How is it that Jones' clothes always have the appearance of being brand new? You may buy just as many clothes as Jones, pay as much for them, but do you give your clothes the same care Jones does?

Jones is a great believer in the "stitch in time" axiom

"A thorough dry cleaning by Finkelstein," says Jones, "removes all signs of wear and soil. That's why my clothes always look new! It's a good investment to spend money for dry cleaning. Cheaper in the long run by far than giving clothes hard wear without any days off for cleaning and repair."

"So long as appearances count, let's make the most of the advantage a good appearance gives us."

RAILROAD RUMBLER CUT OUT TESTS ON P. R. R. LINES

Old-Time Spike Shows Best Results After Eight Years in Experiments

With government control further tests of new inventions will be eliminated on the Pennsy, according to reports. It is said that in addition to being handicapped because of the special efforts to keep traffic in motion, tests at this time are rather expensive.

All the track room and motive power equipment is needed just now. New train stop devices, screws and the plates instead of spikes and other patents have been undergoing tests up to the time winter weather put a crimp in business.

An Eight-Year Test For eight years successive tests have been in progress at Brimingham, on the Middle division, and at Wooster, Ohio, of screw spikes and other patents. The latter are said to be economical, reliable and serviceable.

Engineers in Charge Experiments were conducted under the direction of a committee of engineers from the various lines of the system. The committee at its initial meeting, June 16, 1908, decided tests of various types of the plates also be made, as the screw spikes must necessarily be tested on curves and on softwood ties where the plates are used. All inventions along this line have been carried out.

The committee's report indicates that while other railway systems used the screw spikes satisfactorily, daily traffic over screw spikes ranged from 71,000 to 83,000 tons, while the point at Birmingham averaged 140,000 tons daily and that at Wooster, 153,000 tons daily, so that when other roads' traffic is increased to that of the Pennsylvania the same difficulties will likely be experienced.

Railroad Notes The next meeting of the Friendship and Co-operative Club will be held Thursday night, February 27.

Harrisburg Assembly No. 4, Mutual Beneficial Association for Pennsylvania Railroad Employees will meet to-night.

There are very few shop cars on the Reading to-day, the men having caught up pretty well in the repairs. They have been working six days a week and many of them on Sundays in order to get the cars back into service.

At the meeting of the board of management of the Reading P. & R. Co. M. M. C. A. has decided to send representatives to the state convention, which will be held in Harrisburg, February 21 to 23.

The reports of committees show that all departments are in a flourishing condition. The association now has a membership of 660 in good standing. There are 53 members in the various branches of the United States service.

Borough Water Is Pure, According to Statement

Members of the borough water board to-day issued a statement in order to offset an impression that the supply of filtered water is not what it should be under normal conditions.

The statement is as follows: "Laboratory tests show the quality of the water to be above the standard set by the Treasury Department of the United States which is the standard set for quality of water used by interstate carriers (trains and steamboats)."

This standard is the only standard having official sanction and force in use in the United States today and was set as explained today.

"This standard was the result of work done by the United States Marine Hospital chemist and bacteriologists in conjunction with civilians, chemists and bacteriologists of national reputation."
