

TOBACCO NEED GROWS SERIOUS

Germans Must Smoke Hops; Americans Have Little Else

Berne, Jan. 26.—From Frankfort comes the report that about 200,000 pounds of which at least 200,000 pounds have been collected recently, are, perhaps, to be used in Germany as a substitute of tobacco which grows increasingly scarce. It is asserted that chemical investigations have proved that hops act and taste much like tobacco and can be used without even a mixture of tobacco.

This tells the story. The Germans are going to smoke hops while the battling Yanks will have good, fragrant, inspiring Virginia tobacco to ginger them up. You know what hops will do to those Huns? Some day about a million of them will get so hopped that they will turn on wobbly old Bill Kaiser and so hop his frame that there won't be anything for the undertaker to look after. Hops, eh? Good night for Germany. She has been getting away with hops—in a glass—for a couple of centuries and America certainly has had their effect on the nation. Anyway, maybe certainly is not going to let its soldiers degenerate into such a state as this—hops for smoking!

This other day a wealthy man, William Wallbridge, of Towanda, this reminds us of that great and glorious country is mighty slack on the sacrifice stuff. Just think of buried his pet Russian wolf hound in his own family lot 25x30, surrounded by an elaborate iron fence. The beast was placed in an ebony coffin with silver handles and trimmings and borne to the grave in a sleigh. The owner, after the funeral, placed an order for a ten-foot marble shaft. The total expenses of the hound's demise were $500. And a lot of people went along as mourners.

One might well ask if America has gone clear to the batty-batty. When money is badly needed for smoke funds, such as the Telegraph conducts, here is a mad citizen who throws away $500 on a dead dog.

HAIR COMING OUT?

Dandruff causes a feverish irritation of the scalp, the hair roots shrink, loosen and then the hair comes out fast. To stop falling hair, once it has started, use a few particles of dandruff, get a small bottle of Danderine at any drug store, for a nickel or two, rub it in your hand and rub it into the scalp. After several applications the hair stops coming out and you can't find any dandruff.

FIGHT FOR YOUR LIFE

Duty Demands Robust Health

Fight to get it and keep it

Fight—fight day in and day out to prevent outbreaks by ill and ails. Keep wrinkles from marring the cheek and the body from losing its youthful appearance and buoyancy. Fight for ill-health is coming with its pallor and pains, defects and declining powers. Fight to stay its course and drive it off. Don't fight without weapons that can win the day, for without the intelligent use of effective medicine you will spread and weakness grows and a seemingly strong man or woman often becomes a prey to ill after all.

You will not find this class of persons in the hyperfin ranks. No unhealthy, dull, drabby, droopy persons in that line. It is a hale, hearty, robust aggression of quick-stepping men who view life in a joyous frame of mind and are mentally and physically equal to any emergency. Hypertensive attacks for a healthy and sound mind—it is the invigorating tonic of the times—powerful and unsurpassed as a health restorer.

LAFAEN CALLS ON PEOPLE TO SAVE

Urges That Money Be Provided to Take up the Next Liberty Loan in State

Banking Commissioner L. A. Lafaen is sending a circular to every banking institution in the State, urging that steps be taken immediately to encourage people to save so that they can invest in securities. The Commissioner calls attention to the fact that the banks will not be able to help the business people of the State and the next Liberty Loan by selling their own securities and investing in Government bonds, but that the additional money must come largely from the pockets of the people.

The Commissioner says in his notice: "Relatively the people of Pennsylvania are thrifty; naturally they save. Unfortunately they are extravagant. The people of the State are living in luxury as compared with conditions during and after the first year's work and are regular savers. It is the duty of the Government to ask the people to loan it more billions. The money must come very largely from the pockets of the people. The banks must furnish the people of the state money to carry on their activities which we cannot help in this respect by selling their securities and investing the proceeds in Liberty bonds. The people should get their money in banks or buy War Savings Stamps."

"Owing to the wise banking laws and the careful attention given to investments the banks of the State are in an excellent position to serve the Government and their patrons, but the people must do their full part to carry on the necessary business of the state and still loan to the Government Pennsylvania's share in carrying on the war effort. Pennsylvanians in this respect will appreciate the importance of saving regularly and systematically."

War-time Conditions Cause College to Open Doors in Midyear

Seven Technical High School Seniors have left during the past week for State College, where they enrolled as special students at that institution. They will endeavor, during the remainder of the year, to do the first year's work and be regular members of the Sophomore class next fall. War-time conditions have caused a number of colleges to open their doors at midyear, and accept students in an effort to save half a year for them. The matter is approved by the government as a war measure.

Section 8, composed of senior college preparatory students, was almost shot to pieces this week when Rees M. Lloyd, Paul Guarin, Donald Miller, Lawrence Matz, and Lawrence Lawrence Weber accepted the offer to enroll at midyear rather than wait until next fall. Henry Bitner, a Central graduate, who was doing special work at Tech, also went. The boys will pursue courses in Mechanical Engineering with the exception of Rees Lloyd. He has selected industrial engineering.

In order to catch up with the State Packets, the school yesterday during the winter course during July and August. Should the local laws succeed in their endeavors, they will save a year for themselves as well as for their country.

Ralph Williams, a first-class seaman, located at Norfolk, Va., visited the school yesterday during his chapel exercises. Williams was a member of the Freshman class until prior to his leaving when he was listed in the Navy. He is on a twenty-day furlough, visiting his parents in Harrisburg.

"Good Pictures" will be given Wednesday afternoon to the Camera Club by State Photographer Manner, in the science lecture room. At the meeting a new treasurer will also be elected.

The award will be made possible through the kindness of Horace F. King of this city.

The school schedule was distributed to the students of the school after chapel exercises yesterday morning. The schedule consists of eighteen games, half basketball and half football, and has already won four out of five starts.

Tech students will soon add English and French magazines illustrated by their own hands to their reading room. This will give the pupils a view of the war from the standpoint of our allies. Last week and the coming week are being given over to reviews, during the week of February 4, there will be examinations in practically all subjects. Each day the examination will occupy half a day.

ALLIED OFFICIALS SEE NO PROMISE IN HERTLING SPEECH

Alsace-Lorraine Not Only Obstacle to Peace, is Paris Comment

London, Jan. 26.—The view entertained by a majority of the morning newspapers of London respecting the speeches of Chancellor Von Hertling and Foreign Minister Czermin is that Germany regards herself as the conqueror, that she is determined upon aggression and is prepared to listen to no peace terms except her own, and that therefore the war must go on. It is admitted that the tone of the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister is more conciliatory than that of the German chancellor, but this is regarded largely to the pressure of internal conditions in Austria-Hungary. Count Czermin's respectful references to President Wilson's address are received coolly for the most part because of his declared fidelity to the alliance with Germany.

The Morning Post thinks Chancellor Von Hertling undoubtedly anxious to placate America is very remarkable and cannot reconcile his professions with the fact that he has just delivered his general principles while differing as to details but assumes that the speech was constructed, as so many have interpreted it, for the reason to oppose the same. After making an indignant condemnation of the proposal that Great Britain should withdraw and other defenses the Post says:

"Now having received another proof of Germany's inexorable hatred of England we get on with the war."

Speeches Mean Little—the Telegraph fears that the speeches of both statesmen contribute nothing to the pacification of Europe and believes that there is no radical divergence in the views of Germany and Austria. The Telegraph says that the chancellor's views are especially important because he is the leading statesman in Germany and that the militarist party in Germany has gained a remarkable ascendancy.

The utterances of the German chancellor and Count Czermin in the Times says their words of yesterday indicate the choice each has made. Continuing the Times says:

"Although Chancellor Von Hertling accepts such clauses in the American program as appear advantageous for Germany by interpreting them according to his liking, he rejects the others."

Concrete Demands Refused—The Chronicle says that Chancellor Von Hertling, while giving guarded and practically valueless answers to some of President Wilson's abstract principles, refuses every one of the concrete territorial demands. The Chronicle finds it difficult to say how much Count Czermin's phrases regarding President Wilson mean, for on concrete points he concedes nothing.

The Chronicle says that "if there are any shirkers or believers in peace by negotiation still among us there will be none left when Chancellor Von Hertling's speech is read. It is clear that Germany is unrepentant, unbent and swollen with victory for aggression."

The Times thinks the speeches were arranged in collusion and constitute a combined diplomatic offensive against the entente allies. The Times says:

Alsace-Lorraine Not Only Obstacle to Peace, is Paris Comment

Paris, Jan. 26.—"Never was the Alsace-Lorraine questions farther from being the sole obstacle to peace," says the Temps in its comment on the speeches of the German chancellor and the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister. "This only is the most vital problem of the untractable German imperialism."

The Temps says the German chancellor calls utterly to follow the reasoning of his collaborator, Dr. Richard von Kuehlin, the German foreign secretary, declaring: "For were he to believe the Alsace-Lorraine question the only bar to peace he would have been obliged to declare Germany's readiness to restore Belgium without restrictions to assure the Poles, Lithuanians and others freedom to settle their own destinies."

"Instead," says the Temps, "Chancellor Von Hertling carefully avoided doing this. Over Belgium he leaves a menacing doubt."
