MORE CREDITS FOR ENLISTMENT

National Guardsmen to Help Keep Down the Quotas Under the New Draft

Western Pennsylvania is going to receive some good sized credits on calls for drafted men under the second call, which has been started under the classification of the selective draft law, because of the number of men they have sent to National army camps and the representation n organizations of the former Natinal Guard of Pennsylvania which ere formed, recognized and mustered in after war began. It is figured out at the office of Major W. G. Murdock, the state's Insurance For City hief draft officer, that because of the recent call under which over the recent call under which over 6,200 men were sent to Camp Lee and some shipments to Camp Sherman that close to 10.2 per cent. of the men that western Penn-sylvania would have to furnish under the draft have been sent and that the western counties, which are credited to those camps, will have credited to that extent. Camp Meade's territory will get credits of 2.7 per cent. Washington must con-firm these credits to make them official Those firme do make them official Those firme do make them official Those firme do make them 2.7 per cent. Washington must confirm these credits to make them official. These figures do not include men who have enlisted at regular army stations or who were in the organizations of the National Guard prior to the outbreak of the war. There were thousands of guardsmen. However, there are 3,394 men for which Pennsylvania can claim credit because they entered machine gun companies and othere units of the National Guard in July or August and were mustered into service, buill later scattered when their originations were broken up and made into new regiments.

The credits by units, which will be apportioned according to homes of men, are as follows:
The credits include fifty-three for each of the Harrisburg truck companies, fifty-eight for the headquarter ters company of the Eighth Regiment, hirty-sit for the supply company and seventy-four for the machine gun, supply and headquarters companies.
A nother matter discussions for a matrix of the Station was set forth by the Mayor. Will show that she be given the same powers as a patrolman, for she could make some mortanes. firm these credits to make them official. These figures do not include

In Market Street On Saturday afternoon James Mil-ler, a salesman for the Miller Auto Co. the local distributor for the Oldsmobile, drove a new Oldsmobile Sportster in Market street and left it stand for a few mimutes in front of the Dauphin Hotel, where it created so much attention and caused so much of a crowd to gather that one of the traffic officers requested Mr. Miller to drive it off the main thor-oughar. This car was driven from the Olds-mobile factory, arriving here on Sat-urday, and was immediately delivered to Mrs. B. F. Africa, 11 North Front street. It is one of the latest mod-els, very beautifully decorated in a dark green with orange stripes. The holstering, sloping windshield and the many other classic attractions of
