

ADDRESSES IN CASUALTY LIST MENACE TO U. S.

Publication of Full Information Was Protested by the French Government

Washington, March 26.—An official statement of the War Department's reasons for announcing only the names of American troops killed or wounded in France, was submitted to the Senate today by Major General March, acting chief of staff.

General March said the old system of giving addresses and other details gave information to the enemy and brought swarms of claim agents to harass the relatives of the men.

The policy of the War Department, General March told the Senate, is to put in the hands of the nearest relative or the last friend given by the soldier in his emergency address, prompt and accurate information concerning the casualties before anything is given to the press and to prevent any information appearing in the papers which will be of any possible assistance to the German cause.

"The old system," General March added, "which gave the date of the casualty or the publication of the emergency address brought down upon the relatives a swarm of claim agents who guaranteed they would get from the government the war risk insurance which representatives by law to the proper inheritor.

"In spite of the fact that the department has in each case advised the nearest relatives that the government will be adjusted by the government and that they will be furnished the money that is due them without the intervention of claim agents, the interposition of these agents has yielded to the importunities of these agents and they have thereby deprived of a portion of what is justly their due.

"Information Chief Desire

"The raids which are being conducted along our front are for the purpose of enabling the Germans, if possible, with the object of obtaining from him information about the organization which is opposed to the German lines at this point. With the publication of the address of the nearest relatives the German agent in the United States approaches the casualty or the last friend given by the soldier in his emergency address, and attempts to obtain from our front by attacks on our forces.

"It is at this point, according to an official communication from the Red Cross, that relatives of men killed in France are made victims of the most abominable and unscrupulous exploitation by cheap notoriety seekers.

"The whole matter of a change in our former method in publishing casualty lists was brought up by a cablegram from General Pershing in which he stated that representatives of the French government had formally protested against the methods that were then used."

LIEUT. SWARTZ TRANSFERRED

Second Lieutenant Joshua Swartz has been assigned from the infantry reserve corps to the 112th Infantry, a dispatch from Camp Hancock advises. Lieutenant Swartz is the son of J. W. Swartz, 1511 North Second street. He has been connected with various branches of the Army and was in the intelligence department at this point. He is known and has many friends in Harrisburg.

RAILROAD RUMBLES RUSSIAN TYPE VOISY ENGINES

Can Hear Them Coming Long Before They Are in Sight

Along the Reading system the big Russian engines are causing much talk. One thing said is that the locomotives built by the United States Government for Russia, thirty or more of which are now hauling freight trains on the Lebanon Valley and East Penn branches of the Reading railway, are the noisiest in use.

Railroad men say that there is no slight danger of their striking anything on grade crossings because they can be heard a mile away. One employee jokingly remarked that the Russians wanted just such locomotives to frighten the Boches.
