ship and in the last two weeks several dozen men who were accused of violations have been busy explaining. In a number of cases they had to pay fines. The general effect, say the officials here, has been good and will make some of the men realize what they have been doing against the law-abiding sportsmen.

When the game season ended there were numerous feports of men who had paid no attention to the hunters' license law and in cases it was discovered that they lived in rural communities and did not believe the law applied to them. Two or three gangs, including one in Perry county, and another in Bedford, were broken up and the offenders fined. Similar prosecutions are now under way in other counties and the names of the offenders will be published.

Considerable trouble was also experienced with foreigners who wenthunting without any regard to the affen gun law and who paid scant attention to restrictions. There was also some trading of naturalization papers to enable men to hunt in the bituminous regions, but wardens have broken it up and caused fines.

large saying of our wheat flour. It must be distinctly understood first that there is a great difference between corn flour and corn meal. The corn flour in composition is practically the same as the corn meal, but it contains a little more protein and starch, and a little less moisture and fat, the shortage of fat being due to the fact that the germ is extracted before grinding. It must be further understood that you cannot replace all of the wreat flour with corn flour, as the corn contains no gluten, which is the constituent in wheat flour that makes it possible to obtain a raised dough.

"To make bread as it is made in the average household, where a sponge is set and no accurate measure of the flour is made, the better last is to mix a quantity of the two silter three or four times. Of course, larger quantities may be mixed at one time, keeping the proper proportion. In pastry even larger proportions of the corn flour may be used. In making bread, pastry, etc., wee this mixture in exactly the corne used. In making bread, pastry, etc., use this mixture in exactly the same proportions and treat it exactly as you would ordinary flour. "In nutritive value, the difference between the mixed flour bread and the all-wheat flour bread is very slight. Their food value is practically the same, and if white corn flour is used, the bread has the same appearance as the all-wheat bread. "This bread has a decided advan-
