Craig Boilers Are Big Fuel Savers

With agitation as common as it is to-day as regards the fuel question, especially coal, a person naturally asks himself, "Am I getting the best results from my boiler?" The Craig Boiler, made by the Williamsport Radiator Co. of Williamsport, Pa., and sold and installed by M. H. Baker & Co., 1330 Derry street, is one of the biggest fuel-savers on the market. There are five distinct sizes of Craig sectional steam and hot water boilers. The range of Craig sizes, including both screw and push nipples, covers the needs of the entire heating field. The boilers are rated conservatively. Craig designs take advantage of every tried-out means for producing the greatest possible amount of steam or hot water for every pound of coal introduced into the fire-pot. This is evident from the watertube construction, which gives them the chief characteristics of the most successful power boilers. An extensive fire surface typifies every Craig and is designed to present the greatest possible amount of area to direct fire action. Each boiler is designed to allow the heat to pass the water spaces several times in order that the circulating heat may be utilized for heating. In Craig Boilers the value of a deep fire-pot is recognized, particularly with sufficient grate area to assure economical combustion and sufficient ash pit to guarantee good air circulation. In connection with Craig Boilers, M. H. Baker Co. do a general plumbing and heating business. They have on hand at the present time a large stock of all sizes of plumbing fixtures than any one in the city. The quality of goods handled by M. H. Baker is shown in the fact that he handles the celebrated "Standard" and "Iron City" brand of plumbing fixtures. Estimates on all heating and plumbing work are cheerfully given. If you are interested in a Craig heating system or any plumbing work, Mr. Baker will gladly go over your needs and tell you how best to remedy them.

Artificial Limbs Now Made Almost as Good as Real Ones

Modern science has made wonderful strides in the past few years in the manufacture of artificial limbs. They are now made so scientifically that you must almost look the second time before being sure that a person does not have a real limb. W. J. Piker, of 1614 1/2 North Sixth street, has been manufacturing artificial limbs for the past thirty years and has kept astride with all modern improvements. He manufactures any kind of limb that is desired, either arm or leg. A perfect fit is made, no matter how short the stump is, and satisfaction is guaranteed. Leather, steel and elastic trusses are made to order for bad cases of rupture. Abdominal supporters and appendicitis belts can also be procured. Mr. Piker is very glad to give any kind of information in regard to the kind and material of the products he manufactures. Wooden and rawhide limbs, with adjustable sockets, with or without cord and with the movements, even down to finger movements, are made to your order in the workshop, which is just in the rear of the store. A Sixth street or Rockville car will serve the customer at the door. All estimates cheerfully given.

Do You Like Chicken and Waffles?

This question is a foolish one to ask most anybody. Very few people there are who do not relish the greatest of American dishes. What more pleasure can be derived from eating than a good old-fashioned chicken and waffle supper at the end of a perfect day? There is a place just three miles up the beautiful Susquehanna river, most every one knows it, the Coxes town Hotel, where chicken and waffle suppers can be secured any evening. And such suppers! Just the kind that mother used to make. Plenty of chicken, and oh, my, the waffles. Doesn't it make your mouth water to read this? Well, I guess so. And chicken and waffles are not the only dish on the menu. There are also turkey dinners served every Thursday, and sauerkraut and pork dinners. Just think, isn't that enough to tempt most any one? The distance to Coxestown, three miles, makes it a nice little jaunt, either in the car or on foot. The street car runs only a short distance away. Get off at clubhouse lane and walk down to the river and you will be given a most cordial welcome and a big surprise in most any kind of eats you want.

Books and Stationery

There are plenty of stores in the city where books and stationery articles are sold, but when you want to be a little particular and get the best and latest, visit the stationery store of Latimer Willis, 1209 North Third street. Everything in all lines of the book and stationery trade are to be found in this store. Cameras, Photographic Supplies, Leather Goods, Society Writing Paper, Typewriter Supplies, Post Cards, and articles to numerous to mention. All the latest books and magazines are sold here. Prices range in accordance to fit the pocketbook of anyone. There is also a circulating library maintained where you can get the book you wish to read at a very small cost per day. Courteous treatment is extended to everyone. When you need supplies of this kind, a trial will convince you that you can find what you want here.

Vulcanizing Saves the Tires

How often does the motorist, when he notices a small hole or stone cut in his tire, put off getting it repaired until it is too late. "A stitch in time saves nine," goes the old adage, and a small hole in a tire, vulcanized in time will add a thousand miles to its life. The Reliable Tire Repair Shop at 171 North Sixth street is equipped to do all kinds of vulcanizing work, casings and tubes, no matter how big or how small. All the work is guaranteed to be satisfactory. In addition to vulcanizing work and retreading, tire accessories and oil are sold. The motorist will find this establishment a good place to take all his tire work, attended to to his entire satisfaction.

High Grade Drugs

When the doctor gives you a prescription to have filled, he expects you to take it to a druggist who uses the utmost care and integrity in compounding the various drugs that go to make up the prescriptions. Paul F. Ziegler, the Steelton druggist, whose store is at the corner of Front and Conestoga streets, makes a specialty of filling prescriptions. All the care that is required for this delicate work is put into the service given by Mr. Ziegler. Besides filling prescriptions, Mr. Ziegler carries a full line of all high grade drugs. He also carries in stock, rubber goods and supplies for the home, of every description. These goods are all of the best quality material and satisfaction is guaranteed. A full line of stationery articles and magazines can be purchased here. Thermos Bottles and other articles of like nature are on sale. Every article of every description is given the best of treatment. A satisfied customer is always the result of a sale. Mr. Ziegler respectfully solicits the patronage of everyone and assures them the best that the druggist trade affords.

Willowdale Dairy Produces Own Milk

A big advantage is gained nowadays by the dairyman who produces all the milk he serves his customers. It not only assures the customer of their regular supply of milk but also that the milk and cream served is fresh. John S. Kramer conducts his own dairy near Penbrook. It is known as the Willowdale Dairy. All the milk delivered in the mornings is milked that same morning, thereby giving to the customer milk that not only stands the test for pure food products, but that will stand up longer under ordinary circumstances. Mr. Kramer delivers milk to all sections of the city. His equipment consists of all the modern appliances for the production of milk and cream under the most sanitary conditions.

Tomorrow Is Fish Day

In these days when high prices for food products stares every one in the face and with the government asking to co-operate in the plan to conserve the meat supply, fish and sea food play an important part in the menu for our daily meals. By using fish in the place of meat you not only help the government but you also help yourself inasmuch as sea foods on an average are cheaper than meats and just as nutritious and satisfying. The Russ Fish Market, on the Square, carries a full supply of fish, sea foods and game. Daily shipments of these products assure only fresh and quality goods. Special attention is given to a delivery service, that for speed is unparalleled in the city. Mr. Kramer will bring to your home any of these money saving and meat conserving products. Be patriotic. Let your tomorrow's menu contain some product of the water as its important factor. Be sure that, if quality is what you want, to call the Russ Fish Market and place your order with them.

Staple and Fancy Groceries

The question of food products today is no better than it has been; indeed it is getting worse. The great problem is to get the goods at most any price. The demand is much larger than the supply. E. J. McAllicher, who conducts a general grocery store at the corner of Green and Peffer streets, carries a full line of staple and fancy groceries. The prices maintained are based on quality rather than quantity. All the articles are of the first grade of goods and are appetizing and well pleased the most fastidious. Special features are the different grades of coffee handled. One special brand sells at 20 cents a pound. Mr. McAllicher treats one and all alike. A most hearty welcome is extended to every one to try the goods that are displayed in this up-to-date store.

Home-Made Candies

"Now that the Christmas rush is over and things have settled back to normal again in the candy business, we can serve you with the home-made candies you like. That is if we can get the sugar, for all our candies are made pure and sweet out of first grade sugar. The sugar shortage is very serious but we are trying hard to get enough to supply our regular customers as heretofore." So said C. R. Anderson, who conducts a store at 1507 Derry street; also a stall in the Chestnut street market. The sugar question is indeed serious but all lovers of good homemade candies can rest assured that Mr. Anderson will do his best to serve you with the same grade of goods as he has in the past.

Spurrer's Restaurant Popular With the Railroad Men

Spurrer's restaurant in North Sixth street is a mecca for the railroad man. Good home-cooked food is served here and the pastry is baked right on the spot. Just a few doors below Reilly street, in Sixth, this restaurant is only a little over two blocks from the roundhouses in Seventh street. Short orders of all kinds are served very appetizingly. Everything is cooked and served under the most sanitary conditions. The prices maintained are in accordance with any in the city. As a special feature, a chicken and waffle dinner, just the kind mother used to make is served every Sunday. The price of this full course dinner is only fifty cents. This makes a Sunday dinner a great deal cheaper than if you buy the chicken and cook it at home. Besides the restaurant business Mr. Spurrer sells oysters and fruits in season. Fresh shipments of these products are received daily. This assures the customers of good quality and perfectly fresh goods. A Royal coffee roaster has been installed and fresh roasted coffee and peanuts daily are offered the public. Everyone knows the advantage of fresh roasted coffee. Candy of all kinds and the best grade of cigars are on sale. The grade of service is a No. 1. Mr. Spurrer welcomes everyone and invites you to give him a call so that he can prove the worth of his restaurant and of the products he sells. A trial will convince you that you have found the right place to satisfy your appetite.

Changes Are the Order of the Day

The Government requires us to change our methods of doing business to avoid advancing prices. Our class of trade would not stand for cheaper goods. We must do with less help and delivery. We trust our Patrons will do their bit cheerfully by carrying the smallest purchases. The large purchases we will have certain days to deliver. When the change is in working order we can give our patrons SPECIAL PRICES AND INDUCEMENTS. Carrying a basket half as big as you are willing to carry from market, is all that is necessary. Goods and Prices

The two dominating features of to-day's merchandise situation are high prices and low stocks. The law of supply and demand appear to be working inflexibly towards constantly higher prices in practically every commodity produced and marketed. Experts in buying and selling of merchandise—men who have given their lives to a study of the production and distribution of food, fuel, clothing and home goods—confess their inability to see the end of the upward price movement. The low stocks of goods in the hands of textile, metal, woodware and clothing manufacturers reflect their inability to produce goods fast enough to keep up with the demand. This is, indeed, the one big reason for the highest prices in a generation. With the governments of the world competing for the goods they require at whatever price is demanded, and the merchants of the world competing for whatever goods are left at equally high prices and with millions of men withdrawn from the production of goods, a situation is developed where the delivery question is of greater importance than that of price. There is a desperate shortage in clothing, of every description—work clothes, coats, trousers, hosiery, underwear, shirts, piece goods, etc.—and the spectacle of jobbers and manufacturers—hunting around the country to pick up small lots in broken sizes, at whatever price is demanded, shows in an illuminating way the struggle that is on to get the goods.
