ADVERTISEMENT The Demand For Milk Is Still on the Increase

Milk as a universal food product, will never go into the discard. The demand is, and always will be large. There are many uses for milk; cooking, food for babies, drink, butter and many others that make it an absolute necessity. A little milk added to this or that article of food makes it palatable where otherwise a person would hardly relish it.

The milkman who conducts his own dairy farms has the advantage over other milkmen inasmuch as he has in his control, the supply as well as being able to keep the milk in a more sanitary condition. "Cleanliness is next to Godliness" is an adage that has appeared frequently and this surely applies to milk. It is an absolute necessity that milk be handled under the most sanitary conditions.

John S. Kramer, of the Willow Dale Dairy, has his own farm and the best stock obtainable. His milk and cream is rich in nutriment. Babies grow fat on this milk and it makes a good healthy drink for the grown-ups. Mr. Kramer delivers to all parts of the city. A large number of customers can readily testify that the grade of milk produced by the Willow Dale Dairy can hardly be beaten.

ADVERTISEMENT An Advertisement Can Not Say It All

When reading an advertisement, many people think that what the ad contains, says all there is to be said about the store and products that the merchant is advertising. This is impossible, for to do so would require many inches of space and would be tiring to the reader. The merchant usually says just a little in his ad to let the people know what he has to offer them.

Charles A. Banks in his advertisement offers fresh opened oysters and fresh fruits and vegetables. Yet he says nothing about the good quality of the products he handles for that is unnecessary. The fact remains, however, that the quality is No. 1. Fresh shipments every day are received and only the best grade of goods are purchased. This assures the buyer that the goods are strictly fresh and good quality. Mr. Banks is located at the corner of Fourth and Boyd streets.

ADVERTISEMENT Coal Keeps on Burning in Spite of Shortage

It's a funny thing how your coal pile will keep on getting smaller and smaller, these days isn't it? And the coal man says, "I won't be able to make deliveries for at least three or four days and maybe not then." The fellow that can laugh is the fellow who has Savir stove lids, for these little accessories to the standard kitchen range are great coal savers. They save all the gas that is usually used in an ordinary kitchen stove.

This lid is not unlike other stove lids, except that they are a little thicker and are mechanically adjusted to make a different kind of draft. It causes all the gases to be consumed; not about half. The burning of all the gases in the coal makes less ashes and less work. But the saving of the coal is the one big feature of these lids. They are not a new feature on the market, but have been tried out and proved to be all that is claimed for them.

George W. Conner, 720 Race Street, is the distributor for these lids in this territory. He makes practical demonstrations at your home and is glad to show anyone just what these lids will do. A phone call or a postcard will bring him and the rest is up to you. These lids are not expensive and they will earn their price in a short time by the coal they save.

ADVERTISEMENT Fresh Meats Are Big Flesh Builders

Strictly fresh meats are more of a nutriment to the healthy body than a good many people imagine. They help to put real flesh on the bones and make a person feel more healthy and full of life. Usually when a person does without meat for any length of time, it is noticeable. Vegetarians think they can eliminate meat entirely, but very few people have taken up that course of diet.

One thing a person should do is to be very careful about the freshness of the meat they buy and the sanitary condition under which it is sold. The government not so long ago passed a law compelling all butchers to screen the meat on counters of their shops for sale. Most butchers do this.

Lafferty Brothers, of Hummelstown, with a stall in the Chestnut street market, take a great deal of pride in the sanitary condition of the meat they handle. They sell only the best grades and connected with keeping it under the best possible conditions, they offer the public the best on the market. Their stall number in the Chestnut street market is No. 63. Besides fresh meats they sell all kinds of smoked meats. Their prices are consistent with the lowest on the market for the same grade of goods. Most people appreciate the fact that well kept, sanitary meats are the kind to buy and Lafferty Bros. fill the bill in this respect.

ADVERTISEMENT Russ Fish Market Uses Auto Delivery

The Russ Fish Market in Market Square do most of their delivering with an automobile. This enables them to make much quicker deliveries and give better satisfaction to their customers than slower methods used by a good many fish and sea food merchants.

Oysters and fish many times take the place of meats as a short order dish. Milady coming home from a shopping tour or from visiting and finds visitors whom she was not expecting is very much at a loss as to what to prepare for supper. This is where sea foods come in handy, inasmuch as there are many relishing dishes that can hastily be prepared from these products.

Again this is where the automobile comes in for it is necessary that a quick delivery be made. The merchant who handles the quality goods and first class service gets the business. The Russ Fish Market has both and the next time you are in a pinch just try out this fast delivery service.

ADVERTISEMENT Big Season Ahead For All Kinds of Autos

Nineteen eighteen promises to be a redletter year in the automobile industry. The regular auto show has come and gone, yet it has left its mark in the minds of the people showing them that the automobile is here to stay and then some. While there have been no radical changes in any of the eighteen models, most cars have added a few improvements.

"The little old Ford" is still holding its 'own on the center of the stage. Connected with its low "first cost," the cost of operating is a decided figure in many sales of this car. Every one is acquainted with the merits of the Ford. It is not "Ford" about these little cars, and an avenue of many accomplishments, from Maine to California and from Florida to Washington, these cars are daily grinding out records for insurance that are hard to equal in cars twice their size and cost.

Brook Weiler is the New Cumberland dealer for these cars. He is very enthusiastic about the outlook for the coming season and advises all who are contemplating purchasing one of them to put in their regular grocery trade, Mr. Bracony conducts a meat market. All the goods handled are bought clean and fresh, and sold clean. Refrigerators and show cases keep the goods in the best of condition while in the store. Taken all in all this store is one of Harrisburg's "up-to-the-minute" stores.

ADVERTISEMENT Groceries and Provisions Are Being Rushed Through

With embargoes on certain commodities and the extra severe winter weather trying up almost all railroad traffic on the lines east of the Mississippi river and north of the Ohio river, merchants are facing a shortage on the products they sell. Necessary groceries and provisions are being rushed through as fast as conditions permit.

The supply created by the mobilizing of our troops, of foodstuffs in enormous quantities, takes away a large amount that would otherwise be going into the home. The majority of grocers have a good supply of staple and fancy groceries on hand and with the small amounts coming in each week are able to keep up their stock to a certain standard.

H. J. Bracony of the Excellent Grocery at Sixth and Boas streets, in connection with his regular grocery trade, Mr. Bracony conducts a meat market. All the goods handled are bought clean and fresh, and sold clean. Refrigerators and show cases keep the goods in the best of condition while in the store. Taken all in all this store is one of Harrisburg's "up-to-the-minute" stores.

ADVERTISEMENT Many Sweaters Being Made For Soldiers

It is getting to be a very common thing when in stepping into the average home to see some female member of the family working with khaki-colored yarn, forming all kinds of good, warm things for our boys at home and abroad. The lady who cannot knit these things is behind the times, but there are many of them, for the simple reason that a great many people think knitting is extraordinarily hard. This is decidedly not so for even little girls seven years of age have learned to handle the needles the same as many a grown person.

George R. Nauss, of Steelton, who conducts an Art Needle Work shop, says of knitting: "It is one of the easiest arts to acquire that know of. And once learned a person never forgets it and would not give up their knowledge for a good bit. It is one of the most fascinating things a person can do. Especially at this time, when every one is making things for the Red Cross, does this knowledge come in handy. To make a sweater is as easy for the average lady as it is to cook a meal. And it is learned a lot quicker."

Mr. Nauss, in connection with selling all kinds of yarn and fancy work, teaches knitting of all kinds. There is no additional charge for this when a person buys their yarn at his store. For instance, if you are thinking of making a sweater and are not quite sure that you know how, buy your yarn from Mr. Nauss and he will gladly show you all the different stitches necessary to complete it. And any time during the course of making the sweater, if you get stuck, you can go to Mr. Nauss and he will show you just where you made your mistake and help you out.

His store is located at the corner of Front and Pine streets, Steelton. All cars stop in front of his door. All kinds of fancy needle work, handkerchiefs, etc., can be purchased there.

ADVERTISEMENT Milk Is Liquid Life; Drink More of It

Good fresh milk contains a great deal of nourishment and to drink plenty of it may mean an additional ten years to your life. Doctors recommend milk to people whose health is falling and many are those who have been successfully built up by simply drinking a glass of milk each day.

There are different kinds of milk, the same as there are different grades of bread, or different grades of meat. The best that is obtainable is none too good. When buying milk a person should always take into consideration where it comes from and the way it is handled before it finally reaches the home. Too much care and consideration in the handling of milk and cream is an unknown quantity, yet there are many milkmen who take a great deal of pride in their equipment and the cleanliness with which they distribute the milk.

The stock from which the milk comes has to be carefully tended and the barns well taken care of. Most up-to-date milkmen have concrete floors and modern sanitary methods to use in their dairy barns. Good healthy, well contented stock produce the best grades of milk and that is the kind that should be used by the sick person, as well as the well ones. Milk is the universal food for babies and for this reason good judgment in choosing your milkman is essential.

Ryder Bros. of Lemoyne have a sanitary creamery and take a great deal of pains in the handling of the milk and cream that passes through their establishments. They have all the modern and up-to-date equipment known to the dairy trade. The milk they sell comes only from the best Guernsey and Holstein stock and is carefully handled from the time it leaves the farm until it reaches your door.
