

COUNCIL FAILS TO AGREE ON TREASURER

[Continued from First Page.] Any idea of breaking any law in the land. Mayor Keister followed this statement with remarks that aspersions had been cast on the three men in question not only before Council, but also before the public. Continuing he said: "There are certain things cast on these men that it may take a long time to remove and may reflect on their good standing. The newspapers were very plain in mentioning facts. I will say that Mr. Oves, Mr. First or Mr. Tunis made no improper proposals to me. I think the members of this body may have taken the proper procedure to have them appear in the star chamber sessions. I propose to vote for one and this may cast aspersions on my motive. I have known this person since he was a boy and have known him to be an honest, upright and good citizen. At the proper time I shall vote for him."

intimation was made, and said: "I have no choice but I don't feel that I can vote for any one of the three in justice to my conscience until the charges against them are either proved or disproved." Commissioner Lynch was the first to suggest hearing the person accused, but no one seconded the motion. The other motion to ballot was carried. The First Ballot On the first rollcall the votes followed: Commissioner Burnett—Announced no choice. Commissioner Gross—Thomas B. Marshall. Commissioner Hassler—William S. Tunis. Commissioner Lynch—William Favorit. Mayor Keister—Ed. C. First. Mr. Marshall is foreman in the Blacksmith department of the Pennsylvania railroad shops in the city. He is an ex-Common Councilman, has been mentioned as a candidate for Council under the commission form, and was one of the men sent to the Army camps in November to take the soldier vote. William Favorit is manager of the Harrisburg Shoe Manufacturing Company. He was nominated by Mr. Lynch for appointment to city Council last summer at the time Commissioner Gross and ex-Commissioner Gorgas elected Samuel F. Dunkel. On the second and third ballots the votes were the same: Commissioner Burnett—Clarence E. Weber. Commissioner Gross—Clarence E. Weber. Commissioner Hassler—William S. Tunis. Commissioner Lynch—William Favorit. Mayor Keister—Ed. C. First. Mr. Weber is chief clerk in the city treasurer's office. Calls For Investigation Commissioner Burnett, just before the fourth ballot was called, declared he thought the charges made by Commissioner Gross should be investigated. "We can keep this up all day and not get anywhere. I think it would be a wise plan to have these men come and state their case. We do not have a rumor, we have the absolute statement of Commissioner Gross, and we have a right to investigate. I think it would have been a good business proposition to re-elect Mr. Oves as he has been an efficient city treasurer. I would have voted for him."

QUINCY BENT GOES TO BETHLEHEM POST

[Continued from First Page.] plant he resided at 241 South Fourth street, that place. Officials at Steelton since the plants were taken over by Schwab have had charge of the operation of blast furnaces, and other work in the borough. The new changes place this work in charge of John P. Brock. Bents Are Popular Removal of Quincy Bent from Steelton will be regretted by residents, especially the businessmen, with whom he has been so closely connected for the past two years. Both he and Mrs. Bent have been very active in municipal and welfare work in the steel town. Mr. Bent has been general manager of the Steelton plant for about two years. He was active in every way that a citizen can be, and has been waged in the borough. In both Liberty Loan campaigns; the Y. M. C. A. War Fund campaign and Red Cross work, Mr. Bent took a distinguished part. From the time he located here, Mr. Bent was very active in municipal development. Although not officially that the conference was his judgment and ability that made them successful. Mr. Bent was elected to serve the unexpired term of W. E. Darby on the school board last year. At the expiration of the term he was unanimously re-elected and was chosen as president of the board for the second time. Many Activities It was Mr. Bent's planning and work that was responsible for the patriotic parade in Steelton in the summer, the largest in the town's history. Mrs. Bent has been a leading spirit in welfare work in Steelton. It was through her influence and splendid work that the Steelton Chapter was organized and which today holds one of the best records among Pennsylvania Chapters for output of garments. Mrs. Bent is chairman of the Steelton Chapter and it is with regret that officers and members of this organization heard of the removal of Mr. Bent. In Line With Policies The changes made in the Bethlehem steel office forces here in line with the policies outlined by Mr. Schwab when he took over the Pennsylvania Steel properties, he and President Grace both making it clear that there would be no preferences at Steelton for outside men and that promotions at Steelton would be made in so far as possible from among men who had shown their worthiness. The advancement announced to-day therefore are matters of great congratulation for those who were promoted, for they bear the stamp of approval of the great steel master himself which is one of the highest compliments any man can have in the steel trade to-day, amounting in importance to the honors which Andrew Carnegie used to confer upon his lieutenants in the old days at Pittsburgh. Mr. Schwab's opinion of Mr. Bent was summed up in a single sentence during an address made here at a dinner of the Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce in his honor when he said that "no matter what the plants at Steelton are worth in steel, what the services of Quincy Bent the Bethlehem Steel Company got the full value for its money."

It has been under the guiding hand of Mr. Bent, assisted by Mr. Robbins, that the immense improvements amounting to something like nine or ten millions of dollars planned for Steelton were outlined and due to their energetic management Steelton has blossomed like the proverbial rose and thousands of men have been added to the payrolls. Working conditions have been greatly improved under the management and every man in the employ of the company has had his wages advanced several times.

Freight-Moving Week Gets Good Start at Phila. Philadelphia, Jan. 15.—"Freight moving week" was given a good start in this city last night when the Pennsylvania Railroad kept open its main freight stations to the aid of consignees in unloading freight from the 5,000 cars congesting the yards and spurs in Philadelphia. William G. McAdoe, general manager of the railroads, has designated this week as "freight moving week" in the hope that concentrated effort on the part of railroads and consignees will break the freight jam which has blocked nearly every railroad in the country. The Pennsylvania Railroad will keep open at its main freight depots until 10 o'clock every night this week to assist in the movement. On the evening Railway efforts also are being made to assist shippers to unload freight cars.

U. S. to License All Food Dealer: Washington, Jan. 15.—President Wilson issued a proclamation last night placing under license all "dealers in feeds and malt, salt water fishmen, canners, manufacturers of tomato, wheat and rye products and other food commodities." They are required to obtain their permits by February 15 or go out of business. Applications must be made to the food administration.

Karlsruhe Is Raided by Allied Aviators: London, Jan. 15.—A successful daylight air raid has been made on Karlsruhe, according to a British official communication issued last night. Karlsruhe, which is the capital of the Grand Duchy of Baden, several times has received visitations from allied aviators. It is situated about fifty miles from the French border and has a population of between 75,000 and 100,000.

CONDUCTORS ARE PLEASED OVER R. R. SITUATION

Brotherhood to Stand Back of Nation During War Crisis Resolutions endorsing President Woodrow Wilson in naming Secretary McAdoe as general director of the board of directors of the Railroad Conductors. Representatives of the board of directors of the Railroad Conductors, who met in a conference at the call of the chairman, S. R. Turner, the following was unanimously adopted: Resolved, that the action of President Wilson, in taking under government control all the railroads of the country, be approved by this convention for the following reasons: That this action was necessary at this time in order to make the railroad a real factor in the national war machine. That the railroads have failed to bring their operations up to the high standard which the national emergency requires. That the plan of stock brokers securing and controlling proxies of the owners of railroad stock and electing inefficient operating heads, who have employed a large army of unnecessary agents and not a sufficient number of real railroad workers has had a sufficient test to demonstrate that it will not do. That the so-called scarcity and shortage of coal and foodstuffs is the result of a policy of these necessities, but has been due to inefficient transportation facilities and want of proper distribution of these articles. That the responsibility for these conditions rests with the railroad managers and in their desire to secure a large amount of money for their companies on all shipments. Their unpatriotic conduct in failing to co-operate with the government in the people during the past month. That the railroads must be operated as a single system under the direction of an operating head appointed by the President, and we approve of the appointment of William McAdoe, director general of all railroads for this purpose, and hereby pledge to the government of the United States our hearty co-operation and support to speed up this government control and end the many hardships suffered under the old management of the railroads. Furthermore, we subscribed to the belief that the efficiency and economy of the country by this government control will result in the people retaining in control of the railroads of the country and eventually becoming the absolute owners thereof. We cultivated and outgrown private control and ownership of these necessary articles of transportation.

Federal Ownership Would Hurt State Governor Brumbaugh to-day took steps to bring to attention of state representatives in Congress the problems attending federal ownership of railroads. The following statement was issued by his office: "The Governor has written to United States Senator Knox and members of the House, calling their attention to a very critical situation that may arise in the taking over of the railroads by the federal government. Such a commanding part of the revenues of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania come from taxes on these railroads that any change in management which would impair that revenue would compel a prompt revision of the whole taxing system of the Commonwealth. The Governor has urged upon the officials at Washington the importance of conserving Pennsylvania's taxing right over these corporations during the period of government control."

BOROUGH OFFICERS CHOSEN Liverpool, Pa.—Borough council reorganized Saturday with the following officers: President, Dr. W. G. Morris; secretary, Charles E. Decker; treasurer, W. L. Lenhart. John P. Decker was awarded the contract to furnish supplies. Thomas Uish and Frank Koch were appointed borough police and the following committee were named: Road—George Miller, H. O. Mitchell and J. L. Elenmeyer. Sanitation—Wesley Coffman, Ed. Hoffman and Ralph Kerstetter. Sanitation—Wesley Coffman, H. O. Mitchell and J. L. Elenmeyer.

A Burns Stove Will Conserve Your Coal There never was a time when a good stove — a fuel-saver was such an absolute necessity as now. In these times of coal scarcity and the added difficulty of transportation and the unprecedented demand for fuel for government work — every home, where a stove is used — should have the best fuel-saver possible to procure. It is natural then that so many people are placing Burns' Stoves in their homes. What you save in fuel will pay for your stove in a short time. Burns Round Oak Heater For $11 A single heating, round oak stove with plenty of radiator surface, very attractively nickel trimmed, including necessary pipe. Burns Park Oak Heater For $19 Single heating oak stove, self feeder with magazine, large design, nickel trimmed, a very fine value at. Wm. Strouse THE MAN'S STORE OF HARRISBURG The Snow Storm's Effect On The City You saw it yourself, this morning. When you have to walk—you WALK. Traffic tied up—people walking—because they had to walk. When you have no coal—YOU DO WITHOUT. Not the fault of the Street Car Company. MORAL: CONSERVE. Railroad trains are way behind schedule for the same reason. Conserve the coal, conserve the light, conserve the gas, conserve the oil—for when traffic is tied up YOU MIGHT NOT GET ANY OF THESE NECESSARY THINGS. It wouldn't be any wonder if the electric lighting of the city will be impaired as a result of the storm. Perhaps not this evening, but within a few days. Our electric sign will not be illuminated any evening—except Saturday evening—to help to conserve the COAL the power company needs. It all leads to one thing: CONSERVATION. Wouldn't it be a fine thing for HARRISBURG to set an example to the rest of the country by all the stores and business houses joining in the movement to help the GOVERNMENT CONSERVE THE FUEL OF THE NATION. Coal CANNOT ARRIVE when traffic on the railroads is obstructed. Coal is needed for the Street Car Company, for the Electric Light Company, for YOUR HOME. The New Store of Wm.
