

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL NEWS OF INTENSE INTEREST

Miss Westbrook Going to France For Service

Miss Susanna A. Westbrook, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Cherrick Westbrook, of Melrose, has just received word from the National War Council of the Y. M. C. that her application for foreign service has been accepted, and that she will be assigned to canteen work among American soldiers in France.

Miss Westbrook is ordered to be prepared to sail for France any time after February 15. She is a graduate of Central High school, 1909, and the Teachers' Training school, 1911, and taught successfully among the foreigners of the city schools for a time prior to becoming social editor of the Evening News.

Three Birthdays Come Tomorrow For the Yaples

Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. Yaple, of 635 Harris street, and their granddaughter, Madeline Yaple, all celebrate their birthdays tomorrow in a quiet way. While this is no special event, there will be no special festivities owing to a recent death in the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Yaple will be glad to receive calls from their friends in the afternoon and evening. Mr. Yaple, who reaches his 60th milestone has been in the employ of the Pennsylvania Railroad for thirty-five years.

Mrs. Edgar Z. Wallower, of Coklahoma, is expected here tomorrow on a visit with her aunt, Mrs. George Preston Mains, 21 North Front street. Mrs. Wallower is remembered here as Miss Helen Calder.

Miss Marian Corson has returned to Inglenook, after spending several days with Miss Ruth Hoerner, 230 Hamilton street.

Mrs. David Fitting, who has been ill in the Harrisburg Hospital for some time, is recuperating at her home, 1242 Walnut street.

Kathryne Frick Tells of Visiting Red Cross

In the Mt. Airy World for January 10, a semi-monthly publication of the Institute for the Deaf and Dumb at Mt. Airy, Pa., there appears interesting school notes from the pupils who spent the holidays at their homes. Kathryne May Frick, of this city, who is deaf, dumb and blind, says: "On December 27 I went to the Red Cross headquarters in Harrisburg and while there met Miss Anne McCormick, the sister of one of the men sent to England with Col. House on the Peace Commission. I showed the ladies how I was able to knit and also wrote some on an Underwood typewriter." Kathryne met quite a number of the Red Cross workers who were much interested in seeing her cast on the stitches for a scarf and knit several rows with rapidity seldom shown by one with sight.

Little Knitting Party on Young Girl's Birthday

Miss Lucille Kann, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Frank B. Kann, 315 North Second street, celebrated her 12th birthday yesterday by inviting to her home the girls belonging to a little knitting club. The guests busily plied their needles for the Red Cross, later enjoying games and refreshments.

In attendance were the Misses Mary Foltz, Gertrude Lantz, Madeline Smithers, Edith Demuth, Ella Nelson, Mrs. Senner, Mildred Ritchie and Lucille Kann. Herbert Kann was the only boy admitted to the party.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl B. Ely, of 205 North Front street, were recent guests of Major and Mrs. Charles E. Day, in Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Myers, of 1709 State street, are spending a day or two in Philadelphia.

Y. W. C. A. Notes

The various clubs of the Y. W. C. A. are undoubtedly "doing their bit" to help win the war. Monday evening the R. F. O. M. Club helped make supplies at Red Cross headquarters. Tuesday evening the High School Club worked at the Red Cross rooms and last evening the Lactus Club girls spent the evening helping with the filing of names secured during the recent drive for new members.

All Industrial Club girls are invited to attend open forum and the club supper which will precede it. The supper, for which a ten-cent wartime menu is used, will be served under the direction of Miss Lois G. Scott, secretary.

Mrs. Harold H. Baldwin will give the second of her series of lectures on "War and Women," Sunday at 8 o'clock, speakers in John Y. Boyd Hall. The Industrial and High School Clubs are especially invited. The lectures are open to all persons interested in Y. W. C. A. work. Stereopticon slides are to be used to illustrate the subject, "Safety in Times of War."

MUCH OF CHEER ABOUT THE CAMPS

Dr. Bagnell Heartens Relatives of Men in Service With Lots of Information

The mothers, wives, daughters and sisters of men in the service who gathered at the Civic Club yesterday afternoon as guests of the Home Service Department of the local Red Cross Chapter, were delighted with the information, comfort and cheer brought by the Rev. Dr. Robert Bagnell, pastor of Grace Methodist Church from the camps. Dr. Bagnell spent five weeks lecturing and visiting in the five large camps of the country and saw for himself the conditions, so greatly exaggerated by German propaganda at times.

In his talk "Lights and Shadows of Camp Life," Dr. Bagnell said that individual merit counts more than money, family or position. That much of the sentimentality about the boys is not needed for they are rather to be envied than pitied, and are eager for what is to come. He compared camp life to a melting pot with a great demonstration of Democracy and wonderful experiment for America. He urged the men in the service and to pray for them at all times.

Anne Cora Leis Snyder presided, representing the committee, and an audience heartily sang "America," and "Star Spangled Banner." Miss Elizabeth Ross accompanied by Miss Martha Lawson, played her singing of "Keep the Home Fires Burning," and "Tenting Tonight." Miss Mrs. McCormick presided at the tea table, graciously presiding over the cassis, sent by Uttley, and the following assisted in serving: Mrs. Martin G. Brumbaugh, Mrs. Charles E. Snyder, Mrs. Constance Perigo, Mrs. William Pearson, Mrs. Arthur A. Herr, Mrs. George B. Kunkel, Miss Snyder, Mrs. Walter P. Maurer, Mrs. Monroe, Mrs. Leis, Mrs. Edward N. Cooper, Miss Constance Perigo, Miss Letitia Brady and Miss Jennings.

Miss Claire Thompson has gone home to Altoona after a visit among old friends in this city.

Miss Bessie Landis and Miss Clara Landis, of Fort Wayne, Ind., were recent guests of their aunt, Mrs. Thomas Deane, of Green street.

Miss Thomas Colston, of Norris town, who spent the year in Denver, Colo., is a guest of Mrs. Ramsey, at the Donaldson.

Edward Berner, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., is stopping for a few days with his uncle, Tracey Berner, of North Sixth street.

Mrs. Howard Poffenberger, of North Nineteenth street, is home after visiting her niece, Mrs. Harner, in Wissahickon, Philadelphia.

Mr. William Reed and Miss Ella Reed, of Hummelstown, left today for an extended stay among relatives in Philadelphia and vicinity.

James L. Kessler, of Scranton, is a guest of his classmate, Dwight F. Kessler, of suburban Harrisburg.

Kenneth Fairbank, of Baltimore, was in town early in the week as the guest of his classmate, Earl D. Moore, North Third street.

EGGS GO OUT BY THE MILLIONS

Tremendous Reductions in the Stocks in Hand Shown by Foust's Latest Report

Over ten million dozen of eggs and four million pounds of butter were disposed of through the cold storage warehouses of Pennsylvania during the past three months according to the reports announced today by the Dairy and Food Bureau of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

The reports of seventy cold storage warehouses made the first of the year show that there are but 4,242,523 dozen of eggs in storage compared with 14,367,202 dozen on October 1. Four warehouses contain no foodstuffs and only thirty-nine are holding eggs in shell and 15 eggs out of shell as compared with 74,406 pounds on October 1. This is an unusually large total for this time of year.

There are 6,190,938 pounds of butter in storage as compared with 10,923,322 pounds three months ago. The butter holdings are about normal. From the storage reports there seems to be a great shortage of poultry. The poultry holdings are only 1,431,686 pounds as compared with 1,644,532 pounds three months ago. There are 4,335,311 pounds a year ago. The poultry holdings are lower than they have been at any time in four years.

The wonderful catch of fresh water fish in the same hour as picture increase in the fish in storage to 5,048,653 pounds three months ago. The present figures establish a new record of 11,853 pounds of water fish in storage. The increase has resulted in the sale by county food administrators of carloads of fresh fish at public sale. This movement to bring the fish to the people has had the co-operation of Dairy and Food Commissioner Foust and has been a success wherever tried by the local food administrators. There are 25,673 pounds of game as compared with 46,384 pounds three months ago.

There has been little change in the storage of whole carcasses of meat except a reduction in the holdings of pork. Three months ago there were 17,183 pounds of whole carcasses of pork and now there are only 6,823 pounds. A year ago there were 122,570 pounds. There are now 91,512 pounds of parts of carcasses of pork as compared with 612,607 pounds a year ago, but in parts of carcasses there are 2,378,043 pounds compared with 1,748,988 pounds a year ago and 1,596,152 pounds three months ago.

The holdings of both veal and mutton are below last year's total. An interesting feature of the report shows reed birds, black plover, and head ducks, canvas back ducks, English pheasants, mallard ducks and ruddy ducks in small numbers in storage.

Commissioner Foust has forwarded a copy of the report to Howard J. Heinz, Federal Food Administrator for Pennsylvania.

JUDGE DELIVERED SOME COAL

Wanted to Help Needy, but Got More Abuse Than Thanks

Orange, N. J., Jan. 17.—Judge Nott, of East Orange, volunteered as a coal wagon driver to get coal to the homes of the needy. A motorist on the street corner threatened to whip the judge when his horse balked on the car track, stalling traffic.

A woman gave the judge a 10-cent tip and admonished him not to get intoxicated with the money.

Another woman threatened to have him dismissed unless he carried the coal to the second floor. The magistrate obeyed and dumped it in the middle of the parlor floor.

EARLY TO BED BUT LATE TO RISE IS NEW BOSTON RULE

Theaters and Cafes Obey Order of Administrator to Save More Fuel

Boston, Jan. 17.—Boston went to bed earlier than usual last night, slept later today and showed general and cheerful compliance with early closing and late opening regulations, made in the hope of conserving fuel.

Fuel Administrator Storow's order for 10 o'clock closing was more widely observed last night than on Tuesday, as the public came to realize that it was a command and not a request. Without exception curtains in the leading theaters were rung down before 10.15 o'clock, while motion picture houses were dark fifteen minutes earlier.

The streets were more or less deserted by 11 o'clock, the closing of saloons at the same hour as picture theaters having sent the crowds home much earlier than heretofore.

In cafes, which remain open all night, signs displayed at cigar counters announced that only food could be sold, and this applied in the early hours yesterday. Men on their way to work found cigar stores closed.

Newstands and drug stores were open for the sale of drugs and newspapers, but cigars and cigarettes could not be obtained at any price. Barber shops also were closed until 9 o'clock.

The most serious problem resulting from the new regulations has fallen upon the Boston elevated railway, which operates the subway, elevated and surface lines. The morning rush almost paralyzed the traffic yesterday, and greater congestion than usual has prevailed immediately after the closing of stores and office buildings in the afternoon this week.

Historical Societies Meet Here For Convention; Whole State Represented

The rooms of the Historical Society of Dauphin county, No. 5 South Front street, were the scene today of a gathering of distinguished men and women from all over the Keystone state, persons identified with some one of the societies in the Pennsylvania Federation of Historical Societies who have arrived to take part in the sixteenth annual session. At 1 o'clock sharp President Charles H. Roberts, Lehigh County Historical Society, called the meeting to order and after noting the representatives present made an address. Reports of various officers and committees occupied a considerable time and then the historians took up a great variety of topics bearing on the work which this organization is concerned in.

The program as planned included discussion of bibliography, its object, the collection of material for a complete bibliography of the Commonwealth; historical activity, the encouragement of it in each county and the formation of local historical societies; exchanging duplicates—that is, the establishment of a central agency for the exchange of duplicate historical material; publication of lists, meaning the annual publication of a list of historical papers relating to the Commonwealth and a list of historical publications of Pennsylvania. Other topics to come up are: preserving manuscripts, records, state legislation, necrology, locating and marking historical sites and state events, the latter being a new plan to make note of leading events throughout the state and to embody same in an annual report.
