UP TO GARFIELD TO EXPLAIN NOW

His Statements on Fuel Supply Never Have Been Verified as Correct

The "Black Diamond," a coal trade journal, in its current issue says: The worst prophecies that were made last spring and summer of a coal famine for this winter have been so far surpassed they seem not to be very mild forecasts whereas, at the time, it seemed that they were so nearly impossible they could not be true.

The places which appear to be hardest hit are the very centers of population in the East, namely, Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore. It is hard to tell which is harder off for coal, New York or Boston. They occupy almost precisely the same position except that Boston does seem to have gotten a shade the worst of it.

For example, manufacturing concerns are closing for lack of fuel even on the date when the government order permits them to burn coal and in some places the public utility companies are in danger of being closed down. It is almost impossible to imagine what a catastrophe it would be to have a gas plant forced to suspend and have its mains subject to an intermittent flow of gas, such things are always considered most extremely dangerous because of the likelihood that people will allow their valves to remain open and then reap an explosion later as a consequence.

CARLISLE JAIL ESCAPE FAILS

Prisoner Tries to Dig Through Stone Walls With Knife and Hands

Carlisle, Pa., Feb. 4.—An attempt to escape from the Carlisle jail was discovered late Saturday afternoon when falling plaster disclosed the efforts of Herman Ledbetter, 19 years old, to dig his way through the walls. Ledbetter was sentenced to six months on a larceny charge brought by Reading workmen from the lower end. He stated in court here that he was originally from the neighborhood of Philadelphia. The theft of clothing for which he was arrested occurred on the same day that he was released from the Dauphin county jail, after serving a term there. He had nearly made a hole through the walls here with a knife, dislodging the mortar and removing the stones by hand, when the attempt was discovered and he was placed in another cell.

of Germany are lacking and the German newspapers give little information concerning actual happenings. Vorwärts, the Socialist organ, says it is impossible to give news because of the force of circumstances.

Will Meet in Berlin

A significant announcement is made semiofficially in Berlin. It is said that the foreign ministers of Austria and Germany and General Von Ludendorff, chief quartermaster general, will meet to-day in Berlin. They will discuss economic and political questions affecting the interests and territories of the two countries, both of which have been troubled recently by strike outbreaks, due to food difficulties and the peace negotiations with Russia.

14 Planes Brought Down

Fourteen enemy airplanes and one captive balloon were brought down by anti-aerial aviators on the Italian front, while in Northern France British airmen accounted for ten German machines.

Death Penalty Threatened German Strikers Who Refuse to Resume Work

London, Feb. 4.—General Von Kessel, military commandant of Brandenburg province, in which Berlin is situated, threatens summary punishment of strikers who fail to obey his order that they resume work to-day. An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen says the proclamation set out at 10 o'clock as the hour at which they must return to work, adding: "Employees failing to resume work will be tried by court-martial, which is authorized to impose sentence of death, execution to take place within twenty-four hours of the time the sentence is imposed."

Wilhelm Dittmann, of the Reichstag, who was arrested while addressing strikers, is accused not only of inciting to martial law, but of inciting to high treason, according to the Berlin press. The Local Anzeiger says he urged in his speech that the strike be maintained.

An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from The Hague says that a great number of Socialist leaders were arrested in Berlin at the same time that Dittmann was taken into custody.

Fire in Historic Dane Hall Destroys Priceless Records

Boston Feb. 4.—Cadets at the School for Ensigns, Harvard University proved their mettle yesterday afternoon under the eyes of A. Lawrence Lowell, president, by risking their lives in salvaging 200,000 rifle cartridges during a fire which destroyed the historic Dane Hall.

The fire started in the rear of the basement, several feet from the ammunition where two cartons of acid were stored.

The cause of the fire has not been determined, but is believed to have been caused by an overheated furnace or a cigarette.

The young men of the school, future officers of the United States Navy, made their way into the basement using handkerchiefs as gas masks as they groped through the smoke. Several fell half unconscious, as they staggered out, but each carried a box of potential death.

When the last of the ammunition was removed college records were saved. Several of the cadets were scorched, but there was no sign of fear nor any signs of holding back until the last box of explosives had been removed.

The material damage will mount into the thousands of dollars, but perhaps even more valuable were some of the documents that were burned. The most valued of these papers, however, were saved as well as the examination papers of the cadets' ensign school, most of these having been in the safe in the offices of Charles A. Mason, bursar of the university on the second floor.
