's absence on his European observation tour acting chief of staff, has served a number of years in the new command. He was the new Major General's adjutant while he was a post commander at Fort Clark, Texas, in 1910, and served with him in the Philippines from 1898 to 1910. He was always full of enthusiasm. Major Fuqua to-day is Major Muir's new adjutant. He recalled his long service under the general division commander, in which he was his adjutant "at the post," "on the train," "on board ship" and his mess officer. The new general graduated from West Point in 1885, and was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Seventeenth Infantry. In January, 1892, he was made a first lieutenant, and transferred to the Second Infantry. His appointment as captain in the same organization was made on March 2, 1899. The new division commander served from 1899 to 1908 as a captain. On March 24, 1908, he was commissioned a major in the Twenty-third Infantry, which commission he held until January 11, 1914, when he was elevated to the rank of lieutenant colonel, but was unassigned.
