American People Especially Urged to Reduce Pork and Wheat Consumption

Washington, Jan. 28.—The President has called upon the Nation for greater food economy. For the most part the reduction in wheat and meat consumption, he urged, is left to the voluntary and patriotic corperation of the American people. The police force to enforce the President's proclamation will be American housewives. Here is what the President asks: ne President asks:

the President asks:

Two wheatless days every week—
Monday and Wednesday.

A wheatless meal every day.

A meatless Tuesday.

A porkless Saturday.

A meatless meal every day.

Economy in sugar consumption and elimination of waste every day.

The President, acting on the recommendation of Herbert C. Hoover, the food administrator, called on the people of the Nation to adopt this program with just as thorough patriotic response as prompts them to give their sons to the Army, because food supplies to the nations

The President asked for a reduc-lon of thirty per cent. In the con-sumption of wheat and its products for home baking, which provides exty per cent, of the bread con-sumed by the Nation, and he asked for consumption of the new victory bread—a mixed bread, beginning, with five per cent, cereals other than wheat and gradually increasing until only eighty, per cent. wheat The Allied nations have gone eyond this, and in Germany contains only fifteen per cent. at flour.

"If you bake bread at home, use wheat substitutes; if you buy it, buy only Victory bread.

"Third. Manufacturers of macaroni, spaghetti, noodles, crackers, breakfast foods, pie, cake and pastrose are not to purchase to exceed sevently per cent. of the wheat flour they used during the corresponding months of 1917. These manufacturers will be performing a patriotic service by using cereals other than wheat in their productions.

Regulations for Wholesalers "Fourth. Wholesalers will be required, under license regulations, not to buy more than seventy per cent. of their purchases of flour from millers as based on their purchases for the corresponding months of the preceding, year, and their sales to the retail trade must be in the proportion of one pound of wheat flour to one pound of wheat flour to one pound of other cereals, this being the same proportion in which the retailer sells to the consumer, unless the wholesaler satisfies himself that the substitutes, have been alrady purchased from another source.

"A ruling has been made that in making any combination sales under this program dealers shall name a price for each of the articles so sold which shall not represent more than a normal pre-war-profit on any one of the articles sold.

sold which shall not represent more than a normal pre-war-profit on any one of the articles sold.

"Fifth. Millers of flour are to distribute their output through their sustomary channels and markets in such a manner that each city, town and district may receive its usual proportion. The wheat millers have been required to produce one barrel of flour from 264 pounds of wheat. This is a white flour and represents from two per cent, to four per cent, higher extraction than from last year's harvest.

from two per cent, to four per cent. higher extraction than from last year's harvest.

Two "Wheatless" Days
"Sixth. To assist further in conservation, Monday and Wednesday of each week are to be observed as wheatless days, and one meal of each day as a wheatless meal. This applies both in the home and in the public eating place, and on such days and meals no crackers, pastries, macaroni, breakfast foods or other cereals containing wheat should be used. The only exception to this is such small amounts of flour as may be needed for thickening soups or gravies or as a binder in corn bread or other cereal bread. "Seventh. On wheatless days, and at wheatless meals, the food administration urges that bread baked in the home. Victory bread should be used, if no wheat substitutes can be found. "The Federal food administration in each state will announce the meal to be served as a wheatless meal in his state. If no meal is designated the United Stated food administration prefers that the evening meal be wheatless.

"Eighth. It is further desired, in order that meat and pork products be conserved, that one meatless day.

War Department Quotes Orders to Show Powers Possessed by Stettinius

Washington, Jan. 28.—Secretary of KIRK SHELLEY IS war Newton D. Baker's answer to the complaints that Edward R. Stettinius would be without legal authority to perform the duties of sur-veyor general of Army purchases was given to-night in the announcement that on January 11 powers granted by Congress to the Secretary of War were delegated to Colonel Palmer E. Pierce, as an assistant chief-of-staff, under whom Mr. Stettinius will work. Although the announcement from the War Department was not made as a statement from Secretary Baker, officials saw in it further evidence that Mr. Baker has been converted from his policy of not "being annoyed by criticism," as the statement is a direct answer to all the complaints that Mr. Stettinius would not have real power to perform the tasks for which he was selected.

The Secretary of War and administration officials generally continue to insist that all of the numerous changes announced by Mr. Baker were part of a general reorganization and co-ordination plan worked out before the Senate committee began its inquiry, but many persons in Washington are beginning to doubt that Mr. Baker's original plans swere nearly so broad as now announced.

There have been repeated statements to the effect that the president is working on plans for a war cabinet, but it is denied that such acwere delegated to Colonel Palmer E.
