MASS MEETING FOR SHOPMEN

Organizers Will Outline Plans For Local Organizations Tomorrow Night

Organizers who have been active at Altoona, Bellewood, Chambersburg and other points on the Pennsy system will visit Harrisburg to-morrow night in the interest of local shopmen. A big mass meeting is scheduled for White's Hall, Verbeke and James streets, starting at 8 o'clock, Local labor leaders will assist in organizing the shopmen.

Since the United States governsist in organizing the shopmen.

Since the United States government has assumed control of the railroads, it has been shown that shopmen are the only body of men not thoroughly organized, and it is said, that in order that their claims may be properly presented and taken care of in the distribution of increased wages, shop forces will be organized all over the United States.

To Operate Trains on N. Y. Line by Telephone

The Reading Railway Company is installing the telephone system on the New York division for the purpose of handling the movement of trains instead of by telegraph. This system was adopted on the Atlantic City division some time ago and is giving the best of satisfaction. Other divisions on the Reading are to be equipped later.

The telegraph department of the Reading Railway Company is running the telephone of the New York division for the purpose of supplying current in the operation of the Hall automatic signals. When this system is completed all electric batteries will be dispensed with.

Reading officials report that 2,300 cars of atnhracite coal were sent from the St. Clair yard during the past twenty-four hours. The freight and coal trade, too, was very heavy. On the Reading and Harrisburg divisions nearly 17,000 car's were hauled on Sunday. General Superintendent W. H. Keffer, who spent several days at Rutherford with a view of systematizing the movement of traffic, returned to Reading much pleased with the good work.

The sudden drop in the temperature late Sunday afternoon and evening caused the trains to pull reains were delayed.
