

FARMERS' WEEK IN THE CAPITAL

Big Meetings Will Be Held Here Throughout the Present Week For Discussion

Annual meetings to be held here this week by the State Board of Agriculture and half a dozen allied organizations will bring expression of the farmers of Pennsylvania regarding the tax and other conditions brought about by the great war and an exhibition will also be given of tractors to demonstrate how machinery may take the place in the fields of the men drafted into the National Army.

Annual meetings to be held here this week in Harrisburg for almost a score of years, will have a distinctly war reference. Addresses will deal with the increase in production of foodstuffs, conditions brought about by the war and abnormal weather, the shortage of labor due to the war zone and the movement of men to cities because of high wages in industries, fuel and transportation conditions as relating to the maintenance of farming and live stock. The latter subject will be exhaustively treated by the State Veterinary Medical Association, which is to meet here this week.

The State Board will meet Tuesday morning and probably outline a legislative program the following day. The State Horticultural, Dairy-men's and Breeders', Poultry, Potato Growers, Sheep and Wool and Veterinary Medical Associations will begin Tuesday and continue until Thursday.

Over 100 boys representing corn clubs from various parts of the state and selected under auspices of the state vocational authorities will be here to judge the corn exhibits. Over twenty varieties of farm products, including fleeces, in which a big interest is being manifested, will be shown, the exhibition being under state supervision. In addition, moving pictures of farm life will be shown. American and British Army officers will attend some of the meetings and the national and other state governments and the Pennsylvania Public Safety Committee will be represented.

The meetings will be held in five different places. The State Board will meet in Chamberlain Hotel; the Poultry Association in the Senate caucus room; the Veterinarians, in Cameron hall Second and Walnut streets; the State Horticultural, Dairy-men, Breeders', Potato Growers, Sheep Raisers and Vegetable Growers in the Board of Trade.

Joint meetings will be held at the Board of Trade Tuesday and Wednesday nights, the speakers being the Governor, Gifford Pinchot, John A. McSparran, Lindley H. Dennis and others.

The exhibition of food products and tractors and movies will be at the Emerson-Brantingham building, Ninth and Market streets.

Catarrh Sufferer Relieved at Last

Fairly Eaten Up With the Disease, Says Clendenin

"I was fairly eaten up with catarrh, of the head and stomach," says Jacob Clendenin, a well-known farmer, of Camp Hill, near Harrisburg, Pa.

"Finally I was persuaded to give Tanlac a trial and I am now free to say that it is really a wonder worker, for it certainly fixed me up in line shape."

"Now I can eat anything with relish and enjoyment. I sleep like a top and wake up refreshed and rested and I do not suffer from headaches as I used to."

Tanlac is now being introduced at Gorgas' Drug Store.

Tanlac is also sold at the Gorgas Drug Store in the P. R. Station; in Carlisle at W. G. Stephens' Pharmacy; Ellzabethtown, Albert W. Cain; Greencastle, Charles E. Carl; Middletown, C. S. New's Pharmacy; Waynesboro, Clarence Croft's Pharmacy; Mechanicsburg, H. F. Brunhouse.—Adv.

WHOLE NATION IS GETTING BACK OF TOBACCO FUND

Soldiers in France to Benefit By Drive Throughout Country

Announcement was made this week from the headquarters in New York of "Our Boys in France Tobacco Fund" that plans have been successfully laid whereby the week of Monday, February 18 of the new year has been designated as "Washington's Birthday Smoke Week." During the seven days which embrace the celebration of the birthday of George Washington, a concentrated drive in which every city in the country will participate, will be made in the interests of the Tobacco Fund. Not only will the various newspapers and magazines which are now receiving contributions for the sending of tobacco to our boys across the seas give widespread publicity and assistance to make "Smoke Week" a success, but negotiations are now under way whereby a chain of large tobacco stores stretching from coast to coast will donate a certain percentage of their receipts to help swell the already large fund. The plans for an extensive campaign during this period also embrace an agreement between the Fund and one of the leading theatrical circuits of the United States which carries with it a promise on the part of the various theater managers to give a special "Tobacco Fund Matinee."

In order to properly impress the minds of the public with the importance of "Smoke Week" during the week of February 18th, a series of appropriate posters will be displayed in railroad stations, street cars and on various bill-boards throughout the country. These lithographs will be striking in design and executed by a leading magazine artist. It is deemed especially appropriate that the seven days in which the celebration of the birthday of the country's first president, George Washington, occurs, should be selected as the time for a vigorous campaign to secure contributions for our present-day fighters now enduring the discomforts and dangers of the trenches "over there," in order that we may have security and peace. The various celebrations, meetings, and entertainments which will be given not only on Washington's birthday, but also on the day before, will participate in the effort to secure liberal contributions toward "Our Boys in France Tobacco Fund" and it is expected that the "big push" will result in supplying many thousands of American boys now in France with the tobacco they crave above all else. The easiest way to get tobacco where it is most needed, the lads in France, is to send a contribution to the Harrisburg Telegraph's Tobacco Fund. A quarter will send a package retailing at 45 cents direct to the men with Pershing where American smokers are unobtainable. The following contributions have been received:

LOYAL TEACHERS NEEDED, SAYS T. R.

Army and navy, and among civilians by judges. The men and women who train the citizenship of the next generation are engaged in a task as important as that of the soldier on whose trained valor the safety of the present generation depends or as that of the judge to whom we especially look for the safeguarding of the highest standard of civic integrity.

"Peculiar honor is due judge, soldier and teacher who do well their vitally important work; and in each of the three professions those who do well form the great majority. But as a corollary to this we should show a special insistence upon this duty by every citizen, and we should visit upon those of each profession who go wrong a severer condemnation than upon ordinary citizens."

Applies Standard of Patriotism
"Soldier, judge and school teacher should be held to the same standard of patriotism and of fealty to the nation and the flag; and patriotism means devotion to all men and women, and to the orderly liberty our Government expresses. "That species of internationalism which insists upon loving other countries as much as our own stands on a level with that species of conjugal affection which finds expression in loving another woman as well as one's own wife; each is a crime; the first is treason and the second is bigamy and in the present stage of world development one crime is no more defensible than the other. Treason in the concrete is not offset by a mushy sentimentality about humanity in the abstract. The teacher should no more be permitted to preach treason than the Army officer. If either complains that this infringes his liberty of speech he can at once regain that liberty by leaving the public service."

"Even outside the service in time of war there are certain limitations which must be put upon speech—in fact, as I need hardly say to a body of scholars and students and scholarly people, while civilization means a steady increase of that liberty which implies immunity from wrong, it also of necessity means a steady diminution in that kind of liberty which implies the doing of wrong to one's neighbor or the doing of wrong to the body politic as a whole."

"We do not require Army and Navy officers and school teachers to swear allegiance to international mankind; they must, of course, show a generous desire to do justice and to be fair to all men and women; but their loyalty must be to this flag in peace and war."

"Foolish or disloyal creatures tell us to unite at this time the question of permanent preparedness because even the pacifists are now backing the war, and we ought to think of nothing but winning. It is, in fact, the old story, and we have always insisted, that our first object should be at all costs to win the war and that it would be infamous to accept any peace except the peace of overwhelming victory. But to introduce universal military training for our young men under 21 now will be a most efficient step for winning the war; and if we wait until peace comes all the professional pacifists, being gentry of inconceivably short memories, will at once raise their old-time shrill clamor against preparedness."

Remember that for two and a half years after the world war broke out we as a nation acted on the theory of these pacifists that if we kept unprepared and submitted with humble cheerfulness to insult and murder we would be able to keep out of war. Well, we tried the experiment. We kept unprepared.

Pacifist Policy Failed
"We not merely turned the other cheek, but meekly presented our entire person to German brutality. And we did not keep out of war. We merely made ourselves helplessly unable to amount to anything for a year after we were dragged into the war. Our pacifists kept this bounty upon their fight and put it where it had to fight and did fight. The real crime of pacifists is not that they don't fight, but that they keep themselves and the nation utterly unfit to fight effectively. In the end pacifists generally fight; but, as they never began to prepare until the fight has come, they never fight effectively. Of 100 pacifists who clamor against war ninety can in the end be kicked into war. But it is too late to prepare effectively when this has happened. Pacifists don't avert war. They merely avert preparedness for war—or rather preparedness against war, for while preparedness does not make peace certain, it is the one method of making it probable."

"We as a nation have been guilty of ignominious folly because we followed the advice of the American pacifists and did not prepare for this war; these American pacifists there by proved themselves the efficient tools of the German militarists; and now, having got us unprepared into this war they seek to prevent us from preparing our strength so as to minimize the chance of another war and to ensure us against disaster if another war should unhappily come."

BAKER YIELDING ON WAR CABINET

The measure provides for the establishment of a war cabinet, that name having been substituted at the eleventh hour for "war council," of three men, distinguished in business, executive, administration and public affairs and not members of the President's cabinet.

Specifically states that the Secretaries of War and Navy shall not be ex-officio members. The war cabinet members would receive salaries of $12,000 a year, the same as those of the President's cabinet, but would rank above the executive cabinet in power for control of war policies.

The Senate will begin to-day the consideration of legislation looking to a more effective prosecution of the war and Washington officials await with the deepest interest the turn of events.

There are signs abundant that before the Senate completes its task to bring about greater co-ordination in the war program clashes of a very serious nature between Congress and the administration are not at all improbable.

The Senate Military Affairs Committee, voicing the views of a very considerable element of the American people will insist that something be done to remedy the errors of omission and commission which thus far have marked the preparations to enter the war on a scale commensurate with the prestige of the United States.

Business "Behind the Lines"
A crystallized public sentiment will decide the issue, with the President expecting universal support of his administration's conduct and Senators believing the people are behind them in their demand for a greater utilization of the commercial genius of the country for business efficiency in the material elements of essential "behind the lines."

Senators will leave to the President and Secretary Baker the question of whether the contemplated steps shall hinge about Mr. Baker's management of the War Department. He asserted that the proposed war cabinet and ministry of munitions are not to be considered personal relations upon Mr. Baker, unless the President expressly elects him to be the issue. If he does they are willing to accept the challenge and fight it out before the country.

As a further complication, the advocates of universal military training are determined to press that issue along with the other war legislation. The assertions in New York yesterday of Senator Chamberlain, of Oregon, chairman of the Senate Military Affairs Committee, and Representative Julius Kahn, of California, ranking Republican member of the House Military Affairs Committee, left no doubt of that.

Pennsylvanians Named to Offices by Palmer

Washington, Jan. 21.—A reorganization of the law bureau of his department was announced last night by A. Mitchell Palmer, the alien property custodian. Three Pennsylvanians were selected for posts. They are Ralph J. Baker, of Philadelphia; E. C. Higbee, of Connelleville, and J. E. MacCloskey, Jr., general counsel of the Harbison-Walker Refractories Company, of Pittsburgh. All are made assistant counsel, along with Mansfield Ferry.

Daniels, Omaha, Neb., is appointed chief of the division of individual property. General Strike On in Austria; Peace the Aim London, Jan. 21.—A general strike is on throughout Austria, according to an exchange Telegraph dispatch from Paris yesterday, which reports 100,000 men quitting work in Vienna and Neustadt (thirteen miles south of Vienna). The strikers are described as openly anti-German and the movement as both political and economic, and especially aimed at securing peace.

Public demonstrations, it is added, have been held in many places, at which hostility was voiced toward Berlin for trying to force the Austrians to continue the war.

The latest German reports which have come through Amsterdam, to which city they were forwarded by the semi-official Wolf Bureau, flatly assert that the military party has gained the victory in the territorial policy of Germany, and show what face that country proposes to put on annexations in the east. The guise in which these are presented is that the peoples of these countries already have determined their future status through existing representative bodies and that this determination is irrevocable.

DISTILLER GIVES UP BUSINESS IN DISGUST
St. Louis, Jan. 21.—After spending $350,000 in a futile effort to prevent prohibition, Sigmond J. Lang, a whiskey manufacturer, has quit the business in disgust after forty-five years and will spend the remainder of his life in some other industry.

He finds after casting up accounts, he says that he has paid $1,850,000 in revenue taxes and $350,000 to anti-prohibition campaigns and to solicitors for charity.

"I am quitting the liquor business in disgust," Lang says, "but with a clear conscience as to my business methods and the knowledge that I have never sloped to employ the tactics that some advocates of prohibition and morality used to lay hands on our money. I did business in ten states in the West and South, and the first shock came three years ago, when Arkansas went dry and wiped out a huge business overnight. Then Iowa, another of my good states, took the same course."

Lang sold his distillery for forty cents on the dollar.
