tion and are giving a good account of themselves in the amount of work turned out. The experience they gained at the government job at Middledown, Pa., last summer prepared them for just such work they are doing now and they are not afraid to do it either, as 35 of them at work on a Washington, D. C. job were taken from one job to another all on account of working too fast and the other men kicking, and not being able to keep up with the pace set by my men.

"Now, if any one says we have no pacemakers or good men in Harrisburg, it is time they were put in the Annanias class, but above all, I want the people to know that not one of my men has laid down on the job, or been guilty of having his name on the payrolls in more than one place, like has been done on some of the jobs, of which I have known of the jobs, dealing and co-operation will do wonders.

"I wish to say that while the work is progressing it is not advisable for any men to spend money going after a job, as all the men needed are on the job at present.

"I want to say in conclusion that while our newspapers have published some facts that have been discovered on some government jobs, they have only given about half of the story, and were it permissible, I would be glad to tell some that has not been told, but I believe at investigation now going on will uncover a whole lot; the sooner the better.

Yours very truly.
