

MYERS-REYNOLDS WEDDING
Marietta, Pa., Dec. 21.—Miss Helen Reynolds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reynolds, of Millersville, was married Wednesday to Harry E. Myers Jr., by the Rev. Dr. C. E. Aupt, pastor of the Grace Lutheran church, Lancaster.

Don't Suffer With
Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Pains in Chest, Back, Headache or Sore Throat

It's marvelous how the way this great ointment banishes aches and pains from any part of the body. It is in a class by itself and its tremendous sale is due to its actual merit. "Gingerole cured my lame back and neuralgia," Herman Brownlee, of Clayville, Pa. "I have used Gigerole for lame neck and sore muscles. Cannot praise it too highly,"—George Berry, Washington, Pa. Thousands of other sufferers have testified to the mighty healing power of this ointment, and all first-class druggists are selling and recommending it. Be prepared. Go to-day to any first-class druggist and for 25 cents get a package of GINGEROLE. If it fails to do any of the things we say it will, your money back.

32 ASK LICENSE
IN ADAMS COUNTY

Court's Permission Requested
For Reopening Two Hotels
Closed For Some Time

Gettysburg, Pa., Dec. 21.—The list of license applicants for the county has been given out and shows a decrease of two in the licensed places asked for next year. Thirty-four places asked license last year, but one was refused and another, the Springs Hotel, held over until there was evidence that the proprietors meant to open the place for general hotel purposes. Of the thirty-two places which were granted licenses last year, two were closed during the year. The Kimple wholesale house in Gettysburg closed with all the other places of the town by order of the Government authorities when the soldiers were in camp here and upon their departure decided not to reopen. The Colonnade Hotel at McSherrystown was closed by order of the court for violations of the law.

MRS. W. L. HERSHEY DIES

TOBACCO HELD PLED
WIN CIVIL WAR
FOR THE UNION

Big Supply Needed Now to Keep Battling Yanks
Happy

What won the Civil War? Now, don't all answer at once. Yes, we hear you; Battle of Gettysburg, eh? And No. 2, you say it was the blockade. There's another who says simply superior numbers. Well, you are all wrong. Tobacco won the Civil War. The tobacco editor can prove it. Follow on.

What made General Grant a great general and soldier? Why, tobacco. If he had not had that old black pipe sticking between his light, grim lips the Battle of Lookout Mountain might have been lost. Standing alongside of him was General Thomas, some general, too. But it looked to him as though the Yanks were going to give in. One signal from Grant and the charge would have been abandoned, but he chewed steadily, six times on his favorite weed and then reinforced, replied: "O, give 'em a little time."

And then at the Wilderness, half a dozen of his staff were about him when a huge shell fell right amongst them. Most of them ducked but U. S. only took a tighter stranglehold on his cigar, and while he was chewing it he got an idea. Pulling out a compass he quickly computed the angle of the shell's direction and in his time he trained six guns on that Confederate battery and put the muffler on it for good.

Old Man Found Comfort in His Silent Companion

New York, Dec. 21.—He was so old that he might have been twin to Father Time, and so young that his skin bloomed like a pink rose on a guaranteed bush. He was so busy that it was taking a lot of tools to fix a door knob, and so idle that he paused at his tinkering, under the impression that a woman at a table ought to know a bit of tools in her life. "Yessum, I'm an old soldier—artillery. Some Johnny give me a bullet that makes me remember him every time it comes to figurin' that right. Some old fight feels so close behind me that I can smell powder and hear the pounding of drums—but when I go to figurin' that right, I passed my Bible limit, and that all my folks are gone—wellum, I tell you, it's a mighty lonesome job bein' the last of the old folks' coat, as the sayin' is." The woman who was having the door knob fixed admitted that it was a mighty lonesome job. She had experience to go by. "Yessum, it's nature for a man to want companionship, and if he can't do any better, he takes to dump critters—and he might go farther and fare worse. I got so lonesome one time last year that I paid out a dollar and a half for a duck, and years ago, when I was in the army, I had a company of an entire family. "Yessum, a duck is real sociable when you can't do any better. Some of these here writers me claim that a dumb critter lacks sense, but I tell you, mum, it seems to me that duck has got the knowledge to talk, if so it mout. It has got bright, knowin' in eyes—and it's a right curly little thing, too, with fine bluish, greenish feathers and a sort of speckled down under its tail and wings. "What kind of a duck is it?" "A stuffed duck, mum."

PRETTY ANKLES WON HUSBAND

And Mable Pederson Was Awarded Cup by California Artists
Here were the prettiest pair of ankles in all California. "Lucky girl! They won her country-wide fame, a beautiful cup and an army captain for a husband. Most demurely she display them as the committed of distinct gushed Pacific Coast artists paused behind her chair in the exhibition hall at Los Angeles. In the background surged the crowd—mostly men—that followed the artists as they passed by each girl in the "pretty ankles" competition. Miss Mabel Pederson heaved a sigh of relief as the artists went on to the next girl and the crowd followed.

All save one man, a fine looking chap in the uniform of a United States Army captain. An hour later, when she was being awarded the cup and a diamond ring, the closest girl friend appeared with Captain M. L. McKeever in tow. They were introduced. For a half minute they were alone. "This is so sudden!" She simply could not help giving expression to the time honored ejaculation. But the captain must have been an eloquent pleader, for their wedding day has been set.—Boston Post.

HIGH COST OF COURTING

All the world may love a lover, but the framers of the new war tax bill adopted a roundabout way of showing their affection, asserts T. F. Logan in Leslie's. The congressional measures to raise additional revenue makes a particularly affectionate assault on the bankroll of the young man who wishes to demonstrate his devotion to a maid. If the object of the youth's passion lives reasonably near him, he may escape the new tax on telegrams and telephone messages that cost less than 15 cents. Every love letter he writes will cost him an additional penny, however, even if he incloses only a single burning poem. If a trip to the theater is planned, courting lovers who live more than 30 miles from the playhouse must give financial assistance to the war on the Hohenzollerns. Actual admission to the theater demands an additional ten per cent on the cost of the tickets. Naturally, the dear girl will wish to make herself particularly alluring to her ardent swain. To do so, she must pay a two per cent tax on the perfume essence, toilet water, lip rouge or face powder that to her seems the most effective device.

Here is shown Sir William Tritton, inventor of the famous British tank. A model of his invention rests beside him on his desk. There is probably no invention in the world to-day that is causing so much comment as Sir William's fighting machine. Like the Zeppelin, the "tank" was expected to do greater things than it could possibly do, when it was first sent to the battle line.

$25,000 China Bowl
Imported Tax Free

New York, Dec. 21.—Ten inches of insignificant-looking china bowl, actual value $25,000, was the subject of a heated legal controversy that finally has resulted in a decision by the United States court of appeal here that will effect every art treasure brought into the country in the future.

Appraisers Byron G. White and Eugene G. Hay upheld the arguments of H. A. E. Jacques, the owner of the bit of china, that it is a rare work of art and of educational value; therefore, not subject to duty. By so deciding they reversed the customs officials at San Francisco, who held that it was a rare article of merchandise and as such subject to an ad valorem tax of 40 per cent. Representatives of the American Museum of Art showed great interest in the bowl, which is believed to have been used by some artistic Chinaman who lived in the time of the Sung dynasty, which extended from 960 A. D. to 1278 A. D.

USE OF LEISURE TIME
A FACTOR IN SUCCESS

"How do you spend your leisure time?" is the question which appears on the application blanks for employment in some of the largest business houses to-day. To some this may seem an unnecessary intrusion on the private life of the individual, but the way in which a worker utilizes the interval between 5 and 6 p. m. and 8 or 9 a. m., as well as his holidays and Sundays, has an important bearing on his efficiency. Dull heads and unsteady hands, which are often the by-products of misused leisure hours, are distinct liabilities in any work, whether it be mechanically routine or of the sort that requires judgment and adaptability.—Industrial Conservation, New York.
