Chelsea Auto Wrecking Expects Big Season

The Chelsea Auto Wrecking with a big wareroom at 1019 Market St., dealers in all kinds of automobile parts and accessories, are looking forward to one of the biggest seasons in auto parts in the history of their business.

They buy and sell all kinds of automobile parts, tires, bodies, batteries, etc. From a spark plug to the complete auto is to be found at this wareroom. In the past few years they have acquired a reputation for square dealing and for giving full value in every article bought or sold.

Mr. A. Schiffman is the proprietor and he has had a long experience in the automobile business. In buying an article he gives every cent it is worth and in selling, a square deal is an assured fact. If you have any parts that need replacing in your machine this spring, save some good solid cash by investigating the parts at this establishment.

Second hand tires that have been run different mileage are sold on a basis of less than fifty cents on the dollar. Some of these tires are practically new and the price (compared with new tire prices) are ridiculously low.

Feed and Grain Supply at Its Lowest Ebb

The supply of feed and grain for this time of year is about as low as it ever has been in the remembrance of the oldest feed dealers. There are a good many reasons for this, but chiefly that Uncle Sam is taking a large quantity for the army mules and horses. Another reason is the traffic conditions on the railroads.

Most dealers are sold way ahead of their supply. Some are even six weeks to two months behind on deliveries. O. S. Ebersole, the Penbrook merchant has a certain amount of stock on hand at the present time. Mr. Ebersole handles all kinds of flour, feed, grain and corn.

A specialty of Mr. Ebersole's is a 'Chicken' meat mash. This is a combination prepared by Mr. Ebersole. It is a great feed for chickens especially at this time of the year. It produces more eggs and makes fatter, healthier chickens.

Good Stock, Well Kept, Produces Pure Milk

There is a good bit to say in regard to the kind of stock that a dairyman has as the kind of milk he sells to his customers. Take the model dairy farm for instance and you will see usually well contented cows. They are well taken care of, fed regularly and they are sure to produce the best kind of milk.

Central Pennsylvania is one of the best dairy centers in the country. The milk produced is the best there is. The people of this city are to be congratulated that they are in a position to get rich milk and cream. Another thing is that the majority of milkmen are conscientious in respect to their dairy rooms.

The Cumberland Valley Dairy, of Lemoyne, is one of the model creameries of this section. All the modern appliances for the betterment of the milk is installed in this dairy. Clarence Gill, the proprietor, has a long experience in the milk and cream business and takes extra pains to produce milk and cream under the most sanitary conditions.

He maintains a delivery service and delivers milk to this city. He can be reached with the Dial phone.

Spring Outlook For Clothing Business

The outlook for the opening of the spring season for all kinds of clothing is not as bright as in past years, yet not so bad, but what it might be worse. In the past few months the wholesale prices for clothing has almost doubled and the retail price of necessity must follow to a certain extent.

The Government is taking a large supply of raw materials to manufacture clothing for the army. With so many men drawn away from the usual manufacturing centers, the output is not what it should be and therefore the old law of supply and demand is assuming its place and driving prices sky high.

However, there are some clothing merchants who have figured on just such conditions as are now existing and have a good supply of stock on hand, which they are selling at prices below the present market values. One of these is the Steelton Underselling Store on N. Front street Steelton. They are just at the close of a big mid-winter sale, yet they still have on hand big bargains in men's furnishings of all descriptions.

Cumberland Valley Boasts of Good Restaurants

In speaking of restaurants, if you happen to mention Mechanicsburg, to a Mechanicsburg man, he is almost sure to boast of the fine restaurants they have there. He is speaking of the C. V. Restaurant on N. Market street. He will tell you that this is some place to get a good old fashioned meal.

The C. V. Restaurant is just across from the station and caters to the extra particular people who appreciate good food well cooked. This restaurant is equipped with all appliances that are conducive of sanitary cleanliness. Everything is as clean as the kitchen at home. This is the majority of people who visit there. What makes a fellow feel better than to be sure that what he is eating is nice and clean.

Mr. E. E. Christman, the proprietor, gives personal attention to all the work connected with the restaurant. He has had considerable experience in this line and has a host of friends who stick to him and boost his restaurant on its merits.

Men's Clothing Prices as Low Now as They Will Be

The prices that all kinds of clothing are selling for at the present time are remarkable in the face of market values. Many clothing dealers are selling goods at prices that cannot be duplicated by them if they were to buy the goods from the manufacturer.

In going around to the different stores, the writer has been shown letters quoting wholesale prices that take your breath. If these prices hold, which they are sure to do, the coming season will see clothing prices steadily marching upward. Now is the time to buy whatever you may need for the next eight or ten months.

The Quality Shop at Steelton, has a large stock of all kinds of men's furnishings on hand for present selling with the usual spring sales. A large supply of winter goods are offered for prices that it will be impossible to duplicate next year. In offering goods at these prices they are merely selling for a minimal profit and when new goods come in it is natural that they will be much higher.

Underwear and shirts are selling at such a low figure that if a person is in need of any of these articles, now is the time to get them. Trousers, suits and overcoats are also in the same class. Better take advantage of the present low prices, for it may not last long.

Large Assortment of Cakes and Crackers on Display

During the past few weeks, William Clomps, who conducts a grocery store at 2109 Green street, has placed on display a large assortment of National and Sunshine cakes and crackers in the front of his store. The various kinds are very tastefully displayed, showing everything in the cake line in an inviting way to the prospective customer. They are all inclosed in glass front cans and are protected from dust and handling.

There have also been various changes in the display of all kinds of staple and fancy groceries, showing a large assortment of all kinds of good things to eat. Everything is neatly and handsily displayed, giving to the customer a chance to pick out most anything they desire.

The smoked meat department in the rear of the store is very tastefully arranged and all the meats are protected from dust and handling and yet are displayed so as to show to a good advantage. There is a full stock of all these supplies on hand. Fresh fruits and vegetables are also carried in stock, making this store in reality a daily market. Telephone and delivery service are maintained. The prices of goods can be matched with any in the city and will be found to equal many "cash-and-carry-plan" prices.

West Shore Bakery Still Increasing in Popularity

As each month rolls around bringing with it its ups and downs, it is becoming evident that the West Shore Bakery is gaining in popularity. From a small concern a few years ago, it has now grown to be one of the largest bakeries in Central Pennsylvania. Not so very long ago a new plant was built and every modern appliance known to the bakery trade was installed to facilitate the work and to produce a quality of bread that would maintain its reputation every day in the week.

A large part of the success of this firm is attributed to L. M. Bricker, the superintendent and general manager. Mr. Bricker has a large experience in the baking business and is an aggressive business man. In introducing to the people of Central Pennsylvania O. K. bread, he has given them a standard that is hard to beat.

Every one knows the good quality of O. K. bread and a big majority eat it with three meals a day. A large system of delivery is maintained whereby the same bread that is baked in the morning is around at the various stores and the homes in time for dinner.

Snow Causes Increase in Restaurant Business

In the last few weeks the restaurant business has rejoiced in a large increase, due to the heavy snows tying up the street car traffic. And a large number of people have found out what good quality food is turned out at the better restaurants of the city. With increased crowds, the service has still been maintained as here-to-fore, and everyone who has been forced to eat downtown has not found it so bad after all, but have really found it beneficial.

The Gans Restaurant, in South Fourth street, have had their hands full taking care of the crowds. They serve a first-class meal there and everyone comes back for more the next day and usually tells a friend about the good things to eat. Even with these big crowds, the least possible time is consumed in taking lunch so that you are back to the office in record time.

Firms Out of High Rent District Have Smaller Overhead Expenses

When figuring out the cost of doing business, rent, wages, usual running expenses and other incidentals are all added in. Those firms that are out of the high rent district of course have less rent to pay and naturally their running expenses are lower. They can sell their goods at a reduced rate from that of the merchant in the business center.

Elwood D. C. Ross, the New Cumberland electrician is one of those merchants who conducts his business out of the high rent district. He carries a complete line of all kinds of electrical supplies and does all kind of repair work.

One of Mr. Ross' specialties is wiring houses, both old and new. There are no jobs too complex that they can not be wired. Mr. Ross says, "you phone me and I'll wire you."

Among the supplies carried are all kinds of chandelier fixtures. Estimates are gladly given and when you are contemplating having electricity installed in your home, think about the being out of the high rent district and have Mr. Ross give you an estimate on your work. He is located at New Cumberland and can be reached by telephone.

Spring Work Soon to Start in the Monument Business

With the opening up of spring, which is not a long way off, the usual activities in all kinds of monumental work will begin. B. F. Knapp of Penbrook, is looking forward to a big year in this line.

Mr. Knapp conducts one of the largest establishments of its kind in Central Pennsylvania. He has a complete equipment to do all work, both local and at any distance. Only the best grades of marble and granite stone are used and every piece of work is guaranteed.

In the past few years Mr. Knapp has placed many monuments and markers in the various cemeteries that stand as silent sentinels of the quality of work put out by him. Among them are the monuments on the family plots of the Filling and Rubin Packer Estates, both of which are of the celebrated Barre Granite.

There is at the present time a large number of contracts to be placed for markers and monuments of all kinds and Mr. Knapp announces that he has a supply of all kinds of material to meet this demand. All estimates are carefully given. Mr. Knapp can be reached by telephone or at his shop just north of Main street in Twenty-eighth street, Penbrook.

Scarcity of Food Products Caused by Railroad Traffic

A certain amount of the scarcity of certain food products that has been keenly felt by the grocers of this city since cold weather set in, is caused by the delay in deliveries by the railroads. With the thaw, that has so kindly set in, loosening up the traffic so that it will get back to normal, every kind of food supply will become more plentiful.

In the past few weeks a grocerman didn't know whether he was going to get sugar on a certain day or not. The wholesale house would take his order but would not guarantee delivery. This will no doubt be lessened in the next few weeks. Meyer Marcus has good sized stock of all kinds of staple and fancy groceries on hand at the present time. Mr. Marcus handles the best brands of canned goods and a full line of all food supplies. He also handles fresh and smoked meats. He maintains telephone and delivery service and supplies a large trade in the uptown section. His store is located at 2059 North Seventh street.
