The first wedding of New Year's Day was that of Miss Ivy Ruth Friedman, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Friedman to Irvin B. Only the immediate families were in attendance with a few personal friends from Baltimore, Chicago, New York and Philadelphia.

Congratulations and a wedding breakfast followed the service, the young couple leaving this afternoon for a southern honeymoon, taking a leisurely trip to Palm Beach and other more important resorts as far as Key West. Presence of American Forces in France Has Heartened Allied Armies

Washington, Jan. 1.—Although actual operations of the American forces on the west front have been confined to narrow limits the presence of the troops on the firing line has strengthened the faith of the allies in an ultimate victory, Secretary Baker to-day declares in his weekly military review.

The secretary in his statement outlining the positions held at the beginning of the New Year by the allied armies points out that the British with a great wedge driven in the principal German line as the result of the advance at Cambrai, dominate the Flanders plain. The French with their line of defense unimpaired, control a strong strategic position in the Laon region as the result of their successful attacks along the Chemin-des-Dames.

EDWARD FALTER MADE HEAD OF REPUBLICAN CLUB

Officers Elected by Harrisburg Organization at Annual Meeting

EDWARD FALTER

Edward Falter was elected president of the Harrisburg Republican Club last evening at the annual business meeting. The action was unanimous and came in recognition of his long service to the organization.

Wilbert, secretary; Herman Geiger, Harry Morton, T. B. Rockefeller, trustees; Howard Barnes, H. Eisenberger, C. Richardson M. Wiley, H. G. Wilson, membership committee. While the vote was being counted, Charles E. Pass, former president of the club and the new prothonotary of Dauphin county, delivered an address on "Good Citizenship," in which he traced the history of the nation, cited the loyalty of the Republican party at all crises of its history and especially during the great world war. He spoke of the desire of all men of the rank and file in the European countries for a universal democracy, a higher civilization, and the perpetuation and promulgation of Christianity. He urged everyone to support the President and Congress in every way possible and closed with a glowing tribute to the veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic, Old Glory, and the teachings of the Nazarene.

Eyre For Harmony and Senator Sproul

Senator T. Larry Eyre, of Chester county, is the first Republican county leader to publicly go upon record in advocacy of the nomination of State Senator William C. Sproul for the Governorship.

Senator Eyre's announcement comes in the form of an editorial in his newspaper, the Record, of West Chester, which among other things says: "The Republican party is too big and the state has too many interests at stake to allow any man to jeopardize either the party or the state government by playing factional politics. While the Republican party has much available timber from which to select a candidate, there is one man in this state above all others who has the proper qualifications to make a representative Governor—a man whose name would not only distinguish himself in that capacity, but who would direct the affairs of the state with a high degree of intelligence and efficiency—Senator Sproul, of Delaware county. Senator Sproul is well and favorably known throughout the state. He is a man of unusual intelligence, genial and prepossessing in his manner; a close student of men and public affairs, and above all a man of ripe experience and rare good judgment in regard to the matters which vitally affect the interests of the state and nation."

SNYDER SAYS HE SHOULD AUDIT

Auditor General and Insurance Fund Officers in Controversy Near Showdown

Differences between Auditor General Charles A. Snyder and the officers of the State Insurance Fund over the Auditor General's desire to audit the fund to ascertain whether it can be made self sustaining at the present rate of expenditure for administration will probably come to a head here to-morrow.

Attorney General Brown has advised the fund officers that the Auditor General has no power to audit the fund. The Auditor General is studying the laws relative to his powers and it is believed will send Miles A. Dawson, an insurance expert, to the office to audit the books.

No one of the principals in the controversy is here to-day and it could not be learned whether Mr. Snyder or the fund officials would go to court.

Mr. Snyder set forth his position in the following statement last night: "It was not my purpose to embarrass the State Workmen's Insurance Board, but to conserve and protect the funds of the department of the state government for which I voted while a member of the State Senate," said Auditor General Snyder last night.

Among the reasons for the proposition that the head of the Compensation Board while appearing before the Appropriation Committee at the last session especially after inquiry by both the chairman of the Senate and House Appropriation Committees, Messrs. Buckman and Woodward, absolutely and unqualifiedly agreed that if $200,000 were appropriated in addition to $300,000, which has been allotted at the session of 1915, the compensation fund would be self-sustaining, because no dividends would be declared for the year.

"A careful analysis of the expenditures of the fund chargeable to the appropriation for organization and maintenance shows that a deficit in substantial amount will exist at the end of the period for which the appropriation was made. The amount of the deficit cannot readily be determined for the reason that the expenditures of the board have shown regular and consistent increases from month to month. Assuming, however, that no such increases will be anticipated in the future, although they have occurred regularly in the past, the deficit will amount to substantially $100,000. In making this estimate no regard has been had to the fact that some of the employees have not been paid their December salaries, if these salaries were taken into account in arriving at the expenditures of the board, the anticipated deficit would be considerably greater than the figures mentioned, and if the recent rate of increase in expenditures is maintained, the deficit will, of course, be proportionately greater.

"The only purpose which actuated me in the proposition to ascertain the condition of the fund, was to make it a sure protection of the citizens of the commonwealth, and that in order to carry this purpose into effect, the department will insist on a reduction in the payroll and other expenditures, and a closer inspection of the management."

In his official review the Auditor General laid particular stress upon the fact that he regretted the action of the manager of the board in attempting to prevent an inspection of the records, as he feared it might cause an unjustified impression of the solvency of the fund, which remains unquestioned.
