

Trotzky Says German Terms Favor Annexation; Austrians Were Silent

London, Jan. 22.—Leon Trotzky, the Bolshevik foreign minister, who returned to Petrograd on Monday night from Brest-Litovsk, is quoted by the Exchange Telegraph correspondent at Petrograd, in a dispatch dated Tuesday, as saying that the German terms preponderantly favored annexations, their object being to strangle Russia economically and politically. The Austrian delegates, the foreign minister added, played no very active role in the negotiations, merely assenting to every German proposal.

Morals of Army Said To Be Excellent

Chicago, Ill.—Further assurance that the American troops in France are being safeguarded morally is given by Dr. W. T. Foster, president of Reed College, Portland, Ore., who visited the entire French front. "The moral of the American soldier in France where American soldiers are stationed," said Dr. Foster, "and I never saw any drunkenness. In fact, the only drunken man in uniform I saw was on the ship coming home. The morals of the American soldier are excellent."

Dr. Foster found the French army at the highest degree of efficiency and newly inspired since the entrance of the United States into the war. "The English," he said, "in America hardly appreciate the magnificent British army. The discipline is simply wonderful, and the whole English staff has taken that famous bulldog grip, which will never be released short of victory. Labor is as solidly for the Lloyd George Wilson program as any other element."

Dr. Foster did not learn of any starvation or rebellions among the Germans, and he warns against excessive optimism among the Allies.

Rumania Will Continue to the End, Says Jonescu

Jassy, Rumania, (Thursday), Jan. 17.—Take Jonescu, one of the leading statesmen of Rumania and vice-president of the council of ministers, resigns from the cabinet. King Ferdinand recently declined to accept, talked with the Associated Press to-day and expressed his intention of continuing to the end, whatever the cost, and what that country would expect as a condition of peace. "As to the future course of Rumania," M. Jonescu declared, "the Rumanian people would remain faithful to the entente allies until the end, whatever the cost, and what that country would expect as a condition of peace. Months ago the cabinet declared the necessity of an all-American cabinet, of the coordination of the energies of the biggest brains that could be summoned to the work, irrespective of party. At that time the demand has grown until it is now countrywide." Philadelphia Evening Telegraph.

RESERVOIR EMPTY, CITY FACES FAMINE

plants, and request them to conserve the supply. Mayor Kelly announced he had ordered all city policemen to report persons who let water run because of the amount of water that the nation never would rest until those principles had been achieved."

Need an Expert

Council in the near future will take up the matter of employing an expert water works engineer, a Commissioner Haseler to-day said he heartily favored this plan and recommended such action to council. "There is no doubt that the city water department is of so great importance that an expert should be constantly in charge of the water works. Other city departments are under supervision and there is no reason why this should not be given the same consideration. I believe the present situation would never have developed if the department had had an expert in charge of an engineer who could report daily to the superintendent of public safety."

Finds Much Favor

Commissioner Gross took the same stand in discussing the question. Former city officials including Ex-commissioners Forgenthaler, and Dunkle, have said that they would move and believe it to be the only method to use to handle the department successfully. "The Mt. Pleasant Press and smaller plants on the Hill were hampered to-day by lack of water pressure, it was reported. This condition will prevail officials said, until there is a big gain in the reservoir supply."

Look at tongue! Then give fruit laxative for stomach, liver, bowels

"California Syrup of Figs" can't harm children and they love it

A laxative to-day saves a sick child to-morrow. Children should take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver sets sluggish; stomach sour.

Use Boiled Snow if Water Supply Fails

"Harrisburg need not be alarmed over the lack of water," declared Dr. Hitzman, assistant to Dr. Raunick of the City Health Department to-day. "Rain water made of boiled snow is the finest kind of water. It is not contaminated with minerals and is perfectly alright for drinking, cooking and washing. The snow should be thoroughly boiled. This is the only caution needed."

CONGRESS AND THE PRESIDENT

The People's War "What has been most complained of in relation to the President in his general attitude—his aloofness, his occasional poor choice of subordinates, his unwillingness to seek or take advice, and his undue concealment of what has been done, what attempted, and what has gone on. In this sense, there is a certain rough justice in Senator Chamberlain's assertion that this is the people's war, and that they are entitled to be taken more freely into confidence about it.—From the New York Evening Post.

Public Confidence

By his denunciation of Senator Chamberlain for criticizing the war-making activities of the government, by his strenuous opposition to legislation designed to render these more efficient, the President has taken upon himself a heavy responsibility. He assumes, on the first place, that those who do not agree with him are inspired by ulterior motives. The purpose of both parties to this unfortunate episode is to win the war in the speediest and most effective way. The President should be the last man to seem to cast reflections upon the motives of either party. He has discovered this way and who are anxious to aid him in the quest. He cannot expect to be immune from the charge of cowardice if he fails in his stewardship. He has had the confidence of the nation to a remarkable degree, nor has he yet lost it. But it would be idle to deny that there is growing up a restless feeling of dissatisfaction which he cannot ignore. Upon the present extent of the charge of Senator Chamberlain, the Senate will have its way if the feeling is widespread. The nation will have its way in the end, in any case, and the President should stay the course of events by mere resistance.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Push War Cabinet

When President Wilson opposes the war cabinet he is opposing a patriotic purpose to strengthen and increase the efficiency of his own administration. He is opposing the war cabinet which the Evening Telegraph declared the necessity of an all-American cabinet, of the coordination of the energies of the biggest brains that could be summoned to the work, irrespective of party. At that time the demand has grown until it is now countrywide.—Philadelphia Evening Telegraph.

Not Infallible

No man is infallible, not even the President. His international policies are accepted wherever in the world instincts of humanity prevail. But he has been unfortunate in calling men to his counsel who have not always been able to grasp the situation. The war cabinet bill is intended to give him the opportunity to speed up his preparations, nothing more, nothing less, and the demand for legislation is universal, not partisan and not a slogan. It is intended to give the President a new cabinet which has been sent long ago to the Kaiser with the compliments of the United States, and very much to the credit of the United States, at that, let it be said.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Affairs at Washington

The debate in the Senate unfortunately dropped to the level of partisan politics yesterday. It was inevitable, and it must be expected.

P. R. R. Denies That Roads Are Responsible For Coal Shortage

Philadelphia, Jan. 23.—George Dallas Dixon, vice-president of the Pennsylvania railroad, charged critics of his company for failure to deliver adequate supplies of coal to Philadelphia, took up the general question of railroad handling of coal and showed that the fault, if any exists, does not lie with the railroad.

France All Ready For German Drive

Paris, Jan. 23.—To-day France is awaiting the German offensive, awaiting it almost with gladness. Rightly or wrongly, the nation believes that a huge drive against the western front is impending. Rightly or wrongly, it believes that the commander-in-chief of the German army, perhaps the decisive, perhaps even the final—battle of the war.

War Board Publishes Regulations For Weeding Out Inefficient Officers

Washington, Jan. 23.—The procedure through which inefficient officers of National Guard or National Army troops are to be removed is set forth to-day in regulations published by the War Department. Divisional commanders and higher officers are given authority to order before special boards such officers who may be considered unfit for the commands they are holding. The report of these boards must be made to the War Department, which will render the final decision.

MINERS CONTINUE WAGE DISCUSSION

Indianapolis, Jan. 23.—The miners' convention to-day again took the question of changing the method of negotiating wage contracts with the bituminous coal operators, delegates from soft coal fields outside of Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and Western Pennsylvania being represented in the interstate wage conferences of those states. The wage agreement made in the middle western states forms the basis on which the contracts in other soft coal districts are made.

Three Are Killed in Action at Front Is Report From Pershing

Washington, Jan. 23.—General Pershing to-day reported three American infantrymen killed in action by January 21. He gave no details of the engagement. The dead were: Private Albert Cook, nearest friend, Delbert Coote, West Almond, N. Y.; Private Harry V. Garman, Catawba, Va.; Private Leo E. Radi, Cleveland, Ohio.

Republicans Are Patriots

It does not lie in the mouth of a bitter partisan such as Senator Stone of Missouri to indict the Republican Party as the traitor to the patriotic cause. Neither they nor their leaders in Congress or in the separate states need have the slightest concern over the trade of a man who has never recanted in his trust and so unfit for his position that the President himself has been indebted to a Republican majority for protection against his opposition and desertion at a critical period in the history of our international relations. Every one knows that the charge of Senator Stone is grossly untrue. Every one knows that the Republican masses throughout the country have risen as one man to the support of the President. Every one knows that this Republican support in Congress and out of it has been unparalleled in the history of the country.

As to Stone

The sudden eruption of Stone of Missouri from protected quietude to vociferous denunciation of every word which ventures to criticize President Wilson gave a touch of comedy to Monday's session of the Senate. Senator Stone had been recognized heretofore as one of the President's jealous supporters. In fact, he has been classed with Gore and Reed and a few others as opposed to the President's war policies and as one who has a craving for peace at almost any price.

Many Errors

Anybody who spreads a day in Washington knows that there are many things which must be corrected. The Senate is striving, as best it may, to devise a remedy. The explosion of Stone was an explosion—going to produce good results. We are just beginning to learn that we are at war and the terrific difficulties undertaken by men. "We must win" is taking the place of sham slogans and the patriotism of music. That is what the loud voices of the Republican mean and no sound more pleasing to the nation has come from that quarter since April 6. We have needed more spirit to come and, thank heaven, we are getting it. We are going to have to take men of power and ability, suck them dry in the national service and then throw them overboard with a little ceremony as if they were beggars. That is what England has had to do, and France, to say nothing of Germany.

Universal 7-Hour Day Advised by Gompers

Indianapolis, Jan. 23.—A universal seven-hour day during the period of the war, instead of present spasmodic suspensions of industries by the Department of Commerce. Exports of gold amounted to $372,000,000 compared with $156,000,000 in 1915. Gold imports amounted to $58,000,000 against $100,000,000 over an increase of $100,000,000 over 1916, and exports were valued at $84,000,000 against $71,000,000 for 1916.

Specially-Invited Audience Views Great Italian War Films

Wonderful pictures of the capture of Gorizia, the Austrian stronghold by the Italians, the sinking of an Austrian submarine by Italian motorboats, the voyage of an Italian airship over the mountains over the Alps are being shown at the Regent Theatre to-day. The pictures were viewed by an audience especially invited by Peter Magaro, the proprietor, this morning. The pictures were taken by Italian photographers and all the money for rental of the films goes to the Italian government for war purposes.

America's Foreign Trade Breaks Previous Record

Washington, Jan. 23.—America's foreign trade surpassed all records in 1917, amounting to $9,178,000,000. Official figures issued to-day by the Department of Commerce showed that there was a gain of nearly $1,300,000,000 over the preceding year. The year's exports amounted to $6,225,000,000; imports $2,953,000,000. Exports formed 72 per cent of the total.
