

"WAR TO LAST," LABOR MESSAGE TO OUR ALLIES

American Delegation Going to Europe With Pledge of Loyalty From U. S.

New York, March 29.—To make known to British and French labor the position of labor in the United States with regard to the war, a delegation of nine American labor leaders with credentials from the American Federation of Labor, will go to England and France.

This was announced last night by the American Alliance for Labor and Democracy of which Samuel Gompers is president.

The American labor mission, according to a spokesman for the alliance, will tell British and French labor leaders that organized labor in the United States is committed to the prosecution of the war to a successful conclusion and will not confer with any representatives of an enemy country.

The delegation, officially known as the "American Federation of Labor Mission," is composed of the following:

James Wilson, Patternmakers' Union of North America, chairman; John F. Frey, International Brotherhood of United America, secretary; William Short, Washington Federation of Labor; Miss Melinda Scott, Straw Hat Trimmers and Operators' Union; Miss Azneq Nestor, Glove Workers' International Union; William H. Johnson, International Association of Machinists; James Berry, International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' Union; Chester M. Wright, International Typographical Union; Martin P. Ryan, Brotherhood of Railway Carmen.

"Our mission abroad," said one of the members of the mission yesterday, "is not to tell labor of Great Britain and France what to do, but to tell them how American labor stands with regard to the war. We will tell them that organized labor in America stands committed for its progress to a successful and satisfactory conclusion. We will also tell them that we will not confer with any representative of an enemy country. We do not represent any pacifists or pacifist organization. We will so official representatives of a loyal body of Americans represented through the American Federation of Labor."

LAST COLLECTION OF PAPER Camp Hill, Pa., March 29.—

The last collection of paper from homes of the borough, by school students, in furnishing on April 1, 200 of 200 Bristol fighting machines? That was the contract. It was not done because a German spy, as any Senator can see, had cut the steel in two and filled it with lead and then painted it over, so that when the first machine was tried out it fell to the ground.

TOMMIEN MEAT TRIBLES London.—

Introducing the army estimates in the House of Commons, the Under Secretary of State for War said that the British army had received 145,000,000 tins of condensed milk; 11,000,000 pounds of cigars, and 250,000,000 yards of textiles.

In order to give some idea of the size of the British army, he said that in ten months 48,452 commissioned officers and 6,425 warrant officers have been appointed. 25,000 promotions had been made from second to first lieutenants, 16,800 officers and 19,100 men mentioned in honor lists. 600,000 men had been given leave in the last four months and 200,000 men in the last four weeks.

The Labor Corps now number 350,000. During 1917 there have been conveyed to the front 500,000 animals, 200,000 vehicles and 90,000,000 tons of supplies.

In Mesopotamia, he said, 1,100 square miles were already under cultivation for the benefit of the army.

SPIES PREVENT U.S. AIRPLANES FROM SOARING

Machines Doomed Upon Going Aloft, Because of Slack Protection Methods

Washington, March 29.—Exhibiting a steel bracket, vital in airplane construction, which had been plugged with lead so cleverly that it would give way when the plane went aloft and wreck the machine, Senator Overman, Democrat, of North Carolina, replied yesterday to charges that the Government has "fallen down" with its aircraft program. As a matter of fact, he said, the only Bristol plane to fly sank to the ground after reaching an altitude of a few hundred feet.

"This damnable work alone set back by two months the manufacture of Bristol planes," the Senator asserted, and added that he has asked the Military Affairs Committee of the Senate to institute an investigation of the extent to which spies are operating in important war-industry plants.

"I stated upon this floor when the espionage bill was up that there are 100,000 spies in this country, and I say now I believe that instead of 100,000 there are 400,000."

"Why have not these fighting planes been sent to France? Why have we not carried out our schedule in furnishing on April 1, 200 of 200 Bristol fighting machines? That was the contract. It was not done because a German spy, as any Senator can see, had cut the steel in two and filled it with lead and then painted it over, so that when the first machine was tried out it fell to the ground."

"That delayed the Bristol machines for more than two months. Every machine had to be examined; these pieces had to be remade, and an investigation had to be made because the men making the machines didn't know how these machines had been interfered with."

"If I were the President or the Secretary of War, I would commandeer the Curtiss plant, turn out all the men there and replace them with loyal Americans. Three of the leading men in that plant have German names. I make no charge against them, but we do know that spies are in that plant and they have delayed the furnishing of the Bristol machines to Pershing's Army."

U. S. Draws Tight Rein on Conservation in Cafes

Washington, March 29.—State food administrators yesterday were ordered to enforce rigidly by inspection and investigation the Food Administration's new conservation rules applicable to all public eating places.

Where violations are reported, the administrators were instructed to hold hearings open to the public and to the press, so that persons failing to co-operate in the nation's hour of emergency may be known to their fellow citizens.

Punitive measures, the nature of which will be determined in a consultation with authorities in Washington, must be imposed by the state administrators immediately on proof
