gay that the man who will succeed to the job has not as yet been mentioned, and this includes Pat Powers, Jim Price, Charley Chapin, Joe Landin, and last but not least, Charles H. Knapp, of Baltimore, Hearken unto the following choice bit by a Buffalo scribe:

"Jack Dunn, of Baltimore, who cast his vote against Barrow at the recent meeting, also has a candidate for president of the league. Dunn thinks that Charles H. Knapp a lawyer, who is interested in the Baltimore team, would make an ideal man for the job. Knapp, who has a large legal practice, couldn't be expected to give up his law business for $2.500, the salary fixed for the International League head, and unless the headquarters of the organization is moved to Baltimore the selection of Knapp would be out of the question. Therein lies the secret of Dunn's desire to see Knapp made president.

HUNT SUCCESSOR ACADEMY SQUAD BARON OWNERS TO LEAD LEAGUE TO J. K. TENER; TWO CANDIDATES

A smash and a crash, and a line gave way,
As they ploughed through the gap they made
Plunging head down thru the thickest fray—
That was the way THEY played.
No lines withstood their crashing power,
No men could block their way:
Mention their names and watch men cower—
They were THE fighters—but, say—
As great as they were in the heart of the fray,
(And in this I'll be quite frank)
They couldn't compare with the one to-day,
The greatest of all—the TANK.

You may pick out YOUR star as the greatest of all.

You may pick out YOUR star as the greatest of all, You may bet on your choice to cop:
Another will tell you to "hire a hall"—
HIS choice is the man on top.
We may pick out our Eckersalls, Hestons or Coys,
Our Oliphants, Berrys and such;
We all will agree that they were THE boys—
But the greatest of all?—not much,
We all have our stars—from the past and to-day—
But on the GREATEST of ALL we can bank;
He's hitting the line in to-day's big fray—
The greatest of all—the TANK,

Theer are different ways of getting men worked up to the job at hand. One company captain saw that while his men were working along they were not particularly aroused or worked up over the issues of the war. The plight that France and Belgium were in didn't quite reach them. Germany's U-boat compaign meant nothing in particular.

And then, one day, his chance came after Field Marshal Hindenburg's address.

He was an enlisted man, one from the draft. You could see that at the grular it will moment he was a trifle low in spirit.

"What are you going to do," we asked him, "when the war is over?"
"It was just thinking that," he replied.

Famous Coach Remains on Job; Contract Runs' Three Years

State College, Pa., Jan. 10 .- Richard C. Harlow, resident football coach at Pennsylvania State for the last three years, to-day signed a contract to handle the Blue and White eleven for the next three seasons. Me will have complete charge of the gridiron squad and will select his own assistants. The announce-ment was made by R. H. Smith, graduate manager of athletics.

Harlow's appointment becomes ef-fective at once, and he will shortly begin indoor work with the ma-terial for next season's team. His selection for the position meets with the unanimous approval of the stu-dent body, the alumni and the play-dent body, the alumni and the players.

Famous as a tackle on State's 1910 and 1911 teams, Harlow's name is familiar to all followers of Penn State athletics. His subsequent work as assistant coach under Bill Hollenback, brought him recognition as a close student of fcotball tactics.

As football director during the seasons of 1915, 1916 and 1917, Harlow was assisted by visiting backfield coaches who shared the responsibility with him. Under the new contract terms, however, Harlow reigns supreme on and off the field, and he will decide and direct all football activities of State teams.

Railroad Athletes to Open Winter Activities With Dance; Saturday Sports

Night men who are members of the Motive Power Athletic Association of the Pennsylvania railroad had little sleep to-day. Just now everybody identified with railroads is on the job to the limit. Daylight men could not get away from work to help put the big athletic hall in North Seventh street in shape for the big opening event to-night, and the night men got busy.

One big dance program will be offered as the first event. Decorators to-day made the hall exceedingly attractive and to-night there will be one large sized committee on hand to receive the guests and see that every one present has a good time.

Sports Saturday

Then will come one day of rest during which athletes will prepare for the big contests Saturday night. The local Motive Power cage team will play Altoona five. This is to be the first of a series of games for the System championship. Both Altoona and Harrisburg have already eliminated all other teams. The second game will be played at Altoona and the third on a neu all floor. The Mountain City chaps won the championship in 1916, and last year were runners up.

Two famous tug of war teams, Harrisburg and Altoona, will also try for honors Saturday night. This is not all. There will be a volleyball contest, and an indoor baseball contest with Altoona athletes. A big crowd of rooters is coming from Altoona. Motive Power officials say it will be some night. The time for each contest, and what it means for Harrisburg to win will be announced tonight at the dance.
