dressed members of the Naval Aux-illary of the Red Cross yesterday afternoon at the home of Miss Mary Cameron, on "Allowances and Allot-ments Among the Enlisted Men." He said that we are not doing enough when we train men and send them it the front, for we must also relieve their minds about the condition of their families at home." The new provisions, enacted on Oc-tober 6 provide three things to help, viz.: compensation, war risks and insurance, and allotments and allow-ances. Each man is obliged to allot to his family at least half of his pay and more if the family is large. He may allot some to his parents and others subject to regulations of the Navy Department. The government, or application, gives an allowance to a wife of $20 and larger sums for larger families of dependents, ex-cept that no family may receive more than fifty dollars. The govern-mont does not give this aid unless t does not give this ald unless asked for and the man must an equal amount. If a wife es to relinquish her allotment shes to relinquish wishes to reinquish her allotment she must prove that she has suffi-cient income." Pay Director John N. Speel, U. S. N., retired, told interestingly of a sailor's day, the Rev. Dr. Lewis S. YOUNG ORATORS AT CENTRAL HIGH

Ross Hoffman, Winston Romig and George Pulas Winners of Kunkel Contest

The Samuel Kunkel oratorical con-est for junior boys of Central High School was held yesterday afternoon and aroused much interest among the and aroused much interest among the boys. The contestants showed the results of careful training on the part of their instructor, Miss Annabell Swartz, teacher in public speaking at Central. All the essays were given in a forceful, direct manner and the judges had considerable difficulty in, deciding who deserved the prizes. The first prize of twenty-five dollars was won by Ross Hoffman, 200 Hamilton street. His subject, "Why We Are at War," was one of unusual inter-est at this period of time Miss Helen Hoffman, sister of Ross Hoffman, won the first prize in the D. A. R. contest this year.

this year. The second prize of fifteen dollars this year. The second prize of fifteen dollars was won by Winston Romig, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Romig, 630 Camp street. His subject, "Sympathy For Russia," was well received by the audience. His picture does not ap-pear because he was too modest to let the reporter take it. The third prize, ten dollars, won by George Pulas, was "The American Farmer and the Liberty Bond." It brought out the attitude of the ma-jority of American farmers with ref-erence to the Liberty Dond. George Pulas is one of the most popular boys in Central, being cheerleader-in-chief. The oher boys who spoke were as follows: George Manbech, "When the Liberties of the World Are at Stake"; John Koch, "Young America"; Stew-art Wagner, "Address to Officers"; Mr. Kamartz, "Citizenship", and Vance Butler, "The Foes of Our Own Household."
