

NEWS AND NOTES OF THE BOY SCOUTS

To be Guests Tonight at an Illustrated Lecture

The territory allotted to Troop 15 for the gathering of books for the American Soldiers and Sailors was fully covered by the troop last Saturday and a goodly number of books and magazines were gathered and bundled ready to be sent to the camps.

The members of Troop 20 have kindly invited the members of Troop 15 to an illustrated lecture at their headquarters in the Fifth Street Methodist Church this evening and the fifteen will turn out in uniform and march in a body to the rooms of Troop 20.

Scouting Notes

By J. H. STINE

Congratulations to the scouts of Harrisburg on the work done in collecting "Books for Soldiers." The results are intensely pleasing. On the whole the work was well organized and smoothly executed.

Troop Thirteen Has a Busy Week of Activities

About twenty boys of Troop 13 met on Saturday morning, March 16th, at the Boy Scout Memorial and there went from house to house collecting books and magazines for the soldiers and sailors, who are now in the United States Army and Navy.

Books For Soldiers

Letters from soldiers in the camps and trenches appeal to reading matter. Magazines, books and newspapers are needed by the fighting men in the spare moments, these men want to know what is being done at home, in the field of science and of religion.

Troop 21 Takes Part in Church Program

Troop 21 has been taking a hand in church affairs. Last Sunday evening the troop had charge of the Epworth League. It was a very good meeting. The scoutmaster outlined the scout plan to the people.

War Saving Stamps Are to be Sold in Fine Style

The members of Troop Six, are taking to the W. S. Campaign in true scout style. Twenty scouts have pledged themselves to win achievement buttons and many are going to try to win the ace medal offered by the government.

The Honor Roll

Scouts on the Honor Roll at Scout Headquarters for the week are: Frank Fishman, G. Rifkin, Edward Fishman, Hyman Levin, S. Isaacman, Israel Kerson, A. Lipman, Ben Levi, I. Furman, M. Marcus.

Eleven Hundred Books Are Collected by Troop Seven

Of the 1,100 books gathered by Troop 7, for the sailors and soldiers only twenty were of no practical use. Some very good books are in the collection. Kermit Smith and George Sellers were the real workers of the troop, as 600 were credited to their account with other magazines.

Sea Scouts

Have you fellows read of the new organization at National Headquarters to promote sea scouting? Can't go into it here, but it's great stuff, and why not have a troop of sea scouts in Harrisburg?

TO RAISE POLIURY

Every scout was present at the meeting Monday evening. We gathered nearly 500 books for soldiers. Every scout of Troop 12 gave at least five good turns. Some of the scouts are going to raise poliury.

The campaign for books closes tomorrow evening. Let your patriotism show. If your old books are treasured possessions (for books are one's best friends), go out to the nearest bookstore, buy some books and call Boy Scout Headquarters, 9431. A scout in khaki will call for your contribution.
