Sport Leaders Have

Optimistic Views Optimism is the keynote struck by leading men in the various branches of sport in discussing the outlook for 1918.
It is satisfying, to say the least,
that men who-have made a particular study of their own sports
and the conditions which confront them should be practically as one in urging and recommending that everything possible be done to stimulate a wide and general participation on track, field
and water.
These expressions carry the

and water.
These expressions carry the more weight in coming from such men as John K. Tener, president of the National League; Julian S. Myrick, president of the Unitof the National League; Julian S. Myrick, president of the United States National Lawn Tennis Association; Charles A. Dean, president of the Amateur Athletic Union; Walter Camp, one of the leaders in football; F. K. Sturgis, acting chairman of the Jockey Club; Howard F. Whitney, secretary of the United States Golf Association, and Charles Halsted Mapes, chairman of the Board of Stewards of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association.—New York World.

Harris, Scheffer, Sourbier, Killinger and Pollock will do their bit for Tech Alumni to-night. Sounds like an all-star team.

Judging by the breaks they make when taking exception to a referee's decision, some spectators at Saturiday night games care only for the some figure in the scholastic game. You must hand it to that Steelton bunch when it comes to real sport.

One local baseball fan writes: "What will Harrisburg do in baseball near year?" He ought to ask something easier. Just now there are other sports that need attention. Some time during February baseball interest may begin to sprout.

Ban Johnson has taken the initiative in the wartime policy of the American League in operating on a rigid economical basis. At his own suggestion Johnson's salary for 1918 has been reduced from $30,000 at $10,000. The fact that Johnson had a contract did not deter him from making this personal sacrifice in the initiative in the wartime policy of the American League in operating on a rigid economical basis. At his own suggestion Johnson's salary for 1918 has been reduced from $30,000 at a rigid economical basis.
