

EMPEY, AUTHOR OF 'OVER THE TOP,' IS COMING

Will Tell in His Own Words What It Means to Soldiers

Harrisburgers are going to have a chance to see with their own eyes the man who wrote "Over the Top"—the most widely-read book on the war that has been published in this country—for Sergt. Arthur Guy Empey—he's the man—is to appear in

IN THE CAMP

Auditorium on the evening of Friday, December 28, and tell in his own words what it means to be "Somewhere in France" fighting the Hun. "Up-and-at-'em Empey" is one of the war has pleased for us Americans. The newspapers and magazines have been full of articles about famous marshals and sea captains, until the public have become satiated with knowledge of the great ones of the earth. Then along came Empey and told about the whole thing from a new angle, the man in the trenches who bears the brunt of carrying out the plans of the war lords. He became famous almost over night. And the next day he did not go and order a hat of larger size. Empey is the poet of the Tommy and the Poilu, the common soldier—only he neither writes nor talks with verse. In the simplest of language he tells the humor and pathos of life in the trenches, with the mud and the "cooties" as constant companions and bursting shrapnel or insidious enemy gas as frequent visitors. The warfare he celebrates is not the pomp and circumstances of general headquarters, but the daily bit of the private soldier who hasn't any idea of what the strategical experts are planning for him the next day, but knows he and his company have a very simple duty to perform in whatever few yards of trenches they happen to be at the moment—to keep the Germans from going through them. He tells of what our sons, sweethearts and brothers—perhaps eventually ourselves—will know of warfare when they get "over there." From him you will get first-hand information about what you have been reading of: the bayonet charge, poison gas attacks, gas masks, hand grenades, trench raids, star shells, persuaders, come-alongs, shell-shock, and a hundred and one other things that have only been names up to the present time. And it is told in the simple style and the picturesque slang of the trenches. Empey is no experiment as a lecturer. Whatever qualms he may have felt at first as to his powers as an orator, vanished after he had faced his first big audiences in New York and Philadelphia. His vigorous and picturesque personality proved to have even more hold over an audience when he met them face to face, than when he reached them through the medium of his book. Empey, we can be proud to say, is an American. He had served seven years as a militiaman and six years as a trooper in the United States cavalry when the war broke out. The Lusitania disaster "got him." As soon as he could get across, he went to London and enlisted. He was great on volunteering for special service, and had soon volunteered himself into the bombing squad and then the machine-gun service, whose members in the trenches are called "the snipers club." The personality of the man and the message he brings are summed up fairly well in his own words in the foreword of his new book, "The First Call." This is what he says: "Samme, old boy, you're going over and lick hell out of Germany, give Kaiser Bill and his efficiency staff such a wallop that there won't be enough gas left to fill one of his baby-killers called Zeppelins. Samme, old boy, you've never been licked yet, and you're getting too old to learn new habits." The seat sale opens at the Orpheum Theatre Wednesday, December 26th, and as per announcement elsewhere popular prices will prevail.

Bishop and Artist Guests at Reception to Minister

Columbia, Pa., Dec. 22.—The Rt. Rev. James H. Darlington, bishop of the Harrisburg diocese of the Episcopal Church, and Dimitri Romanoffsky, a Russian artist, who is painting a portrait of the bishop, were guests of honor at a reception to the Rev. G. F. Gladding Hoyt, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, last night on the occasion of the observance of the tenth anniversary of his rectorship in Columbia. The rector was given a substantial purse of money and Mrs. Hoyt received a bar pin set with sapphires. The speakers were the Rev. George Israel Browne, rector of St. John's Church, Lancaster; Professor F. N. Schwarcke, headmaster of Yeates Institute, Lancaster; the Rev. H. B. Pulsifer, rector of St. John's Church, Marietta; the Rev. Dr. J. H. Pannebecker, and the Rev. Dr. E. G. Miller, of Columbia.

HERSHEY PLANT SHUTS DOWN Hershey, Pa., Dec. 22.—Last evening M. S. Hershey, chocolate manufacturer, closed down the big plant here because of a shortage of sugar. Officials last night stated that sugar is on the way, but is held back by the railroads. Most of the sugar used by the Hershey interests comes from Cuba, where large plantations are maintained. It is hoped to start up again next Wednesday.

CUMBERLAND VALLEY

Reception to Pastor on Thirty-fifth Anniversary

THE REV. GEORGE W. ELY Columbia, Pa., Dec. 22.—The Rev. George Wells Ely, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, and Mrs. Ely were tendered a surprise reception in the chapel Thursday evening by members of the church. The occasion was the thirty-fourth anniversary of his pastorate, and in honor of the event he was given a purse of gold. The presentation was made by James A. Meyers, a trustee, Miss Maggie Mullen, for the Ladies' Aid Society, presented to Mrs. Ely a gold breastpin. Thirty-five years ago the same woman welcomed Mrs. Ely to the church, in behalf of the same Society. Addresses were made by the Rev. Dr. E. G. Miller, the Rev. G. F. Gladding Hoyt, the Rev. Dr. W. M. Mehrkam, the Rev. Wilmer L. Gray and the Rev. Dr. J. H. Pannebecker, local clergymen. An orchestra furnished music and Mrs. D. L. Glatfelter recited. Miss Isabel Jamieson sang a solo, and violin solos were given by Howard A. Atton, and Rene Kerena. A banquet followed in the chapel.

$50,000 Given in Memory of Dickinson Graduate

Carlisle, Pa., Dec. 22.—In connection with the campaign for a special educational fund for Dickinson College, it was announced that the special chair will be established by Mrs. A. J. Clarke, of Wheeling, W. Va., in memory of her father, who was a college graduate in gold in 1876. The professorship will bear the name of her husband and she has given $50,000 for the purpose. Other large gifts were $1,500 from John Hays, and $1,000 from Joseph Lightner.

Testimonial For Teacher Going to War Work

Dillsburg, Pa., Dec. 22.—Class No. 10 of the Lutheran Sunday School held its monthly meeting on Thursday evening at the home of C. H. Lehmer. Prof. S. L. Donner is the teacher of the class and he recently tendered his resignation of principal of the schools at this place to take effect January 1 so that this was the last regular meeting that he could attend. The class presented him with a copy of the Bible with the class number in gold on the cover. Mrs. Donner was the recipient of a napkin holder. Miss Edna Spath made the presentation speech and Professor and Miss Donner each accepted the gift with appropriate remarks. Refreshments were served. The class will select a new teacher for the coming year. Prof. Donner will enter the U. S. Army as Prof. Donner at Carlisle, Pa., beginning with the New Year. There were thirty present at the class meeting.

GEORGE OVES BURIED

Dillsburg, Pa., Dec. 22.—The body of George Oves, of East McKeesport, was brought here last evening at 4:25 o'clock and was taken to the home of Misses Rosa and Rena Stouffer, near town. Mr. Oves was formerly a resident of Harrisburg and was married to Clara Stewart of Carroll township. He later moved to East McKeesport. He had been an invalid for a number of years and died on Wednesday afternoon. The funeral was held from the home of the Misses Stouffer this afternoon and burial was made in the Dillsburg Cemetery.

MRS. L. C. WEALEY BURIED

Waynesboro, Pa., Dec. 22.—Mrs. Anna M. Weagley, wife of the L. M. Weagley, died at her home here as the result of a stroke. She was 48 years old and is survived by her husband and three children.

MANY CHRISTMAS TREES

Waynesboro, Pa., Dec. 22.—More Christmas trees have been hauled from the mountains around here this year than for many years previous. Those that are selling them are getting good prices.

IRVING STUDENTS GO HOME

Mechanicsburg, Pa., Dec. 22.—Irving College students left for their holiday vacations this morning and will return for the reopening on January 9. In the coming term the new music director, Newell Albright, will succeed Professor H. C. Harper, who leaves for South Dakota, where he has accepted a similar position.

MRS. S. C. CRAWFORD DIES

Mechanicsburg, Pa., Dec. 22.—Mrs. S. C. Crawford died on Thursday at her home in South High street, after suffering a stroke of paralysis about ten days ago. She was 75 years of age, about thirty years and is well known in this community. She was a member of the Church of God. Mrs. Crawford was aged 75 years and is survived by her husband and two sons, Albert B. Crawford, of Mechanicsburg, and Philip S. Crawford, of Harrisburg. Mrs. Crawford's daughter, Mrs. E. B. Duncan, of Mechanicsburg, is a sister. She is also survived by two brothers. The funeral service will be held on Sunday afternoon at her late home at 1:30 o'clock, conducted by the Rev. B. L. C. Baer. Burial will be made at Camp Hill.

MRS. STEWART REUTTER BURIED

Duncannon, Pa., Dec. 22.—Funeral services were held yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Duncan, conducted by Dr. George H. Johnston, of the local Presbyterian church, for Mrs. Clara Stewart Reutter, ten days ago. She had lived here about ten days. She is survived by one brother, R. H. Stewart, of New York City; two sisters, Mrs. P. B. Duncan and Mrs. Mame J. Falnebeck, of Duncannon, and one daughter, Mrs. Lewis Fitzgerald, of Clarion. Burial was made in the Presbyterian Cemetery.

SPECIAL EMBLEM ON SERVICE FLAG

"Order of Golden Cross" Established in Cumberland Red Cross Drive

Carlisle, Pa., Dec. 22.—The first stage of the drive to secure 5,000 new members in the Central Cumberland county chapter, embracing Carlisle chapter and auxiliaries, closed last night with slightly over half of the number. Carlisle and the towns in the district are coming to the fore, but the country districts are behind, owing to the fact that a heavy storm made the canvassers in these sections not to make their rounds. A feature of the drive has been the establishment of the "Order of the Golden Cross," a special emblem to be placed on the service flags to show that every member of the family has joined the organization.

QUARRYMAN INJURED

Marietta, Pa., Dec. 22.—Benjamin Reno, employed at the Billmeyer quarries, was badly injured Thursday evening and removed to the Harrisburg Hospital in a serious condition. He was assisting to load cars when the engine pulled away and he was jammed against a wall, breaking his hip and injuring his internal organs. Dr. Stever, of Bainbridge, gave him temporary relief.

KICKED IN FACE BY HORSE

Marietta, Pa., Dec. 22.—Harlan Graham, well-known cattle dealer of near Steeleville, was kicked in the face by a horse yesterday and badly injured. His jawbone was broke and nearly all his teeth knocked out. The accident occurred while Mr. Graham was standing on the sidewalk and a man was leading the horse, which reared at some object and kicked him.

POOR CHILDREN IN HOME WRITE TO SANTA CLAUS

Inmates of Industrial Home Petition Old St. Nicholas to Bring Them Practical Gifts on Holiday Morning

"Mr. Santa Claus, care Harrisburg Telegraph; where's Santa Claus?" The frosted nipped raucous voice of a husky mail carrier rang out in the corridors of the Telegraph building this morning just as the editor had slipped into his swivel chair planning for a heavy day. He was pointed out by an office boy to the tottering postal employee who promptly plumped down a whole bushel of mail addressed to "Santa Claus." "Who said I was Santa Claus?" sang out the patiently echo in emphatic tones. "You don't see any whiskers or sleigh bells on me do you?" "Says 'Santa Claus, care Harrisburg Telegraph,'" maintained the mail carrier, "and I guess you're mistaken. So long."

would love to have for Christmas: "Dearest Santa, I wish you would let me one of those gifts, knitting needles, rubbers or hair ribbons. "I am 11 years old and my name is Anna Jones." Athlete Hill would like awfully well to have "a book, a pair of roller skates or a pair of hair ribbons," and she is 12 years old. Curtis Bricker's appeal may be a little confusing but it is sincere. "I have heard about how we are to write to you for things at Christmas, Santa, and I would like a sled or a drum or a rubber. I am nine years old." Exactly what is meant by rubber the M. E. Santa Claus could not figure. George McCune, aged 16, rises to the ambition of "a rifle or a searchlight or a sled." Another one read "Santa, Dear, what you get me one of these gifts, a book or doll or a sewing box." It is hardly necessary to say this is not a boy. No, indeed, it is Fannie Shoby, aged nine. William Ream of the mature age of twelve, would highly appreciate "a new nettie" or in lieu of that a "pair of rubbers or a good book." The principal call from the boys is a sled, book, rubbers, searchlights, neckties, games, roller skates. The girls also like games, but they are very strong for hair ribbons, lockets, rubbers and books.

Besides the names mentioned letters were received from the following children: William Hawk, Frank Starry, Elizabeth Jackson, Herbert Engle, Irene Cassel, George Beidel, Elmer Crawford, Lloyd Lenker, Edward Grove, Carl Dewart, Harry Hines, Henry Hartwick, Harold Jacobs, Ethel Ream, Norma Latherow, Kenneth McCord, Naomia LeSueur, Arthur Colvin, John LeSueur, Ruth McCord, Howard Swails, Evelyn Latherow, Elsie Moore, Catherine Ecton, Evelyn Davis, Albert Witmer, Travis Hawk, Lester Clugston, Morris Stipley, Joseph Sanders.

MARRIED YESTERDAY Strasburg, Dec. 22.—Miss Katharine D. Aulthouse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Aulthouse, of Strasburg, was married yesterday to Amos Shaubach. The Rev. Warren L. Kerr, of the Lutheran Church, officiated. The best man was Irvin Shaubach, a brother of the groom. Miss Marie Aulthouse, a sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Miss Fannie Banhoff, the bridesmaid.
