

BEIDLEMAN IS MUCH DISCUSSED

Newspapers Generally Regard His Announcement as the Start of a Fight

Philadelphia and Pittsburgh newspapers generally regard the entrance of Senator Edward E. Beidleman into the contest for the Republican nomination for Lieutenant Governor as the start of a strenuous fight between the Dauphin Senator and Congressman John R. K. Scott. Scott is admitted to be strong among men aligned with the retiring state administration and with the Vero people, but Beidleman has a big lot of friends among laboring men and the up-state feeling against too many candidates from Philadelphia will help him. He is strong in Allegheny and the north-west.

The Philadelphia Ledger says that as a result of the Beidleman announcement, "the factional lines were tightly drawn" and that a fight between Penrose and Vero forces is certain. The North American says that Beidleman's announcement is to be taken as opposition to Scott and that the outcome of conferences held in Philadelphia Sunday and participated in by county leaders from all sections of the state.

The Democratic Philadelphia Record says: "In Senator Beidleman's announcement, it is believed to have put forward the strongest candidate that they could have selected. He is strong with organized labor and is said to have been urged recently to enter the gubernatorial race on a liberal platform. Once before Senator Beidleman had been imported to enter the race for Lieutenant Governor, but after a number of county leaders had pledged themselves to support him it was decided that he was needed in the State Senate, where he has long been a potential figure."

While Governor Brumbaugh and other administration men refused to discuss the Beidleman candidacy, the announcement brought forth a statement from Senator Vero, who is backing Scott. He said: "The uniform primary law gives every man the right to be a candidate for office in this commonwealth. Philadelphia county, with its more than 300,000 voters, is very modest in the request that its candidate for Lieutenant Governor, John R. K. Scott, be considered at this time. He stood for all the progressive legislation in Harrisburg while a member of the Legislature and will make a splendid and efficient officer of the state. He is well and favorably known, having gone from one end of the State to the other two years ago and having defeated the Penrose outfit."

DR. KARL MUCK SPENDS NIGHT IN POLICE STATION

Leader of Boston Symphony Orchestra Arrested at His Home

Boston, March 26.—After a night in the Back Bay police station, Dr. Karl Muck, conductor of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, was taken today before United States District Attorney Thomas J. Boynton and other federal officials to be questioned regarding his alleged pro-German activities.

Dr. Muck was arrested at his home last night by agents of the Department of Justice as an enemy alien, but no statement was forthcoming as to the specific grounds for this action. It was reported, however, that Dr. Muck's secretary a few days ago applied at the office of the clerk of the United States district court for blank applications for passports for Dr. and Mrs. Muck. Dr. Muck, although claiming to be a Swiss citizen, was born in Bavaria in 1859 and, according to a statement by Assistant United States District Attorney Judd Dewey, this made it possible to hold him as an enemy under the President's proclamation.

'DANGEROUS GIRL' A TIMELY PLAY

Story of Capturing a German Spy Presented at the Orpheum Theater

"A Dangerous Girl," a play with a touch of romance, comedy and mystery, presented for the first time in the Orpheum theater yesterday. The play is booked for to-day and matinee at the Locust street playhouse.

The story is well written and has a rather weak comedy plot. It is a story of a girl who is being dragged down the path of ruin and decides to desert. It is at this part of the story that "Richard Walton," the German spy, is caught in a trap and sentenced to arrest. Both "Marion Kingston" and "Peggy" marry the men they love; the usual happy ending.

'THE SON OF DEMOCRACY'

Shows Mother Influence on Lincoln

crowds filled the Victoria Theater yesterday to view the first showings of "The Son of Democracy," a picture produced by Thomas H. Ince, "Bad Bill" appears at the best of his remarkable ability. It is a picture throbbing with interest and filled with situations abundant with novelty. The picture is accompanied by the finest productions exhibited here.

To-day and to-morrow the offering at the Orpheum theater is entirely new to this city, "A Dangerous Girl," written by Allen Leiber and produced by Edward W. Howland, has sprung into popular prominence. It is said to be one of the most successful dramatic sensations of the past two seasons. It is said to be full of excitement, intrigue and mystery, and contains all the elements that go to make a powerful comedy drama. It follows the startling adventures of a pretty, vivacious Peggy, a clever little red-headed girl, who is placed in some startling and hair-raising situations, through her pluck and good judgment, she always wins out and in the last act is able to thwart the villain and turn him over to the authorities as a German spy. There are matinees daily.

'THE PRINCE AND THE PAUPERS'

Return Engagement at the Regent Theater

Dear old "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," accompanied by Miss Hazy, the funeral parlor, the "Cabbage Patch" is back at the Orpheum on Monday with daily matinees. As nearly everyone knows, the play was dramatized by Mrs. Anne Crawford Flexner from the stories "Mrs. Wiggs" and "Lovely Mary," written by Mrs. Alice Hegan Rice, and they are both founded upon absolute fact, for the old "Cabbage Patch" really does exist on the outskirts of Louisville, Ky.

To-day the Regent Theater presents for the last time "The Russian Revolution" in its final showing. It is a picture taken under the auspices of the Provisional Russian Government and brought to America by the Skobleff Committee for the Relief of the Russian Wounded and Prisoners of War. None can help realizing their significance in the history of the world when they see the mighty power of the human feeling they portray. A great nation—sundered the chains, the shackles, the oppression and tyranny—become suddenly a free people. We see actual trench fighting, airplane encounters, a truce declared between the Turks and Russians, and other events unusual to say the least.

Makeshift delivery equipment is passing

Up-to-date storekeepers demanding truck principles in their delivery cars

Delivery has ceased to be a hit or miss accessory to a merchant's business. Today it is a vital part of his business. Your thoughtful merchant is just as anxious to keep his delivery promises as he is to sell goods that won't be thrown back on him. He must have a delivery car built solidly enough to take care of the ordinary demands and to take care of the extra demands. A delivery car with motor designed to haul a load of merchandise at a steady, dependable speed; geared to run for miles in "low" through city traffic without racking itself to pieces or overheating; body and frame put together so that the hardest roads will not loosen bolts, nuts and joints; rears capable of supporting capacity loads. In short the Vim Delivery Car. The Vim is built for work and work only—without a pleasure car part or a makeshift attachment. The chassis sells for $845. Complete with Open Express body, $915; with Closed Panel body, $955. Twelve standard types of body. All prices F. O. B. Philadelphia. Special Deferred Payment Plan enables you to pay for the Vim gradually out of its savings. 815 Sales and Service Stations in the United States. ANDREW REDMOND, Distributor. THIRD AND RILEY STREETS. promise never to fight again. Willingly he gave it, and when he became President, when men were clamoring for war, this promise, "I will never fight again," came to him. It is an absorbing story, a situation full of pathos, and Benjamin Chapin has handled in his masterful style this moment of moments when President Lincoln, forced by circumstance to break his promise, reads his declaration of war.
