Six Reasons Why You Should Buy Purity MARGARINE

"Purity" Margarine is Pure

"Purity" Margarine is Inexpensive

"Purity" Margarine is Delicious

"Purity" Margarine Does Not Get Rancid

"Purity" Margarine Goes Farther

"Purity" Margarine is Colored at Home

The laws under which "Purity" Margarine is made and sold are very drastic. We are glad to operate under these laws. We are glad that they are rigid and that they are enforced. We are glad to have U. S. Inspectors pass on "Purity" Margarine—on our factory, our methods, our materials, and our product.

Every time you buy a pound of "Purity" Margarine you save at least 15 cents of what you ordinarily pay for butter. And you do not sacrifice one bit of fine flavor or quality.

In cooking with "Purity" Margarine, you need use only 3/4 as much as butter. The reason for this saving is that the wholesome fats in "Purity" Margarine are more concentrated—you do not have to use as much to get the same good results. You save when you buy "Purity" Margarine—and you save every time you use it.

Even in the hottest weather, with the proper care, "Purity" Margarine does not get rancid. This is an indication of its wholesomeness and substantial purity. This is also an economy feature.

"Purity" Margarine is not an imitation of anything and we want you to buy it strictly on its own merits as a pure, wholesome, distinct and necessary food. Yet it is good to know that "Purity" Margarine is so much like butter—in taste, smell and the composition of its ingredients that it takes an expert to tell the difference.

Although lots of people do not know it, most butter is more or less artificially colored. The law compels us to sell "Purity" Margarine uncolored (it is taxed 10c a pound when colored) and that law is the best compliment "Purity" Margarine has ever received. It is a frank admission that the only way you can tell "Purity" Margarine from butter is by the color.

With every pound of white "Purity" we furnish a capsule of pure, vegetable butter-coloring which you can easily stir into "Purity" Margarine—making it a beautiful golden yellow.

MANY TRUCKS FOR CLEANING UP SNOW

Mayor's Proclamation Calling For Removal of Snow in the City

Harrisburg's streets are snow-bound to a degree never before known in the history of the city. Car service has been disrupted; coal deliveries are made almost impossible; traffic in general is almost impossible.

In front of almost every home, extending nearly to the center of the streets, are snowbanks from six to twelve feet high.

I hereby call upon all men and boys, not otherwise employed on Monday, February 4, to be ready with snow shovels to clear the streets insofar as possible.

I further make public request of business concerns to donate trucks and teams to the work of removing the snow.

With motor trucks and teams on all the city streets, and with hundreds of men and boys ready to remove the snow, in a single day the city's streets can be made safe for traffic.

All owners of teams or trucks who are willing to use them Monday for this public-spirited civic work should immediately notify the office of the City Highway Department.

Street crossings in many places are closed by the snow and along the street car lines there are frequent delays because passengers must wade through the banks or wait until the passengers leave by the front door and the motor man can get up to the path from the sidewalk.

At present Commissioner Lynch has employed ten trucks, more than twenty cars and a number of two-horse teams. These are kept busy hauling the snow from the business district, the firehouse entrances, Mulberry street bridges, Dock street bridge, and the subways at Herr, Market, Second and Front streets.

Fire Chief John C. Kinder to-day endorsed the mayor's proclamation saying that until the snow is removed from many of the narrow streets and alleys the danger from fire is greatly increased as it is almost impossible now to drive vehicles over some of the highways.

Ross A. Hickok, local fuel administrator, also approved the snow removal idea as the best method of clearing many of the streets. At present many coal teams are compelled to drive on several feet of snowbanks in front of their homes and it is impossible to unload the coal in any other manner. It is a common occurrence now to see a team driving on a wide sidewalk for at least half a square.

Phila. Trucks Leave For Washington; Go to France

Philadelphia, Feb. 1.—A train of forty two-ton machines, in charge of Captain George Gray, and ninety members of the Third Motor Truck Company of the Twenty-third United States Engineers, left here to-day for Washington, the men expect to join General Pershing in France shortly.

After being greeted by Mayor Smith and a councilman's committee when the train arrived from Trenton last night, the men were entertained at dinner and at theater parties. They were quartered in the State Penitentiary and while here their machines, which were parked in Broad street, attracted much attention. This is the third United States motor truck fleet to pass through here, using portions of the Lincoln Highway in Pennsylvania.
