the boys' youth, has been extremely lenient with the boys, but vesterday he decided to get to the bottom of the matter, and found that the boys had formed a well-organized gang. Police several weeks ago unearthed a den of the would-be robbers under the Nineteenth street bridge. The capture to-day of the boy who styled himself as "King Rambo," robs the gang of its leader.

"King Rambo" is a colored youth, whose reading of various Wild West, induced him to try the melodrama stuff. His gang is believed to be the same which has for many weeks been pilfering small articles from the newstands, drugstores and restaurant at the railroad stations. When police raided the cave several weeks ago, they found a large collection of miscellaneous articles which came from many downtown stores.

"Whereas, The Hon. J. Denny O'Neil, of McKeesport, has announced himself as a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor of this great state; and

"Whereas, Mr. O'Neil is a man of lection of miscellaneous articles which came from many downtown stores.

When "His Imperial Majesty" came into a certain store yesterday and attempted to abscond with some small articles, he was caught with the goods. He was turned over to his father, who guaranteed, "At boy won't be able to sit down for a month. He'll get his hide tanned so much 'at he'll eath his mehls off the mantel for weeks."

Some idea of the extent of operations carried on by shoplifters can be gained from the statement of the store manager, who told a Telegraph reporter that goods and small articles to the amount of $1,700 had been stolen from his store last year.

"King Rambo's" name was painted in black letters on the wall along the River Front, behind the city pumping station, Front and North streets. Other prominent places in half a dozen points of the city bore the name, and no significance was attached to the affair at first, but close investigation has at last disclosed the meaning of the mysterious name.

Just what will become of "King Rambo's" kingdom and his Robin Hood followers, is not known, but it is ventured that the boys will find the life of an outlaw, a bit too exciting, and that they will find more pleasure in home comforts and delights hereafter.
