Central High Notes At a meeting of the Central High School Club of the Y. W. C. A. held last evening, Mrs. William Jennings gave an interesting talk on the trip made from Syria recently by her sister, Mrs. J. D. Bitner, who was doing missionary work there when the war broke out. She stated that it is almost impossible to realize what the Syrians are suffering. The party had to return by way of Constantinople and had to make most of their journey in closed wagons under the care of Turkish guard. There were many deaths from cholera and typhoid and all received courteous treatment from authorities because of their being Americans. When they reached the port from which they were to embark for America they were kept under guard for three weeks. This was done in order that the might forget some of the things seen in the war torn country.

Hair Often Ruined By Washing With Soap Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it. The best thing for steady use is just ordinary milled coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use. One or two drops of this oil will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy suds, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage. You can get milled coconut oil at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.—Adv.
