Goldpiece Lay on Busy Street For Half Hour

Lewistown, Pa., Jan. 5.—William Tice fell in West Third street yesterday morning, injuring his back, sprained his wrist and bruised himself about the body. Going on home a square from where he fell, he remembered that he had a $20 goldpiece and a bunch of keys in his pockets when he fell. Putting his hand in the pocket he discovered that he had lost them and going back to the spot where he fell a half hour afterwards he found the money and keys. People had been passing the spot right along, but failed to see the lost money and keys. Thomas Guehler fell in Juniata street last evening badly injuring himself across the hips and back.

SUPPLIED WITH GOOD SMOKES

One Way to Help Win War Is to Provide Tobacco For Yankees

When love grows cool thy fire still warms me;
When friends are fled thy presence If thou art full, though purse be

That's what a German poet thinks of tobacco. It is taken from written by one of a race no longer heart. It is said that the Kaiser's army is still well supplied with smokes, because he knew just what in important thing tobacco is to a soldier. Of course Kaiser Bill would not have the time or inclination to study the most beautiful poem ever written about tobacco. What gets study the most beautiful poem ever written about tobacco. What gets him, is its help to efficiency. He knows that a good smoke at a critical moment may turn the whole course of events. Therefore even with food scarce the Germans are said to have plenty of smokes and America has got to out-smoke them; that's the fact. The only way is for everyone with the least touch of generosity to give what he or she can and not wait to make a big contribution. Send in your lowly twentycan and not wait to make a big con-tribution. Send in your lowly twenty-five, cent piece and that will buy a soldier 45 cents worth of tip-top stockes. Really a gift of this sort is more to be desired than a pair of wrist warmers. That's what private Milard thinks. Read his letter:
