

SOUND POLICY FORMULATED BY REPUBLICANS

Progressivism and Sound Conservatism Are Keynotes of Convention

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 11.—Nothing better illustrates the drift in the Republican party, the trend toward a sane, workable compound of progressivism and wise conservatism, than the alternatives presented to the Republican National Committee in its choice of a chairman to succeed William R. Wilcox.

John E. Adams of Danbury, Ia., the present vice-chairman of the committee and the candidate of Western Progressives and Eastern Conservatives, is the most live and useful member of the Iowa State Council of National Defense, a consistent and powerful force for vigorous prosecution of the war and a supporter of President Wilson on all propositions looking toward a military victory over Germany.

Will H. Hays, of Indiana, chairman of the Indiana State Republican Committee and of the Indiana Council of National Defense, is backed by Western regulars and Eastern Progressives. Like Mr. Adams, he has demonstrated his faculty for uniting all elements of Republicanism and has given practical evidence of unusual organizing skill, both have in remarkable degree the genius of compromise, the humanizing touch that is essential to understanding and to the solution of the pressing political problems of to-day.

Coming from the Middle West, both men know the thought and the impulses of plain Americans and are equipped to interpret these thoughts and impulses in next fall's important campaign for the election of an emergency House of Representatives, of thirty-five United States Senators.

The chances still greatly favor the election of Mr. Adams, Governor W. L. Harding, of Iowa, is here in personal charge of the Adams headquarters and is making a mighty job of it. He is putting over with fine sincerity the argument that Mr. Adams is the ideal man to weld the radical and conservative elements in the party.

Senator Penrose arrived late last night. He will be formally welcomed by citizens of St. Louis, who are indignant at Senator Stone's attitude toward the war and particularly at his recent attempt to make political capital through an attack in the Senate upon Senator Penrose.

Pinchot Comes Out For O'Neil For Governor

Gifford Pinchot has come out for J. Denny O'Neil for governor, as be- lieved Senator Stone, is actively in the field as a gubernatorial candidate on the Republican side. Welmer lodges the liquor question by saying "never took a drink in his life," but gives no hint where he stands with relation to the amendment. Welmer has been a candidate before and nobody is much excited over him.

Financial Exposures Doom Bolo, Paris View

Paris, Feb. 11.—All Paris regards Bolo Pasha, now on trial before a court-martial on the charge of treason, as doomed to face a firing squad. The trial, which has been going on for several days, has brought to the realization of the prisoner, who has lost something of the air of bravado he wore at the opening of the trial.

The testimony that will condemn him will be that of M. Doyen, the financial expert, legal Paris thinks. Bolo was almost a pauper at the outset of the war and the prisoner's complete failure to account properly for his sudden wealth damn him.

Bolo was handling millions. There is a wealth of evidence to show that these millions came from German sources, and not a scintilla of support for Bolo's pretense that the money was gained in a speculation.

But there are those who look for a sensational end and feel that Bolo will make a coup d'etat involving Cailaux or some other important personage.

You Can Rub and Rub and Rub But Your Rheumatism Remains

Liniments by the gallon will never make a cure.

If Rheumatism could be cured by rubbing the painful parts with liniments and lotions, there would be no Rheumatism to-day. For enough liniment has been used by the average sufferer to float his body in.

DOG LICENSE LAW IS IN FULL FORCE

Thousands of Dogs Are Either Killed or Sent to Laboratories by the State

Thousands of dogs have been licensed and hundreds whose owners would not license them, which were found to be ownerless were either killed or penned up to be disposed of or sent to laboratories for experimental purposes by the army as the result of the first month's operation of the new Pennsylvania dog license code.

The primary object of the dog code was to get rid of ownerless curs and to protect sheep, raising of which has been revived until there are now over $100,000 in Pennsylvania. Dogs in the country must be penned up at night.

Thousands of licenses are being issued in the rural counties and in some sections where dogs have been a nuisance constables have shot them the law providing a fee for destruction of unlicensed canines. Lately appeals have been made for dogs to be sent to national laboratories and some of the unclaimed dogs may be asked by municipal authorities.

New Ruling—Dairy and Food Commissioner James Foult has issued a ruling of the State food administration whereby the sale is permitted in Pennsylvania of dried cod and other fish, including shredded fish, which has been treated with borax or benzoate of soda, where notice is given and the preservative can be easily removed.

To Protect Roads—Steps to bring to attention of the supervisors and truck and wagon owners the importance of using care in traversing roads while soft this year and of staying out of ruts were taken to-day by division engineers, county road superintendents and foremen of the State Highway Department.

The heavy snowfall is expected to make the roads very soft this year and to prevent damage the co-operation of everyone will be asked by the Highway Department men.

Salvation Army Is Praised by Governor

Work of the Salvation Army was formally commended to the people of Pennsylvania by Governor Brumbaugh in a proclamation given out at the Capitol to-day. The proclamation especially refers to the work done by the organization among soldiers.

Governor Brumbaugh says: "I have long since learned to believe in the great, good work of the Salvation Army and have given it my approval and support through the years. This mighty body of consecrated workers are like gleaners in the field of humanity. They seek and succor and save those that most need and least receive aid.

"This Army of God now proposes to carry its beneficent service to our boys at the front. Treadly many huts have been erected here and in France. More are needed. They work under national sanction and in close co-operation with the Y. M. C. A., Knights of Columbus and kindred official organizations. They do bravely and well a notable service and are most worthy of the confidence and assistance of our citizens.

RED CROSS HAS SPENT $22,000 FOR KNITTING WOOL

Small Charge to Be Made For Wool to Defray Expenses

An important change in policy of the knitting department of the local Red Cross has been announced by the officers of the organization. Hereafter a small charge will be made for wool for Red Cross knitting. The official statement made by Mrs. Lyman D. Gilbert, president of the chapter, follows:

"Since November 1 wool given out in free distribution has cost the Harrisburg chapter, American Red Cross, $22,000, therefore, it has been decided that a small charge will have to be made for wool for Red Cross knitting. Wool for sweater, 75 cents; wool for scarf, 50 cents; wool for wristlets, 25 cents; wool for socks, 50 cents. This represents less than one-half actual cost price paid for the wool. A small free wool fund will be maintained, and subscriptions to this fund are earnestly requested. Applications for free wool will be registered in a booklet, and filled as rapidly as the free wool fund permits.

Days for giving out wool and receiving knitted garments: "Thursday, February 14, the knitting department will be prepared to give out wool under these new rules: Monday, 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.; Tuesday, 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.; Wednesday, 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.; Thursday evening, 7 p. m. to 9; Friday evening, 7 p. m. to 9."

New Hospital Added to Draft Board List

The Mary M. Packer Hospital, Sunbury, has been added to the list of hospitals to be headquarters for medical advisory boards under the draft law and other hospitals in various parts of the state will be chosen during the coming week. Additional medical advisory boards will be named to expedite this work among the men within the selective service age.

Word has been received at the state draft headquarters that the call for special accountants made early this month has been closed. Pennsylvania's quota was sent to Fort Slocum, N. Y. The men were entered under the voluntary induction plan, the same system as was followed when the call came for bricklayers.

This week drafted men to make up shortages in twenty-four counties to Camp Lee will begin to move. The first trains are to start Monday and the movement will be finished on Wednesday. The largest number will be furnished by Allegheny county. The movement will be of men to finish up numbers under previously called quotas and to replace men rejected after reaching the camp.

Little Coal Arrives in City to Relieve Shortage

Three cars of anthracite coal came into Harrisburg over the Pennsylvania railroad yesterday. This was delivered to city dealers. The amount of anthracite coal that has come into Harrisburg during the last week has been practically negligible, and in case of very weather again, Ross A. Hickok, county fuel administrator, will find it necessary to supply Harrisburg households with the soft variety. Four cars of bituminous coal were supplied the dealers by Mr. Hickok yesterday.

Four cars of bituminous coal were sent to the Hershey Traction Company by Mr. Hickok yesterday. Mr. Hickok received a telegram from State Fuel Administrator Potter, saying that the traction company was entirely without coal.

No more coal was received for the Harrisburg Light and Power Company yesterday. The company was supplied last week with enough coal to worry along until sometime Wednesday.

Dr. John Royal Harris, superintendent of the Dry Federation of Pennsylvania, preached on "The State Dry Program." The Royal Welsh Party sang. In the afternoon, at 3:14, a crowd that filled the auditorium and Sunday school room heard the famous Royal Welsh Singing Party in a sacred concert. Risca Williams at this time told his great story on "The Sinking of the Lusitania," he being one of the survivors.
