

SNYDER TO END OVERLAPPING

Directs a Conference Between State Officials and State College Officers

Auditor General Charles A. Snyder to-day said he expected in a short time to have a conference between officials of the Department of Agriculture and State College with regard to efforts to prevent duplication of work.

Mr. Snyder was not ready to-day to discuss the results of investigations which he had launched some time ago into expenditures of government methods of corporations in making tax returns and other details of his office.

Mr. Snyder replied. The Auditor General took a parting shot at the State Administration by saying that "no increases of pay granted during a primary fight are going to be paid. You can depend on that."

PROMINENT RESIDENT FAVORS MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT PLAN

Laws Under Which Borough Affairs Are Conducted Have Passed Their Day of Usefulness, Taxpayer Declares—Move Supported by Prominent Men It Is Understood.

A great deal of interest is shown by borough taxpayers in a move to make Steelton a third class city controlled by a municipal government. Several prominent residents and taxpayers are supporting the move and are anxious to do away with the inadequate method of conducting the affairs of a borough as prosperous as Steelton.

The taxpayer's letter is as follows: "To the Editor of the Harrisburg Telegraph: "Kindly allow a small space in your paper to a few thoughts in regard to municipal government. It appears the old laws of borough regulation have passed their day of usefulness. They were promulgated and enacted in 1851 by the state of Pennsylvania. They have been in force since that time and to-day they have passed away and do not suit the present age."

NEW AUTOS ARE BEING ENROLLED

State Authorities Find Much Doing in the Line of Brand New Cars Just Now

Applications for the registration of hundreds of automobiles are commencing to appear at the State Highway Department's automobile division and the number is running larger than expected because of the war.

State officials believe that the coming of mild weather will cause an immense movement of cars across Pennsylvania and that northern and central roads will be extensively used as well as the Lincoln highway, which had the bulk of the winter traffic, especially Army trucks.

Hulls Barred.—According to an opinion given by the Attorney General's Department peanut meal or peanut oil meal containing peanut hulls cannot be sold in Pennsylvania. The query was asked by Dr. James W. Kellogg, chief chemist of the Department of Agriculture, who called attention to the fact that manufacturers were placing the product on the market for cattle feed and that it had been discovered that hull fiber was contained therein. Rice hulls, peanut hulls and weed seeds cannot be used in feeding stuffs.

Check Cholera

Efforts to minimize spread of hog cholera in Pennsylvania this spring are being made by experts of the State Livestock Sanitary Board by insisting upon hogs sold at country sales being sound. This is the season of the year when sales are being held in many sections and where hogs are sold the state authorities are urging that buyers see that veterinarians inspect the pigs. These restrictions are declared by state officers to be important, as a general government to increase the number of hogs in the state is under way.

Avail Decision

Committees will be named by the organizations of inspectors of weights and measures in a short time to draft legislation to perfect the state laws governing inspections. The sealers will await the formal opinion of Judge S. J. McCarrill, of the Dauphin county court, before taking final action on proposed amendments. The Dauphin case involves liability after inspection.

Men of Good Judgment Appreciate Our Offering

All wool suits at "before the war" prices. This we can do because we ordered our present stock of wools before the advance in price. However, the great shortage of wool will not admit of such conservative prices in the future.

To be able to get a perfect tailored, perfect fitted, all-wool suit to-day at our reasonable prices, is almost too good to be true, but you can do it if you order at once.

We acknowledge no superiors in Quality, Fit or Workmanship.
