VESTED, keeping boarders is a profitable business. It is quite as "respectable" and useful a business as running a hotel. It is a business which can be made to prosper through a very moderate expenditure for classified advertising. As in other lines of business, the prosperous boardinghouse must run to full capacity - its volume of business must match its equipment for taking care of that business. In assuring "volume of business" for any good boarding house, the classified ads
