

AUSTRIA WILL PLAN SEPARATE RUSSIAN PEACE

Willing to Continue Negotiations on Basis of No Annexations

London, Jan. 25.—Austria has decided to continue peace negotiations with Russia on the basis of no annexations and no indemnities, according to a Vienna dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company quoting from Count Czernin's address before the Reichsrath.

"I demand from Russia not a meter of territory, not a centime of indemnity," the foreign minister is quoted as having said, "and peace can be obtained if Russia maintains the same standpoint, as she evidently intends to do."

Might Form Starting Point "It is obvious to me," said Count Czernin, "that an exchange of views between Austria and Russia might form the starting point for a conciliatory discussion among all the states which have not yet entered into peace negotiations."

Commenting on the fourteen points in President Wilson's war aim speech, Count Czernin said, according to the Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen, that Austria-Hungary and America were virtually in agreement regarding the great principles for new arrangements after the war.

OLD AGE A CRIME!

Some people are young at 60—red cheeks, ruddy and vigorous. Others are old at 40—joints beginning to stiffen up a bit; stop beginning to lag and lose its springiness; occasional touches of pain in the back, feet tired without cause, and possibly a twinge of rheumatic pain.

compatible than they seemed. He characterized the speech of President Wilson regarding war aims as an important advance toward the Austro-Hungarian viewpoint, which contained some proposals in which Austria-Hungary would gladly join.

The foreign minister said the population of Poland would reach its own fate. The Polish nation must not delay peace one day. If Poland after the war was to advance toward Austria-Hungary, such an advance would be welcomed.

Interpretation of the right of free action of peoples was almost interference between Russia and Germany, said Count Czernin, but a compromise must be reached. The differences of view were not great enough to justify abandonment of the peace negotiations.

REJECT ULTIMATUM; MAY DECIDE ON WAR

Continued from First Page. From the former Polish kingdom of Lithuania also the area populated by the Lithuanians and White Russians, and further they want to cut into territory of the Letts and separate the islands populated by the Estonians from the main land.

The internal life of these provinces lies therefore for an indefinite epoch in the hands of these powers. Under such conditions any definite guarantee regarding an expression of will of the Poles, Letts and Lithuanians is only of an illusory character. Practically it means that the governments of Austria and Germany take into their own hands the destiny of these nations."

Nov Spokesman Frankly Troszky declared he was glad now that the central powers were speaking frankly, stating that General Hoffman's conditions proved that the real aims were built on quite a different level to the principles recognized on December 25 and that real lasting peace was possible only on the initial principle of self-determination.

"It is clear," Troszky declared, "that the decision could have been reached long ago regarding peace aims if the central powers had not flinched their aims differently from those expressed by General Hoffman."

Dr. Richard von Kuehlmann, German secretary for foreign affairs, replied to Troszky, stating in principle that General Hoffman's aims were the same as those advanced on Christmas. Throughout the negotiations, he said, the Germans had kept in view the ethnological boundaries but also the actual boundaries of the Russian empire.

Will Fight For Revolution But Not For the Allies, So Says Bolshevik Commander London, Jan. 25.—Some of the ambassadors at Petrograd are reported to be conferring with reference to formal acknowledgment by their governments of the Bolshevik government. It is not stated which ambassadors are concerned and there is no indication as to the decision.

Among those killed or wounded in the riots at Moscow on Tuesday were many women and children, a Reuter dispatch from Petrograd reports. A large procession of Bolsheviks with machine guns, armored cars, detachments of cavalry armed with Red Guard and German, Austrian and Turkish prisoners, arrived at midday at Theater Square, where thousands of spectators had assembled for the celebration of the anniversary of "bloody Sunday."

A Daily News dispatch from Petrograd quotes Ensign Krievko, the Bolshevik commander-in-chief, as having said in a speech: "There is no help for us except from ourselves. We will fight for nothing about our resolution. When they heard we were breaking off the peace negotiations and forming an Army they picked up their arms and thought we could be useful to them again. First an American officer, then a British and then a French officer came. We were asked whether the Army would fight. I said we hoped so. They were asked about money. They were willing to pay us for fighting for our revolution, thinking we would be useful to them. But we shall not be cannon fodder in order that the allied imperialists may celebrate the victory. We are against the whole world. We shall fight for the revolution, and the revolution alone."

CHARGED AS ACCOMPLICE Arthur Brown, colored, was arrested by Patrolman Carson early last evening as the accomplice of Ernest Jones, who entered the Jackson House, at 1310 North Seventh street, the night of January 10, and tried to rob it. The pair were surprised by the occupants of the house and Jones was captured. Brown escaped from the hold of Peter Kohman and made his escape. Jones was held for court. The pair were given a hearing together in police court this afternoon.

HERTLING SEES BASIS FOR NEW MOVEMENT

quite open to discussion. The chancellor added that the financial position of all European countries after the war would probably operate most effectively for the solution of this problem.

Count Von Hertling contended that Alsace-Lorraine was almost purely German territory, which had been severed from Germany by violence. When Germany in 1870 claimed the land "thus criminally wrong from her" it was not the conquest of alien territory, the chancellor declared, but what today is called dis-annexation.

There is no difference between Germany and President Wilson regarding the freedom of the seas, Count Von Hertling said. He added that the thorough freedom of navigation during time of war, as well as in peace, was one of Germany's main demands, it being eminently important for future free navigation that England should be made to relinquish her strongly fortified points of support on international routes, such as Gibraltar, Aden, Hong Kong and the Falkland Islands.

Count Von Hertling said the evacuation of Russian territory was a question which only concerns Russia and the central powers. Commenting on the fourteen points in President Wilson's address to Congress the chancellor said an agreement could be obtained without difficulty on the first four points. Regarding the fifth point mentioned by President Wilson, the chancellor said, some difficulties would be met with. Germany never demanded the incorporation of Belgian territory by violence, the chancellor asserted. He said the state of Poland would be decided by Germany and Austria-Hungary. When all other questions had been settled, he added Germany would be ready to discuss the question of a League of Peace.

Asks New Proposals The chancellor demanded that the leaders of the nations at war with Germany set forth new proposals. The terms outlined by President Wilson and Premier Lloyd George contained certain principles which could be accepted by Germany, he said, but the concrete proposals were unsatisfactory.

The chancellor declared Germany did not wish annexations by violence but that the question of northern France would be discussed only by France and Germany. He asserted there could be no talk of the cession of Alsace-Lorraine.

No Real Advance Toward Peace in Hertling Speech

Washington, Jan. 25.—Based on the short cabled outlines of the speeches of the German and Austrian premiers to their respective parliaments, the opinion is expressed by officials here that no substantial advance towards the final peace sought by all belligerents, has resulted from these declarations. It is true that expressions of Count Czernin, the Austrian premier, appear to be more conciliatory in tone than previous utterances from that quarter, but beyond vague statements that the possibilities of peace negotiations are contained in the addresses of President Wilson and Premier Lloyd George, there is no suggestion of a surrender or any of the extreme contentions of the military elements in the central states.

The German premier's address indeed is couched in the language of a victorious general and it is noted that no where does he specifically abandon the claim for indemnity and territory. In fact, from the cabled abstract, it appears he has become even more uncompromising and militaristic in his position than he was when he assumed office and first addressed the Reichstag. The renunciation by Count Czernin, the Austrian premier, of any claim against Russia for indemnity or annexation, it is noted, does not extend to other nations. Considering that Germany has undertaken to dominate the Russian-Balkan provinces and that the central powers already have recognized the independence of Ukraine, thus constituting a buffer state between Russia and Austria, in large part it is perceived that Austria is making no special sacrifice in this renunciation. As for Poland the declaration that the population would decide its own fate is read here in light of the action already taken by the central powers to set up a sham kingdom of Poland, which in reality is nothing more than a dependency of Austria and Germany.

Zone System of Coal Distribution Is Planned

Washington, Jan. 25.—A zone system of coal distribution, to be administered by J. D. A. Morrow, was being mapped out rapidly by officials of the railroad and fuel administrations today as the next step necessary to speeding up deliveries by clearing the traffic congestion.

Mr. Morrow, organizer and secretary of the National Coal Association, who was put in charge of coal distribution and apportionment by the fuel administration last night, will supervise all pooling and transportation arrangements. Formal announcement of the details of the next zone plan which also will be under his control is expected shortly.

Officials expressed the belief that the proposed system will prove effective in eliminating long and cross hauls and make another serious coal shortage this winter impossible.

"Dick" Kinnard Winning Championship Honors

Another Harrisburg boy is making good in the athletic world. He is L. R. Kinnard, of Wynnewood, star plunger of the Princeton swimming team. He has been making the seventy-foot mark all season, and is a championship possibility.

Young Kinnard is the son of L. H. Kinnard, of the Bell Telephone Company, and prepared for Princeton at Haverford School, where he was a member of the swimming team from 1912 to 1916. He took first place in the plunger at the Penn interscholastics in 1915, and upon entering Princeton immediately earned for himself a position on the Freshman team. Last year he was the foremost plunger on the Varsity team, taking a number of first places and breaking the Brown record when the Tigers met the Bruinians at Providence, R. I. His performance in the Penn tank a couple of weeks ago, when the Pennsylvania-Princeton intercollegiate meet was held, was somewhat of a disappointment to the Tiger following, since he made only sixty-six feet and six inches, but he has since apparently recovered his form and is daily reaching seventy-one feet.

Kinnard is now representing the Tigers in the plunger and has been given a place in the front ranks of collegiate plungers. Against C. C. N. Y. in the first Tiger meet of the season he made seventy-one feet and six inches, a performance which has caused many to believe he will capture the intercollegiate title in this event when the intercollegiate are held at Princeton in the spring.

Dean Blaisdell To Speak At Y. M. C. A.

Dean Thomas C. Blaisdell, of the College of Liberal Arts of the Pennsylvania State College, will lecture before the Y. M. C. A. men's mass meeting in Fahnstock Hall, Sunday afternoon. His subject will be "Kultur and Culture," a timely address, showing the difference between the teachings of Nietzsche and Christ; Germany and Christianity. Miss Martha Armstrong, soprano soloist, Stevens Memorial Methodist Church, will sing several solos.

Dr. Blaisdell is a traveler, an educator, and an author of note. His message will be a live, vital one to young men and old.

INDUSTRIES MAY NOT SPEED UP TO REGAIN TIME

Day Loss of Fuelless Holiday Must Not Be Made Up During Week

Fuel Administrator Garfield today wired Commissioner Palmer, of the State Department of Labor and Industry, that "any increase of working time on other days of the week by industrial establishments for the purpose of making up the last time brought about by the fuel administration order prohibiting work on Mondays, is considered by the fuel administrator an invasion of that order and a violation of its spirit."

Mr. Palmer at once issued this ruling for guidance of inspectors and made public this statement. "Many inquiries have come to this department involving redistribution of working hours for women as a result of the 'heathless Monday' decreed by Dr. Harry A. Garfield, national fuel administrator.

"The 'heathless Monday' decreed by the fuel administrator is not a Pennsylvania legal holiday and consequently the provision in section 3 of the woman's law, allowing overtime employment for females two hours per day for three days in a week, in which a legal holiday occurs, does not apply to this case.

"This department must enforce the woman's law as it stands. It permits women to be employed not more than ten hours in any one day, nor more than fifty-four hours in any one week. No female may be employed in any manufacturing establishment before 6 o'clock in the morning, nor after 10 o'clock in the evening. Women under 21 may not be employed before 6 o'clock in the morning, nor after 9 o'clock in the evening. The above hours stipulated for women must be observed to avoid conflict with the Pennsylvania labor laws.

"While this department must prevent overtime work by women, it also desires to call attention of manufacturers to the fact that the 'heathless Mondays' was decreed by the fuel administrator solely for the purpose of conserving the fuel of the nation. However, if factories were to be operated longer hours during other days of the week, than has been the custom in the past, these extra hours would tend only to nullify the purpose of the federal decree."

GINGEROLE quickly stops rheumatic pains, neuritis, neuralgia and lumbago and instantly relieves tonsillitis, pleurisy and bronchitis.

For sprains, swellings, varicose veins, swollen glands, sore, burning feet, and all aches and pains it has no equal. All first-class druggists sell Gingerole for 25 cents.

THE AUTOMOBILE America's Blessing In Her Hour Of Need The LINK Between Business and Victory

- It is up to every citizen of the United States to look conditions squarely in the face and keep a level head. You now realize that transportation is the vital factor in winning the war. The railroads are congested and the only way out of the emergency is the automobile. The motor car comes and goes freely in any direction—from any point to every point. The pleasure car is no longer a pleasure car—it is a NECESSITY car. TIME the great force behind all progress must be CONSERVED. When you save time you produce more and you transport more and you accomplish more. The AUTOMOBILE is the blessing of the Nation in her hour of need—because the AUTOMOBILE is the NATION'S GREATEST TIME SAVER. Every citizen should save time. The physician, the lawyer, the merchant, the salesman, the banker, the manufacturer, representatives of all vocations must save time and the AUTOMOBILE is the Greatest Time Saver. You are earning more than ever before—and you can earn still more—with an automobile. Your family's health will be bettered with an automobile and health is a priceless possession. Every little nook and corner of this great land of ours can be reached with the automobile. And every inch of space of this great land should do its bit to keep America as the world's greatest nation. Your government says the automobile is a NECESSITY. Back your government. Keep the farm and city close together, the factory and source of raw material within hand-clasping distance, the one end of our land shoulder to shoulder with the other end—with the automobile. You should have an automobile. You can help and you WILL help to do more, when you have a motor car. Go to the Eighth Annual Auto Show, Tenth and Market streets, and see with your own eyes what the third largest industry in the world has produced for YOUR benefit—for the NATION'S GOOD. If you cannot buy a high price car, buy a low price car—but buy a car. YOUR car will help to save the NATION'S TIME.
