COUNTY RETURNS | WILSON CALLS SHOW MANY ARE FOR PROHIBITION

Popular Constitutional Amendment

From advance reports it is believed y officers of the Dry Ratification ommittee of Dauphin County that here will be excellent results from there will be excellent results from the canvass to enroll voters for pro-hibition. Up to the present the work has been done outside of Harrisburg, the district committees being located in Lykens, Wiconisco, Halifax, Mil-lersburg, Steelton, Hummelstown, Middletown and Williamstown, with subcommittees in the varous churches and all under the supervision of the Rev. Mr. Krenz, of Dillsburg, who represents the Anti-Saloon League. which Dr. E. V. Claypool is super

The returns of the last two days The returns of the last two days' enrollment are expected to be at the adquarters to-day and from these an even more accurate estimate can be made of the anti-booze forces in this county. The canvass in Harrisburg will probably start next week and every voter will receive a pledge eard on which he may promise to carroll and vote in some party. Particular attention will be given to getting out the church vote and the plans now are to start the city campaigm with a general conference of epresentatives from every church in Harrisburg.

Diphtheria

A sore throat is a good breeding place for Diphtheria germs. Protect your children by never neglecting a Sore Throat. You can wisely depend upon TONSI-LINE. Give Tousdine upon the first appearance of Sore Throat—don't give Diphtheria a chance in that throat in its weakened condition. When TONSI-LINE is swallowed it comes directly in contact with the diseased surface and induces a healthy condition of the membranes—then the system can better defend the throat if attacked by Diphtheria germs. Keep TONSILINE in the house always. 35c., 60c. and $1.00.

"Drys" Enroll in Fight For Democrats Want Him to Mix Patriotism With Politics

in Campaign

Washington, March 21.—President Wilson made two moves yesterday which may be regarded as indicating the active part he will take in the political campaign of the coming summer and fall. This does not mean that the President will leave for any length of time the heavy duties that keep him at the White House, nor that he will give anything but first consideration to the position accorded him in Europe as international spokesman for the Allies in all their dealings or debates with Germany.

But the President is eager that a Democratic House of Representatives shall be elected next fall. He is said to fear that Germany might misconstruct the election of a Republican House as a repudiation of America's centry or policy in the war. This view has been urged upon the President hy Democratic leaders in both the House and Senate and they have frankly told him that his personal aid is needed to bring about the victuries at the polls the Democrats desire next November.

The President realizes that many of the Republican members of the House have been among his staunchest supporters in all matters pertaining to the war. His sense of fairness is such that on a question of leyalty he probably recognizes that many Republican Congressmen will have an equal if not better claim to the particite voters' consideration than some of the Democrats Hest But whenever the fight resolves itself into an issue between a loyal Republican and a loyal Democratite house.

"The old party slogans have lost their significance," he says, "and will mean nothing to the voters of the future, for the war is certain to change the mind of Europe as well as the mind of America."

The Russian revolution and the social unrest apparent in virtually all of the world have not been without their effect upon the President. He already has expressed his warm sympathies with the struggling masses seeking to throw off the yoke of autocracy, so it is not surprising to find in his letter to the New Jersey Democrats the admonition that:

"Every sign of these terrible days of war and revolutionary change, when economic and social forces are being released upon the world whose effect no political seer dare venture to conjecture, bids us search our hearts through and through and make them ready for the birth of a new day, a day we hope and believe of greater opportunity and greater prosperity for the average mass of struggling men and women and of greater safety and opportunity for children."

New Ministry May Grow From Meeting of War Bureau Heads

washington, March 21.—Co-ordination, the greatly overworked slogan of official Washington, was employed by the President yesterday in a demand for more teamwork by war bureaus, whose activities dovetail in many respect.

The President did not say that he believed a spirit of full co-operation does not exist, but he expressed the view that by conference and joint doministrators of important questions the combined machinery would move one smoothly.

At a two-hour conference at the White House the President outlined to a group of five of the leading administrators of special war bureaus is his plans for a general speeding up of war plans, chiefly those affecting the industrial and economic fabric of the nation.

Aside from consideration of the important questions involved in the conference it was expected that a new war cabinet would develop composed of Bernard M. Baruch, chairman of the War Industries Board; Vance C. McCornick, chairman of the war Industries Board; Vance C. McCornick, chairman of the war Industries Board; Vance C. McCornick, chairman of the war Industries Board; Vance C. McCornick, chairman of the war Industries goard.

new war cabinet would develop composed of Bernard M. Baruch, chairman of the War Industries Board; Vance C. McCormick, chairman of the War Trade Board; William G. McAdoo, director general of railroads; Edward N. Hurley, chairman of the Shipping Board; Dr. Harry A. Garfield, the federal fuel administrator, and Herbert C. Hoover, the federal food administrator.

Although none of the officials who attended the conference would attempt to speak for the President in his views on the establishment of such conferences for the period of the war, the fact that he requested them to return for a similar meeting next Wednesday was taken to indicate his inclination toward regular conferences.

The President was brought into immediate touch with the problems of the five departments represented. He was understood to have inquired into the most pressing problems of each, and by a general discussion

General March Wears New Service Chevron

Washington, March 21.—Major General March, acting chief of staff, appeared at his office yesterday with a small single chevron on the sleeve of his uniform blouse, the first appearance in Washington of this newly adopted mark of actual service at the front.

The single V-shaped mark on the lower sleeve indicates six months' actual service at the front, and officers and men are entitled to wear the decoration and additional chevrons for subsequent periods of front line service. ine service.

Andrew Travor, of Marysville, was fined $100 yesterday after he was convicted in police court on a serious charge. C. H. Frichey, arrested with him, forfeited $25 when he falled to appear for a hearing. Other fines imposed yesterday made the total $292. Stella Collier, caught in a raid at 807 East street, was fined $100 for running a disorderly bouse. Peter Zaro, an inmate, was fined $50, and fines were imposed on other inmates.

State Board Calls Attention to the Dangers of Service Being Affected

The State Board of Education has The State Board of Education has adopted resolutions asking Pennsylvania representatives in both Houses of Congress to urge the federal government to make special appropriations so that the teaching forces of the state schools can be kept intact during the war. The resolutions call attention to the demands of industries and express fears that the standards of to-day cannot be maintained without aid.

standard of school efficiency cannot be maintained."

The State Board of Education today set aside $100,000 out of the balance remaining from the $1,000,000 appropriation of 1915 for establishment of continuation schools, vocational education and other educational propositions for "emergency courses" of the greatest benefit to the government. A committee to decide upon the courses was named and will begin work at once. Of the apportionment, $15,000 was set aside for Philadelphia, $10,000 for Pittsburgh and the balance for other cities. The sum of $300,000 was set aside to aid high schools.

The board reaffirmed its position of April 17, 1917, that owing to need of help on farms and in gardens, pupils so engaged could be exempted from attendance at school under the compulsory education law for time actually so engaged.
