Once Upon a Time

There was a time—before the war —when the housewife's common weapon of health and defense could be purchased for twenty-five and thirty-five cents. These same classes of brooms are being sold at ninety cents and one dollar, respectively, which has caused many complaints.
When asked the cause for the airplaning prices, Mr. Mills said:
"We used to buy broomcorn for $80 and $90 per ton. The drought bear before last, however, cut the production-in half, and the quality was inferior. Then the price went up to $100. It has since gone to $250, the price we paid last year.
"Handles, because of the great demand for lumber, have jumped from $20 to $35 per 1,000; wire, from 3½ to 6½ cents per pound; linen twine, from 28 to 65 and 70 cents per pound, and labor has increased forty per cent. The cost in production, therefore, has increased from 100 to 150 per cent.

75 Cents a Fair Price

"We now actually sell brooms at $7.25 per dozen, or about 60 cents each to the retailer. When the consumer pays 90 cents she is paying an exorbitant price. Seventy-five cents is a fair price to pay.

"A good broom gives more value than any other household commodity, compared with its cost. One broom properly cared for, will last six months; two brooms, used alternately, will last a year and a hair. The housewife must learn to contract the six months are the six months.

The Pennsylvania home is the fourth largest broom shop in the world and employs 116 blind men, whose carnings last year aggregated $25,735. Nature Fixes No Age Limit For Those Who Live a Careful Life

"Three score years and ten," tradition says, is the span of a human life. This must be divided into three periods to include preparation, efficiency and decay, each period lasting nearly twenty-five years. With the athlete, it is still more severe. Few men at thirty-five, it is said, have the reserve vitality and endurance that they had at twenty-five. Therefore the edict has gone footh that at thirty-five the athlete must let up in violent competitive work and gradually back out of the front ranks.

But there is no scientific evidence to show that this is necessary, says Fopular Science Monthly. The human body is simply an assemblage or cells, which must be kept active, without being overstrained and nourished without being overfed, in order that they may be able to resist the attacks of microscopic enemies which cause disease and decay. Under favorable conditions these cells will live indefinitely without showing signs of age or loss of vitality. Therefore the conclusion is reached that the "three score years and ten" are not fixed by any natural law, but rather by the conditions under which must be the conditions and observes the law of temperance in all things and at all times, should be able to "sit tight" on his pedestal so long as he desires.
