London, April 2.—The American decision to place American units in brigades with French and British battalions for immediate participation in the fighting on the western front is greeted by the morning newspapers as an historic action. The Daily Telegraph in its comment says: "The part played by President Wilson in the decision will not be forgotten by these peoples of Europe which already owe so much to his strong and resourceful statesmanship."

The Daily Chronicle says: "The fine spirit shown by the United States throughout this crisis has been the worre of timost encouragement and moral support to her alles in the war for victory and it is additional exdence of President Wilson's idealistic statesmanship."

"The spirit in which this measure has been taken by America," declares the Morning Post, "deserves, as it will receive the fullest seven, and in this country and that it will have serves, as it will receive the fullest seven, and in this country and that it will have in this weight in Germany too, we cannot doubt."

Ottawa, April 2.—A German order captured on the battlefield, says Reuter's correspondent telegraphing from French headquarters in France describes the order of battle of a German division in the present offensive as follows:

"The division advances in two regimental groups progressing side by side. The first line of each group consists first of one regiment of three battalions of infantry, whose task is to advance straight upon their objectives , regardless of losses, leaving the work of reducing our centers of resistance to specialist detach." resistance to specialist detach ments following them. These con-sist first of one company of storm troops, and one-half machine gun company, a half company of sappers, one detachment of liquid flame throwers, half a heavy trench mortar company, one battery of light trench mortars and two batteries of what is called infantry guns.

"This division is supported by 12 batteries of field guns and six of heavy artillery, including a battery of eight inch howitzers.
"According to miscons."

beaten off with loss. German attempts against Grivesnes, northwest of Montdidier were repulsed sanguinarily by the French.

Artillery exchanges continue on the rest of the front in France including the American sector near Toul and on the Italian front. The Austro-German artillery fire against the Italian lines is moderate and there are yet no indications that the enemy is ready to launch his attack with the many thousands of troops reported to have been brought from the eastern theater.

Sullivan, Chester Ford, John Morris and Ralph Simone. This farce made such a prompt success at the Harris Theater, in New York, that before the end of its first three months it was said to be in demand from North, East, South and West, for many months before Selwyn and Company were able to place it on tour. Its reputation is that it has had few equals.

ritory are defending themselves against the Turks who are attempting military occupation.

To-day's official reports on the situation along the great battle front revealed conditions virtually unchanged. Yesterday's dispatch from General Pershing in which it was noted that both sides were digging in between Montdidier and Noyon made it seem probable that the lull would continue in this sector at least and apparently there is little more activity on the line north from Montdidier and along the British front.

Considerable increase in the violence of the artillery fire at some points is announced which was to have been expected as the opposing armies were increasingly able to get their larger guns into position.

Paris has been subjected not only to another long range bombardment but to an air raid. At any rate the dispatches show a period of an hour and ten minutes early to-day between the sounding of an alarm and the "all clear" signal. No report as to bomb dropping or casualties, if any, has been issued however. The big gun bombardment, the eighth upon the region of Paris started shortly after 10 o'clock this forenoon.
