

TEACHER PRAISES STAR PUPIL WHO TOOK JERUSALEM

Denver—The pride of a teacher in his star pupil is the pride of Major Charles H. Tye, a retired British officer, in the success of General Sir E. H. Allenby, K. C. B., the conqueror of Jerusalem.

Major Tye is in Denver living with his daughter, Mrs. Barbara M. MacLure, of No. 1027 Steele street. Back in 1882, when Major Tye was captain and adjutant of the Sixth (Inniskilling) dragoons, stationed at Natal, South Africa, he taught young Allenby the rudiments of military science.

"Allenby was a likely lad and a smart officer," said his old instructor. "He paid strict attention to business and gave early promise of becoming a distinguished leader."

"In fact, it is a remarkable coincidence that so many of the British high commanders are cavalrymen. Besides Allenby we see the names of French, Haig, Byng, Robertson and Remington—all belonging to the mounted branches of the service and all of them were former adjutants of their regiments."

"The officers of the Inniskilling Dragoons were a lively crowd. One Sunday morning the adjutant of our regiment reported to the Colonel that the minister was ill and could not perform the service, and asked that he, the Adjutant, read it. The Adjutant always reads out court martial, general orders and similar pronouncements."

"The Colonel, who was known as 'Old Damme,' because he prefaced nearly all his remarks with that word, said, 'Ah, damme, no; it is my duty. I'll read it.'"

"During the time that he was reading the prayers some of the men began fidgeting about. 'What is that noise about?' shouted the Colonel. 'Damme, listen to the gospel.'"

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, you will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, yellow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women as well as men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep in the pink of condition. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

"I HAD LIVER TROUBLE"

Nerves Were Bad—Had Headaches,

Says E. Robinson 1325, William St., Harrisburg. "I had a torpid liver and a bad stomach, and this left me weak and I struggled along hardly able to do my work. I felt miserable."

"My appetite was gone, had to force myself to eat, I had cramps, and the pain would get around my heart, and I was worried, my head ached, my nerves were bad and I was discouraged because I could not get relief."

"I noticed these Sanpan testimonials and began to think that it would help me, so I started to take it, and it restored my liver and stomach, settled my nerves and I feel new."

Sanpan is being introduced at Keller's Drug Store, 405 Market St., Harrisburg.

CHURCHES EAGER TO SAVE COAL

As a move to conserve fuel, beginning January 20 all services of the First Presbyterian Church, including the Sunday school, will be held in the Hain Auditorium. The lecture-room together with the primary room and the church parlor, will not be heated until further notice. The choir will meet for rehearsal at the manse, 229 Walnut street, at 7:30 o'clock this evening.

This is the third church in the borough to make plans for holding meetings in an effort to save coal. The First Methodist Church and the St. John's Lutheran Church have taken the step.

SHIPMENTS OF TILE HOLD UP WORK ON BOROUGH SEWERS

Shipments of tile enroute to the borough for three months has held up work on the intercepting sewer for some time, according to a statement of G. W. Ensign, of the corporation in charge of the work. Only a few men have been working for several days on account of the tile shortage.

SORENESS, PAIN, ACHING JOINTS

Don't suffer! Relief comes the moment you rub with old "St. Jacobs Liniment."

Don't stay sore, stiff and lame! Limber up! Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Liniment" right in your aching muscles, joints and painful nerves. It's the quickest, surest pain relief on earth. It is absolutely harmless and doesn't burn the skin. "St. Jacobs Liniment" conquers pain. It instantly takes away any ache, soreness and stiffness in the head, neck, shoulders, back, legs, arms, fingers or any part of the body—nothing like it. You simply pour a little in your hand and rub "where it hurts" and relief comes instantly. Don't stay crippled! Get a small trial bottle now from any drug store. It never disappoints—six gold medal awards—Adv.

BULGARSTOSEEK CROSS IN RIVER

Epiphany to Be Celebrated With Elaborate Ceremonies Tomorrow

Bulgarians in the borough will celebrate Epiphany, the festival commemorating the baptism of Christ in the River Jordan, with elaborate ceremonies to-morrow. This celebration, which is the eighth consecutive one since the organization of the local church, is expected to be the largest ever.

A committee from the church members yesterday were successful in locating a section along the river bank at the foot of Francis street where the water is not frozen. This section church members claim is large enough for the cross hurling services.

The celebration will include the usual ceremony of hurling a wooden cross far into the icy waters of the Susquehanna and its subsequent rescue by sturdy sons of the Balkans, a long street parade and services in the Bulgarian Orthodox Church, Front and Franklin streets.

Two Hours' Services. The services in the church will be held at 7:30 o'clock. After two hours of worship the line of parade will be headed by the Bulgarian Balkan band and will move down Franklin street to Main, down Main to Francis and out Francis to the river, where further ceremonies will be held.

The Rev. Father David Nakoff, rector of the local church, will have charge of the services at the church and at the river bank. Epiphany is celebrated by the Bulgarians thirteen days later than in the Roman church because the Bulgarian church clings to the old Julian calendar.

Immediately after the celebration the Bulgarian Balkan band will go to Mt. Union with the Rev. Father Nakoff, where they will assist in a similar celebration there.

Heroic French Priest Tells of Work on Battlefield

FATHER GILES CABANEL, who for three years administered to dying poilus, has arrived in the United States for a lecture tour. The heroic priest was decorated seven times for bravery. While under fire and gas attacks he supplied the spiritual wants of the brave men who fell for their country.

Steelton Donates $3,700 to K. of C. War Fund

Burgess T. T. McEntee, chairman of the Knights of Columbus drive in the borough, announced last night that the local committee turned over $3,700 which was subscribed by residents in this district. Two subscriptions were turned in last evening from the St. Ann's Catholic Church amounting to $156 by Frank Marisico, chairman, and St. John's German Catholic Church, amounting to $128 by Joseph Wilsbach and Joseph Tittiger. The drive here was in charge of six committees. Chairman McEntee was very well pleased with the results in the borough and is extending his thanks to members of the committees who assisted in making the drive a success.

ELECT CHURCH OFFICERS

At a congregational meeting of the First Reformed Church last night election of elders, deacons and a trustee took place. E. L. Gault and Dr. H. C. Myers were elected elders; J. H. Folker and Dr. D. E. Myers, deacons and Joseph W. Bricker, a trustee.

MIDDLETOWN

High School Girls Take Up Basketball Training

Arrangements have been made for a basketball game on Friday evening between interclass teams of the girls of the Middletown High School. Basketball for the girls has been recently introduced and, although they have had but few opportunities for practice, they have planned to give this exhibition game, hoping to arouse the interest of the parents and residents of the community and enlist their co-operation in support of the faculty in their endeavors to establish clean, healthful sport. It is believed that a crack team may be developed from the material to be found in the girls in the High School and they expect to arrange for contests with teams from other schools.

The annual meeting of the Men's Bible Class of the Presbyterian Sunday School taught by Prof. H. B. Garver met at the home of the teacher last evening, and elected the following officers for 1918: President, Rev. T. C. McCarrell; vice-president, Edward L. Shireman; secretary, Benjamin E. Lonsenecker; assistant secretary, William T. Sites; treasurer, Mrs. John T. Bradley. Teacher, Prof. H. B. Garver.

The monthly meeting of the Sunday school class of the M. E. Sunday School taught by Rev. J. W. Wickes met at the home of the Misses Eves last evening after a social hour was spent, refreshments were served.

George Calhoun the four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Calhoun, of Spruce streets, was taken to the Harrisburg Hospital, yesterday where he will undergo treatment.

Kathryn G. Frieckler of town, and W. F. Ney, of Royaton, were married at the St. Peter's Lutheran Church parsonage, yesterday evening at 7:30 o'clock by the Rev. Fuller Bergstresser.

Miss Edna Beard entertained a number of friends at her home in the Kramer flat, South Union street, last evening.

Another recent golf pleasure was enjoyed last night by the younger set of Middletown when the Ann street hill was the scene of constant after a lapse of several days. Owing to the deep snows, yesterday several of the soldiers' members of the 113th Aero Squadron of the aviation section of the United States Army, stationed at the west end of town, cleaned the Ann street hill of snow, using a triangular shaped drag attached to one of the large warehouse trucks.

In this way a track was cleaned and leveled off from Lawrence street to the corner of Ann and Union streets.

Miss Blanche Edna Bryan, aged 23, die dat the home of her mother, in South Wood street early yesterday morning, after being ill for the past year. She is survived by her mother, one brother, Harry, at home, one sister, Mrs. Lydia McCreary, Harrisburg. Funeral services will be held from the home on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The Rev. G. E. Hawes, pastor of the Market Square Presbyterian Church, in which street was a member assisted by the Rev. T. C. McCarrell, of the local Presbyterian Church, of town, will officiate. Burial will be in the Middletown Cemetery, and will be private.

The regular teachers' meeting was held in the High School building on Tuesday evening. Postmaster Kramer discussed the sale of War Thrift Stamps and War Savings Certificates. Prof. H. B. Garver gave a good address on "Habit in Education." This was followed by an address by Prof. A. S. Smickel on the "Needs of a Curriculum."

John Ulrich was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Herbert at Columbia. Charles Gilbert is ill at his home with pneumonia.

John Starr, Jr., of Millersburg, is visiting relatives in town.

Owing to the shortage of coal the filter plant has been closed down temporarily and citizens are warned to boil all water until the plant resumes operation.

Ex-Queen of Portugal Barred From British Hospitals

EX-KING AND QUEEN OF PORTUGAL.

Augustina Victoria, consort of the deposed monarch of Portugal, King Manuel, has been barred from visiting various war hospitals in England. She is a Hohenzollern by birth, her father, Prince William of Hohenzollern, particularly distinguished himself by expressions of hatred of everything British. Her brother was an officer on the German raider Emden and is now a prisoner in an English camp. The photo is a recent one of ex-King Manuel and the ex-Queen Augustina Victoria.

FIRST WHITE BOY WITH COLUMBUS

At Helm White Superiors Slept, Youngster Was Blamed For Wreck

Many phases of the life of Columbus offer mysteries that the historians have never been able to clear away, and one student of the life of the great explorer has come across an incidental mystery that has an appealing interest. It relates to a boy who accompanied the expedition of 1492—the only boy among its members, and consequently the first white boy to set foot in America.

The contemporary accounts of the first expedition of Columbus mention the boy in question only once and that briefly. They indicate that he was the only boy in the expedition and they place on his young shoulders the blame for the great catastrophe that befell when the Santa Maria was wrecked on the coast of Hayti. To be sure the story of the wreck shows that the boy was less to blame than his elders, but it was easy enough to make him the scapegoat. It was the night before Christmas, 1492, ten weeks after the discovery of the land, and Columbus was pushing his search for gold among the West Indies. The flagship, the Santa Maria, was skirting the coast of Hayti, and late at night, as the wind was light and the ship barely moving, Columbus went to his cabin for rest. He passed the helm over to the captain. He, too, soon fell the need of sleep and went below. His successor at the tiller was a sailor and he shortly followed the example of the admiral and the master. Before he went he awakened the lad in question and told him to mind the helm.

The boy did not go to sleep. He was doubtless a live lad and he felt the importance of being trusted to steer the ship. But he was in strange waters and the currents were treacherous near that coast, says an exchange. The admiral and crew rushed on deck in terror. Of course they blamed the boy. That was the way of the world before 1492 and the fashion has never changed. That was the end of the Santa Maria. The crew reached the shore in safety and made a fort from the timbers of the wreck. In that fort, which they called La Navidad in honor of the day, about forty of the crew remained while their companions went home to Spain on the Pinta and the Nina. One historian mentions a tradition that the boy remained with this number, but it is only a tradition. The fate of the forty is a mystery, for when the second expedition of Columbus reached that island a year later there were only a few charred timbers and bones to be found. Perhaps the boy perished there. His name has not even come down to us, but the brief glimpse that we have of him is a fascinating one. There is something to stimulate the imagination in that fleeting picture of the boy who stuck to his post while his superiors slept.

THIS WEEK, NERVOUS MOTHER

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I was very weak, always tired, my back ached, and I felt sickly most of the time. I went to a doctor and he said I had nervous indigestion, which added to my weak condition kept me worrying most of the time—and he said if I could not stop that, I could not get well. I heard so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound my husband wanted me to try it. I took it for a week and felt a little better. I kept it up for three months, and I feel fine and can eat anything now without distress or nervousness."—Mrs. J. Worthington, 3842 North Taylor St., Philadelphia, Pa.

The majority of mothers nowadays overdo, there are so many demands upon their time and strength; the result is invariably a weakened, run-down, nervous condition with headaches, backache, irritability and depression—and soon more serious ailments develop. It is at such periods in life that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will restore a normal healthy condition, as it did to Mrs. Worthington.

Will Germany Yield To America's Peace Aims?

"The key to the Temple of World Peace is in the hand of President Wilson," said Maximilian Harden recently to an American correspondent in Germany and many people throughout the world think that the key was fitted in the lock when the President restated America's war aims to Congress on January 8th.

Taken together, remarks the Chicago Tribune, the statements of war aims by Lloyd George and President Wilson are "an unescapable challenge to the Governments of the Central Powers and what perhaps is much more important to the consciences of their peoples." The New Yorker Staats-Zeitung says that "Germany's spokesmen have been insistent that their opponents in the war state definitely and concretely what they are fighting for. It is now the Central Powers' move and they should be equally willing to restate their war aims as unequivocally as the United States and Great Britain have stated theirs."

Throughout the length and breadth of America, the President's speech has been warmly applauded and endorsed. In the capitals of the countries allied with America in the war its reception has been no less cordial, as shown in the leading article in THE LITERARY DIGEST for January 19th. This article covers four pages and gives the result of a searching examination of the newspaper press of the world, including Germany, upon America's war aims as outlined in the President's message. Incidentally, the war terms of America, Britain, and Russia are shown in three parallel columns, so that the reader can at once balance them.

How "The Digest" Helps Fight America's Battles

It is imperatively necessary that the American public, every man, woman, and child, in their several stations, co-operate to the limit of their power in helping along the great work to which this country has dedicated itself—the high task of making the world safe for democracy. To do this a clear understanding of our aims and purposes and an intelligent grasp of what is being done, day by day, from Cape Cod to the Golden Gate, is absolutely essential. THE LITERARY DIGEST, this week and every week, tells you exactly this, without exaggerating successes or minimizing failures, and shows you how YOU can help, where your part lies in the general plan of coordinating the nation's resources. Read it to-day, as a patriotic duty.
