STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color.

LETTER WRITTEN BY MISS WATTS

Harrisburg Girl Sends Interesting Description of Experiences in France

Mechanicsburg, Pa., Jan. 25.—In a recent letter from Miss Marian B. C. Watts, who during the war worked "somewhere in France," to her sister, Miss Anna M. Watts, of Mechanicsburg, she says in part: "Mother's letter came yesterday, dated November 3. You can believe I was glad to have it. Bird had two days before and we had known for five days there was American mail here. Ask mother to send along any letters of interest. This is a good way for me to keep even. Ask any one to send big, good looking pictures for me! Our walls are big and bare and the boys want home things. The things they say most are, 'That makes me feel at home' or 'Maisy, that looks like home.' Bird's pink check gingham apron is a top notch success. She was washing the windows when one boy came up and said: 'Miss, that reminds me of mother.' No one need ever think that the boys forget them for one minute. I heard a boy say last night, 'I wrote to my mother on October 20 and not again until last night.' I smiled at him and said: 'Don't let it happen again. I've just come over and know how they long for letters over home.' He came right up with his hand out and said, as he shook hands, 'Thank you, Miss. It'll be easier now that the 'Y' is here. You can't write much with eight fellows in the tent."

Another boy said: "Do you remember, Miss, the first day you came here? I looked up and saw two ladies—American ladies they were. I said to myself, 'Come down from heaven.' And so it goes every hour and every day. We live about two miles from the Hut, in the home of a French family. Our room opens right on to a garden, with French windows. We do not have to go into the house at all, simply come through a big iron gate, up a stone path and over a stone terrace and into our room. The garden is enchanting, with a large black gazing ball. Our room is about the size of a room in a hotel. We have two walnut beds, a wardrobe, a bureau, a table, washstand, two small stands, three funeral chairs, arm chair, stove, two trunks, several boxes and our two large selves. We take turns in breathing. We have one small lamp and two candles and are lucky to have these operate at all. We have a dear little Georgette, who comes in shortly after 6 o'clock, lights our fire and brings each a cup of chocolate and two pieces of brown bread and butter. This is breakfast. She also brings us a pitcher of hot water. When we are dressed, we put on our coats and start on our night work day. I have a pair of stockings and thinking of the fourth, I don't know what I would do without my fur coat—literally use it every night and day. I then put on my ruc sack, night and morning. If I had to carry my bag, my hands would freeze. We have to pay for every thing we use.

In every stage of our journey so far we find some particularly nice somebody to belong to. On the way over it was Dr. Percy, in Paris, Mrs. Bowles. In town, Mr. Cleveland and the dearest old chaplain of Base Hospital 17, and out here, Miss L. I French. I can assure you it was rich. Our little Georgette's husband was killed last spring. When she told us and showed his picture in her pocket we all cried. Can't you see us? She is 21 and so pretty and eager to make us comfortable. We come in half frozen to find our slippers on the wet porcelain stove. Isn't it sweet of her? I wish we had more time, but you can't tell Miss L. I can rattle off the money at a great rate now. Be good girls now till I get back. With love to each and every one.

MARIAN B. C. WATTS.

An Altoona paper was received by some of Miss Watts' friends, in which was a letter from a soldier in France, from Altoona, saying how glad they were to have two American ladies there in the "Y." One was a Miss Watts, of Harrisburg, Pa., but he did not know the other. He also said it was much easier to write letters now that they have the "Y" and many other comforts.

COUNT FIFTY! NO NEURALGIA PAIN

Don't suffer! Instant relief follows a rubbing with old "St. Jacobs Liniment."

Conquers pain—never fails. Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Liniment" right on the ache or pain, and out comes the neuralgia misery. Here's a joyful experiment! Try it! Get a small trial bottle from your druggist; pour a little in your hand and rub it gently on the sore, aching nerves, and before you realize it—in just a moment—all pain and neuralgia disappear. It's almost magical, but the joy is, that the misery doesn't come back. No! The nerves are soothed and congestion is relieved and your neuralgia is overcome.

CHILD BURNED TO DEATH Dover, Pa., Jan. 25.—Bertha Ferrence, 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Logan Ferrence, living near here, was fatally burned on Wednesday evening when her clothes caught fire while the parents were at the barn doing chores. The little one was engaged in poking a stick in the kitchen stove when her clothes were ignited and before her 6-year-old brother could call his parents, her clothes were almost burned from her body. A local physician was summoned but she was beyond medical aid, and died several hours later.
