LIFE IN FRANCE SO INTERESTING

Miss Marian Watts Writes Home Folks What to Send to Our Soldiers

Sunday, November 25, 1917.

Dear Home Folks:

We left Paris on Friday at the crack of dawn escorted on the taxi by a small elevator boy who chattered for us, carrfed our bags and put us on the proper train. The train was very full of officers and we passed several troop trains—hurrying to the front.

ed for us, carried our bags and put us on the proper train. The train was very full of officers and we passed several troop trains—hurrying to the front.

I hope Italy can hold cut, and believe they can.

The French people and soldiers thrill me down to the ground. They are so plucky and so wonderfully politic. We mutilate their beautiful language and they bat an eye, but have endless patience in trying to understand. The men and the children have such lovely skin. The men as a whole seem small, but when large at all are very tall. There are many, many little children.

This is the most fascinating old town. Mr. Cleveland, our division secretary, met us at the train, with a soldier to hustle bags, run the automobile, etc. He also brought a Y. M. C. A. worker, who is working for the American nurses. She is a I Miss Notman, of New York city. She was most polite and took us to tea at the hospital that afternoon. It is the Detroit unit. We are to stay here in this town until some time this week, probably Wednesday. We repent yesterday morning at the Y. M. C. A. rooms cleaning shelves, arranging and rearranging supplies, pecking up generally and setting things to rights. The rooms have been open about six weeks and run by two men most of the time. Poor dears, they are so grateful!

Our hut secretary's name is Owen. He lives right in camp. Last evening we took charge of the sales counter here in town while the security had his supper and we got on finely. Bird did the selling and I the talking After supper we went to a small camp near—about two miles—and Gary Reynolds, a piano shark and singer, entertained the men. It was the first fun these men have had and they could hardly rise to it. They have been working, working every second. If the people at home only realized the importance of our getting here ahead of the men they would give their last cent and their best men. Later we came back to the Y. M. C. A. here and "Gary" again performed. He goes about from place to place always traveling and is a wonder. He makes t

Suggestions For Gifts
The list of things which Miss Watts suggests as desirable gifts for the boys on the other side are picture puzzles, games, lots of hard water soap, crackers of all kinds but ginger, dominoes, fiannel shirts with high collars, ciled boots, plenty of woolen stockings, warm gloves, magazines, candies, newspapers, lime drops, mouth organs, pictures for Y. M. C. A. huts, books, chocolate and many other things which would add to the comfort of those abroad.

would add to the comfort of those abroad.

She puts special emphasis on the value of newspapers, adding: "Newspapers here are so different that one from home is cherished literally for weeks." She suggests bushels of Hershey almond bars and says "I wish we had 2,000 cakes for Christmas." And further: "If tobacco can be sent, send it direct to me. Tell anyone who comes over to put it in his or her trunk. Tell the newspapers to send us tobacco and tell everyone to write every one they know often, if only a post card. Picture cards with pictures of the home town mean much."

Anything sent to Miss Watts may be addressed to her in care of the Y. M. C. A., American Expeditionary Forces. She suggests that everything be sent in small packages by mail as express or freight is not reliable.

Yesterday afternoon we motored with Mr. Cleveland to our camp—a lovely ride. A tire had to be changed, so Bird and I walked part way, and came upon our little town of cream-colored homes with red tiled roofs, nestled close under a hill. We are to live with the family of a lawyer—a Madame and a Miss. The son is, of course, fighting. It is an entrancing place, but we will write of it later when we get there. We are crazy about out camp. We have a huge frame hut nearly finished and we will have charge of it. We are so eager to begin.

This morning at 1.30 there was a flagraising at the hospital. It was very beautiful and impressive and thrilled us very much. We sang "My Country, Tis of Thee" and "The Star Spangled Banner" to a cornet, I could have cried, the bugler played so beautifully. Mr. Cleveland came back with me and he, Mr. Reynolds, Miss Notman, Mr. Bachman and I had dinner together. Mr. Bachman is from Easton.
