

Flour Reports Coming in Rapidly in Cumberland

Carlisle, Pa., March 15.—Administration H. H. Mentzer reports that the flour reports from Cumberland county are coming in at the rate of upwards of a thousand daily. From what he has been told by those making report in person, he feels that there is a wrong impression in some quarters in reference to the meaning of the demand for reports. It should be thoroughly understood by every one that it is not the intention nor desire to work any hardship upon any one, nor to make any one any trouble. Every one is expected to make report, no matter how little or how much flour they have on hand. The reports are entirely confidential, and the idea in securing them is to be informed as to the whereabouts of the surplus.

FROST COMES OUT EARLY THIS YEAR

Not So Deep as in Former Years It Has Helped Along Highway Work

The winter's heavy snowfall may be the means of preventing a considerable amount of trouble on the highways of Pennsylvania this spring. The weather conditions do not undergo a rapid change and a cold snap come along, according to officials of the State Highway Department, who have been analyzing reports which have come to the Capitol from men in charge of roads. It has been discovered that the average snowfall in this state during the winter was larger than usual, but it came early and covered the ground well. As a result the severely cold weather did not cause the frost to penetrate as deep as ordinarily. As a matter of fact, say the officials, the frost does not seem to have gone much over three feet this winter. The previous winter it was over four feet in places and was so much deeper than this year, because of lack of snow. The speeds of mild winter have been general over the state in the last three or four weeks and the frost has come out in a manner satisfactory to the road repairers, if not to the public. The road man says that highways will be in good condition rather earlier than usual this year as a result of the weather, which has been open enough to permit much outdoor work in March.

Officers to Meet—Arrangements for a conference of the officers of the machine gun detachments of the Reserve Militia will be made by Adjutant General Beary later in the month. This conference will be one of a series to get things moving along the army standards in the militia. The field officers of the organizations having been here a short time ago. Later on conference officers of departments will be held. The plans are being worked out for active training of the men in the various units. A school for officers will be instituted.

Not to Send Police—It is not probable that assignments of any number of State Policemen will be made for industrial localities on a permanent basis, although numerous requests for such details have been coming here. The State Police are to be held for the purpose for which they were created and establishments which ask for permanent details of officers will be invited to take advantage of the state laws providing for special officers to be paid by the industrial concerns or the volunteer police law, which provides for special policemen for the war's duration.

Hargest in Luck—Deputy Attorney General W. Hargest, who attended the State dinner in Philadelphia last night, missed catching the ill-fated Cincinnati Express on the Pennsylvania by only a few minutes. He took a later train and came home by way of Columbia.

Officials Speak—State Zoologist Sanders addressed the State Beekeepers' Association at Lancaster to-day and Dairy and Food Commissioner Foust spoke to the pure food men in Philadelphia.

POST OFFICE WARNS OF POOR WRAPPING MATERIALS So much mail has been lost on account of the flimsy wrapping materials that the Post Office Department has issued a set of rules for persons who mail parcels. Parcel post is used in camps. Parcels often reach France so used up that they must be replaced. So huge has the bulk of undelivered mail waxed that the government has had to establish a card index to help straighten out the tangle.

It begins with one should give the title of the person written to. If there has one even Private. The name should then be set down in full for there are a thousand Jones and Smiths, many of the same initials. Then the writer should take pains to give the full name of the military unit to which the person belongs, not neglecting to put on your own return address. Do not use a lead pencil because the Post Office Department, and use heavy paper which will hold through the long journey. Canvassers or cloth are preferable, the address then being put on tag.
