CHORUS TO SING 'LIGHT ETERNAL'

Christmas Cantata Will Be Presented Sunday Evening in Olivet Church

The combined chorus of thirty-five voices, including the members of the Immanuel and Olivet Presbyterian choirs, will sing H. W. Petries' Christmas cantata "Light Eternal," Sunday evening in the Olivet Presbyterian Church at 7.30.

The chorus has held weekly rehearsals under the alternate leadership of R. B. Manley, director of the Olivet choir and H. D. Hammond, in charge of the Immanuel choir.

The solo parts will be sung by Carlton Donmoyer, tenor; Miss Elizabeth Workman, contralto; Miss Miriam Himes, soprano, and C. Y. Stamm, bass. R. B. Manley and Carlton Donmoyer will sing a baritone-tenor duet and an especially finely combined trio part will be sung by Mr. Manley and Mr. Donmoyer with Miss Lillian Speakman in the soprano lead.

Prior to the formal musical service a brief program of Christmas carols will be sung in the Sunday school room of the church, which will float to the ears of the hearers gathered in the church auditorium as fragments of song in the far off distance and will give a peculiar charm and pleasing atmosphere to the naturally much appreciated and joyous carols of the Yuletide.

Much time and energy has been spent both by the leaders and chorus members to make the program well worth while, and effort of that sort merits a proportionately large and appreciative audience.

Miss Frances Gelwicks, the church organist, will accompany the chorus. She will be assisted by a six-piece string orchestra, who with their violins, cellos and flutes will augment "the power of song."

Charles Dunkle, a student at Mercersburg Academy, is home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Dunkle, of Nineteenth and Derry streets, over the Christmas holidays.

Miss Clara A. Mahaney, of 307 Crescent street, will be the guest of her aunt, Mrs. M. F. Bingham, of Eastern Shore, Md., for several weeks.

J. Horace Nunemaker, a student at Colgate University, Hamilton, New York, is spending a several weeks' vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Nunemaker, of 332½ Crescent street.

Miss Alice Virginia Cooper, a student at the Birmingham School for Girls, returned yesterday from Birmingham to spend the holiday recess with her father, Frank Cooper, of Camp Hill.

Dr. Ralph E. Moffatt and family are going to Cumberland, Md., to spend the Christmas holidays. Dr. Moffatt expects to return home on January 3.

Miss Esther Bishop a student of Maryland College, Lutherville, Md., will spend the holiday recess with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Bishop who are spending the winter at the National Hotel, Mechanicsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Gaines and small daughter, Lola Gaines, of Cleveland, Ohio, are in the city for a week's stay among relatives.

M'CORMICK CONTEST WINNERS

MARGARET GRAEFF — HELEN APPELBY

KATHARINE WORLEY — MARY AMMON

The winners of the McCormick short story contest were announced through the High School Argus today. The contest is open to all classes in the school and for this reason excites more interest than usual. Freshmen are allowed to compete with seniors. However, this year the upper classmen carried off all the honors. The prizes, ten and five dollars, given by Vance C. McCormick, were won by Miss Margaret Graeff, first prize, and Miss Helen Appleby, second prize. Miss Graeff is a junior and has shown unusual ability in writing short stories. Her story, "Star of the East," received much favorable comment from the judges, Miss Katherine Zeiders, Miss Edith Tatnell and Paul Smith. Miss Graeff is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Graeff, 1952 Kensington street.

Miss Helen Appleby, winner of the second prize, also won first honorable mention. She won a prize last year in the Junior Girls' contest. She is a daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Appleby, 1207 Derry street, and is a member of the S. P. Q. G. Latin Society of Central. She submitted five stories.

Miss Mary Ammon, daughter of John F. Ammon, 2037 Penn street, won honorable mention for her story, "Kinter's Medicine." One of the most popular girls in schol, she is a member of the school choir, S. S. S. Club, S. A. E. Society and Demosthenian Literary Society. Several of her stories have appeared before in the Argus.

Miss Katherine Worley, who submitted two stories, "In Pursuit of a Hat," and "Polly and Tom," also won honorable mention. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Worley, 1422 Walnut street, and a member of the C. H. S. Club.

The contestants were allowed to hand in as many stories as they wished to John A. F. Hall, who is the faculty adviser of the Argus and is especially interested in this work. The prize winning and honorable-mention stories are printed in this issue of the school paper. Other interesting stories which were submitted will appear in the next issue of the paper.

Elect Newell Albright Irving's Music Head

NEWELL ALBRIGHT

Newell Albright, pianist and organist of this city, has been named as the director of music at Irving to succeed Professor Harper, who recently resigned to become dean of the musical department of the University of South Dakota.

Dr. E. E. Campbell, president of Irving, made the announcement last evening at an informal reception in honor of Professor Harper at his home at Arlvle. Members of the faculty and students of Irving were guests. In the receiving line were Dr. and Mrs. Campbell, Professor Harper, Mrs. Jessie Ennis and Mr. Albright.

Miss Elizabeth Campbell, vocal teacher, sang; Miss Beatrice Knight, teacher of piano, played, and Miss Florence Lukens Newbold, teacher of expression, read. Miss Catherine Wheelock, dean of the college, after giving a talk on "Reminiscences," in behalf of the musical students presented Mr. Harper with a handsome silver loving sup.

After refreshments Dr. Campbell introduced Newell Albright, who gave a program of four selections on the piano.

Mr. Albright is one of the best known of the city's musicians, organist of St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal Church, Second and Emerald streets. He is a pupil of Frederick Martin, of this city, and Tobias Matthay, London, England.

General Beary Tells of the Boys in Camp

When General Frank D. Beary said that "discipline is the keynote of a soldier's life and efficiency" yesterday at the get-together meeting of relatives of men in the service and homeservice department of the Red Cross, every one felt that he knew just what he was talking about. General Beary told much of interest about the camps he has recently visited, speaking in highest terms of the work of the Y. M. C. A. and Knights of Columbus among the men, closing by saying:

"Our most sacred duty is upholding the honor of our country, that we must carry our flag around the world and that it will be the bulwark against which Prussianism will receive its crushing blow. All the world is looking to us for the final victory."

Mrs. Gobin Vallerchamp sang delightfully two Christmas songs accompanied by Alfred C. Kuschwa, of St. Stephen's Church. Mrs. Martin G. Brumbaugh and Mrs. Walter P. Maguire arranged the program for the afternoon, which closed with a tea. Mrs. Lyman D. Gilbert presided over the tea cups assisted by Mrs. Brumbaugh, Mrs. Maguire, Mrs. George B. Kunkel, Miss Cora Lee Snyder, Mrs. Arthur A. Herr, Miss Leita Brady and Miss Mildred Astrich.

Mrs. William I. Laubenstine, chairman of the department, announces the next meeting of this kind on the third Wednesday of January: These meetings are well attended by women of the soldiers' and sailors' families, and many of whom say that their boys are delighted to know that an interest is taken by the city in their home folks left behind.

SEILER SCHOOL CONCERT

The members of the senior and junior chorus classes of the Seiler School, under the direction of Mrs. Wilbur F. Harris, and the primary chorus, under the direction of Miss Sue Seiler, will give their annual Christmas concert at the school this evening at 8 o'clock. Old French and English as well as modern Yuletide carols will be included in the program. Miss Alice Graydon is the accompanist for the chorus.

Joseph Snyder, located with the Army encampment at Camp Meade, near Annapolis, Md., has returned after spending a brief furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Snyder, of 318 South Fifteenth street.
