Fortune in Boat of His Boyhood Fancy

New Bedford, Mass.—Three score years ago a small boy in this city watched the whaler Charles W. Morgan leave port and sail beyond the misty horizon. In boyish fancy he saw himself bringing the ship back to port, filled with valuable cargo. Now the dream has come true. Captain Benjamin S. Cleveland, 70 years old, has just returned to New Bedford in the dream ship of his boyhood with a cargo of $30,000.

As Cleveland grew to manhood he took to the sea, but not in the Charles W. Morgan. He spent his life on the water, and returned to land a few years ago, with Just enough of a fortune to keep him the rest of his days. Then, a little more than a year ago he saw the dream ship of his youth tied up at Fairhaven and coomed to the scrap heap.

The ship was seventy-live years old, but Captain Cleveland knew the men who had built it. He knew where the sturdy woodsmen had cut the oak and locust trees out of which the ship was fashioned. Visions of his boyhood dream haunted him until he imally bought the old bark, hired a crew of thirty men and sailed, in September, 1916. His goal was Desolation Island, 2,500 miles south of Cape Town. South Africa the llar of the sea elephant, On the shelving expedition each year, but return in the mating season. The bulls fight for the females and never quit until one is killed, flundreds come ashore and lie on the beach. It is then that the hunters reap their harvest.

Bullets Bounce From Bodies

Bullets Bounce From Bodies Bullets Bounce From Bodies
The bodies of the sea elephants are invulnerable, except in one soft spot above the eyes. If a bullet strikes them in another part of the body it bounces off as it would from plate steel. With rifles and spears the hunters kill their game, sometimes even clubbing the smaller ones. The sea elephants are like seals and the only ones that will fight are the bulls, which battle fiercely.

fight are the bulls, which battle flercely.

After the oil had been rendered on ship board and the boat was filled with the precious fluid, Captain Cieveland turned the prow of his boat toward America. He took a secret route, so as to avoid German raiders, although he barely missed a mine while making for the West Indies. Not long ago the 15,000-mile trip was finished, with the 70-year-old skipper on the deck of his seventy-six-year-old dream ship. In the hold was the fortune that his boyhood fancy had seen.

Permanence of Motor Industry Unquestioned

By ALVAN McCAULEY

By ALVAN McCAULEY
President Packard Motor Car Co.
The automobile business is so essentially a part of the American lire and business that its permanence cannot be questioned. It has seen years of tremendous prosperity and it will see them again. That novelity, joy-riding period of the business has largely passed. Automobiles are chosen and purchased now because they represent the most expeditious, time-saving, get-there-direct method of transportation.

It is beyond denial that the transportation facilities of the country—both railroads and street cars—are totally inadequate to handle the burden of traffic. If automobiles were withdrawn from use in America business would be paralized throughout the land.

It's a Passenger Car
I make a plea for the recognition of the automobile as a passenger car, not as a pleasure vehicle. If, incidentally, it is the means of a healthful outing for the tired businessman and his family of evenings and on Sundays, surely that cannot be charged against it. Six days of the week it is utilitarian, time-saving, enabling everyone, from farmers to captains of industry, to expedite their business affairs, to make their time count for more and to increase the commerce and industry of the nation.

No industry in the United States
