COLLEGE MEN MEET THURSDAY

To Discuss Sports Outlook; May Favor Cut in Grid Schedules

New York, Dec. 24.—A meeting of college graduate managers has been called at the Hotel Martinique on next Thursday to discuss the intercollegiate athletic situation. While the meeting has no official jurisdiction, it will bring together representatives of all the colleges for the purpose of outlining some policy in re-tion, it will bring together representatives of all the colleges for the purpose of outlining some policy in regard to the spring schedule of sports for next year.

It is possible that at this meeting the graduate managers may suggest some curtailment of the football schedules, as it is understood that several of the smaller colleges lost money in football last fall. The season did not come up to expectations in many places and college athletics are in such a condition now that it would be unwise for any of the institutions to suffer further losses.

College Baseball

It is understood that Pennsylvania will advocate college baseball the same as last year, although it is not likely that many of the institutions will have teams next spring. The majority of the colleges dropped baseball last spring, although Penn and a few others played out their schedules. Military training now takes up so much time that the students at most of the institutions will not have even as much time for athletic activity as they had last spring.

Invitations to this conference have been sent to all colleges, and a large gathering is expected.

Swarthmore Inventor Called by the U. S. to Finish U-Boat Device

Philadelphia, Dec. 24. — Experimenting for a year with an invention aiming at the destruction of submarines, Professor Harvey C. Hayes, head of the physics department of Swarthmore College, has been so successful that he has received a call from the United States government to enter the national service. He refused yesterday to discuss particulars of his new venture, adding that he has been forbidden to disclose the location of the laboratory where he is to continue his research work.

chose the location of the laboratory where he is to continue his research work.

Professor Hayes will be joined by five other physicists from the best universities and laboratories in the country in the government research work. They will commence on January 1. Professor Hayes expects to be engaged in this service for a year at least, and it is unlikely that he will return to Swarthmore at the opening of the next term in September. If amily will accompany him to the site of the laboratory.

Professor Hayes was in his fourth year as a member of the faculty of Swarthmore College. Previous to his service in the physics department he was an instructor in research work at Harvard, where he took his doctor's degree. The vacancy caused by Professor's Hayes' withdrawal from Swarthmore will be filled by W. O. Sawtelle, of Haverford College, who has been an assistant professor of physics at that institution.

Boston Contracts Ready to Mail After Holidays

Boston Dec. 24.—Contracts for 1918 for about thirty-one players of the Boston National League baseball clubincluding Pitcher "Bill" James, are ready at the club's headquarters for mailing after the holiday.

James pitching was an important factor in winning the world's series for the Braves in 1914, but since then his arm has been in bad condition and last season he remained near his home on the Pacific Coast, working only in a few ehxibition games, it is understood that he asked the Boston club for an opportunity to return to major league work. The contracts will be sent to all players not aiready in war service.

HARRISBURG ACADEMY 1917 VARSITY FOOTBALL SQUAD

WON MUCH PROMINEN CE DURING LAST SEASON

Players who were factors in ma king prominent the Harrisburg Academy football team are pictured above with one exception. This picture does not include Donald Wren the captain-elect for 1918. Wren was almost unanimously elected to this position at a recent meeting of the team. With at least five veterans back next year he hopes to have a successful season. The season just completed resulted in three victories, three defeats and one tie game. This squad represents the men who played in the majority of the games during the season. A few more points were scored against the Academy then they scored themselves. The players are, reading from left to right: Top row—Moody, Coach Gavin, Hendry, Macdougal, Moore, Manager McCaleb, Middlerów: Stinemetz, W. May, DeVore, Morgenthaler, O'Hea, Wescott, Bottom row, L. CHRISTMAS EVE IN CAMP

There is no dream that could be half so sweet
On Christmas Eve—at twilight—just to drift
To far-off lands through winter's starless beat,
Where, in a dream, one sees Time's curtains lift
And show the old remembered hearth of home,
And as the dream drifts by, dim wraith on wraith,
To anchor there—a straggler from the foam
Of stormy seas that almost wreck one's faith.

There is no dream like this when dusk swings low On Christmas Eve—when from the wintry gloom
On Christmas Eve—when from the wintry gloom
Dim voices come and speak from long ago,
Soft hands reach out—and from the barrack room,
Borne far by tender memories we leave
Across the night, as some lost soul is sped,
Until we reach once more the Christmas Eve
We knew before the reeling world turned tred.

For now we know just what the old life meant, Before the flags of battle were unfurled,
The peace of home, the ease, the quiet content
That must have been within another world;
And none will ever know the brooding pain
Until his time has come, through waning light,
At Christmas Eve, for arms that reach in vain,
Or vanished voices blown across the night,

It is impossible to appreciate now the tremendous sporting revival that coming when this war ends.

This revival will come from two important factors—

1. The fact that several hundred thousand young men, through campe, and the different games attached, have found out what the outdoor men means.

game means.

2. The fact—and the more important one—that when the tension from the war has relaxed there will be a feverish rush to competition that doesn't mean death and destruction, blood and horror, pain and sacrifice.

Some one has said, for example, that after one had served in the con-Some one has said, for example, that after one had served in the trenches a game such as golf would seem dull and tame. On the contrary, we figure that it would carry an increased thrill, the thrill of a pleasure and a competition that isn't to be suddenly checked by a big shell or a gas wave or a machine gun sweep.

BIG FIGHT PLANS OFF

New York, Dec. 24 .- Jack Curley with his wife, when an automobile which he was driving was hit by a train.

The accident took place in the village of Louisville in Stark county, near here, and details have not yet been obtained.

Jack Glasscock ranked as one of the greatest shortstops in the game. He served fully fifteen years in the fast set, starting in the early eighties and ending in the middle nineties. He was not only a remarkable man on the defense, but an extraordinarily heavy hitter. He began with the Cleveland team in 1879 and remained with the team until 1883. In 1895 and 1896 he was with St. Louis, and
