

BETHLEHEM STEEL LAYS PLANS FOR NEW PEACE WORK

Head of Great Industry Promises Permanent Prosperity in Allentown Speech

Allentown, Pa., Dec. 15.—Permanent prosperity for the Lehigh Valley through the medium of the Bethlehem Steel Company as a foundation was virtually promised Thursday night by Eugene G. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel Company, in an address at the annual dinner of the Allentown Chamber of Commerce.

His statement, supplemented in a measure by an address delivered by Mr. Schwab himself, was that while Bethlehem is working now on war materials, it is designed to be employed to the top of its capacity on peace work, and that it will be so employed.

Bethlehem has contracts for more torpedoboot destroyers than there are in the whole world today," said Mr. Grace, explaining his remark that the destroyer was being depended upon to cope with the submarine.

Optimistic as to Future As to the future of the company when war orders cease, Mr. Grace was frankly optimistic. He told of the company's decision to place the headquarters of the Bethlehem enterprises in Bethlehem itself, so that sales of ships will be made in Bethlehem and not in New York or elsewhere.

"We'd actually launch ships here if the water were deep enough," he laughingly added.

As to the future of our plants, which now employ 30,000 hands against 8,000 three years ago, let me say that every extension we have made has been with a view to permanence; every building erected has been a permanent building.

When peace comes all this capacity will be employed upon other work, and it will be employed, or Mr. Schwab will get a new organization.

"When the Liberty Bonds came out I bought pretty freely," said Mr. Schwab. "I went to the president of the Equitable Trust Company, in New York, Mr. Krech, and told him I wanted to borrow $2,000,000. He didn't look exactly favorable, and finally he said:

"But, Charley, you already have a loan of $2,000,000 here. 'Oh, hell,' I said, 'I had forgotten about that.'"

Duty of American Citizens From Liberty Bonds Mr. Schwab passed to the duty of American citizens in this time of trial, making an earnest plea for an enlightened Americanism that will make every man do his part for the country.

In a reminiscent way he talked of his views on the relations between man and man, and the hitherto artificial distinctions of aristocracy. The new aristocracy, he said, would be made up of those who do things and

Why Go Away With Printing? It would be folly to send to a distant city for water when it is here in abundance; it would be unwise to suffer delay and inconvenience in an effort to procure any commodity that is yours by the simple reaching out and taking hold. From a slightly differing view-point it is also true that you invite delay and disappointment, with no saving in money-value by going out of town with your printing. It has been proven so often that wise business men save postage, telegraph or telephone tolls and are able to keep in personal touch with their order. TOBACCO IS TRUE FRIEND OF MEN AT FRONT

Foreign Tobacco Is Far Inferior to That Bought in America

Sir Walter Raleigh, name of worth! How sweet for thee to know King James, who never smoked on earth, is smoking down below.

"For when all things were made none was made better than tobacco—to be a lone man's companion, a bachelor's friend, a hungry man's food, a sad man's cordial, a wakeful man's sleep and a chilly man's fire." That's what a really great man said about Friend Tobacco, a man who was a big leaguer from top to toe, no less than Charles Kingsley, author of "Westward Ho," and a dozen other ripping good novels. We would take Charles Kingsley's word about a serious matter like tobacco a mighty sight quicker than the mountings of old King James, the gazabo who was lucky to be on the throne when England and Scotland got handcuffed. What must that tough old monarch have been supplied with when he would say this: "This tobacco habit is a custom loathsome to the eye, hateful to the nose, harmful to the brain, dangerous to the lungs, and in the black stinking fume thereof nearest resembling the horrible Stygian smoke of the pit that is bottomless." James probably never smoked anything but cabbage leaves, and it is admitted that foreign tobacco is far inferior to the native stuff raised in old Virginia. Poor James! what a reception he would receive to-day over on the front, if he pulled 'his twaddle. As a matter of fact he made a narrow gauge king and nobody trusted him, so his estimate of tobacco is not worth a puff. But Charles Kingsley, ah, he take his word like change from an honest grocer, without counting it. He tells the real story of soldier's smokes, a friend, food, and companion.

PLAN A GREAT UNION REVIVAL

Evangelistic Services to Begin in Harris A. M. E. Zion Next Month

Arrangements are now complete for the great evangelistic campaign of the interdenominational Ministers' Conference of Harrisburg and Vicinity, which begins on Sunday afternoon, January 6, at the Harris A. M. E. Zion Church. One full week will be spent in each co-operating church; and the united choirs under the leadership of the Rev. A. J. Greene, will sing the gospel songs which mean so much to believers. The Second Baptist Church building, in which pentecostal showers were experienced during the last year campaign, has been put out of commission by fire since spring, and therefore that church will not have a week of her own in a building, but her members, under the leadership of their pastor, Dr. Greene, will be actively engaged in every phase of the campaign for its abundant success and the glory of God. The conference stands ready to do everything in its power for the assistance of the Second Baptist Church in her present houseless condition. From Watch Night special season of prayer will be observed in each of the co-operating churches in this city and Steelton; every church officer and every member is urged to attend these prayer meetings. The churches are in the business of the King for souls, and if we would have God's guidance in our every affair of life we must make spiritual things our main business. Let all our churches pray then for a great spiritual shower on these union efforts for souls. The members of the conference are urged to be present at the weekly meeting at Wesley Church on Monday morning at 10.30 to receive their preaching appointments for the union revival services. Let us all be present and on time.

TO ENLIST HOME GUARD. The local Recruiting Office has received instructions from Washington to start to enlist men over the age of 31 for home guard service. Fifteen thousand men will be needed in the new Home Defense Army, and Harrisburg recruiting officers hope to furnish a creditable number of the new Army. Men will be recruited at once. The men will be sent to some training cantonment for a short term of training, and then, as nearly as it can be done, assigned to duty near their own homes.
