Jacob Fols Dies Suddenly in Room With Aged and Helpless Parent

Emigsville, Pa., April 15.—Stricken with apoplexy while seated in the same room with his aged and infirm father on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Jacob Fols, aged 45 years, residing a mile and a half west of here, collapsed and fell on the floor where he died. The elder Fols being unable to go to his assistance or summon help, was compelled to keep a lonely vigil beside the body until the following morning, about sixteen hours later, when a neighbor visited the house. Several minutes before the attack came on this same neighbor was at the house to look after the couple. The elder Fols is a confined invalid, while the son had not been well, although his condition was not considered alarming.

American Women Get Old French Beauty Secret

Six years ago a well-known society lady while traveling in France ran across an old French receipt used by ancient beauties which showed a process for combining the well-known beautifying oils (Almond, Palm, Coconut and Olive oil) with other nourishing substances, which when applied to the skin, it quickly brought about an almost magical transformation. With a single application the complexion immediately becomes most wonderful and when applied youthful in appearance. It is a little of the preparation, which comes in a delicate cream form, is gently rubbed on the face just before retiring or at some convenient time during the day you can almost see the hungry skin eat up or absorb the cream which does not feel the least bit sticky or greasy. Through its tonic action on the skin the dormant facial muscles revive, enlarged pores contract, lines, wrinkles and frown lines disappear and the skin becomes clear and more girlish looking in appearance. Beauty Doctors say that it is the only treatment which actually removes wrinkles and makes an old face look young and beautiful. This Old French Beauty Secret has been placed in a unique tin. Cream and it can now be obtained from any Good Beauty Store. These cream look from 10 to 20 years younger by its use.

Look and Feel Clean, Sweet and Fresh Every Day

Drink a glass of real hot water before breakfast to wash out poisons. Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will adopt the morning inside bath. Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter. Everyone, whether ailing, sick, or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile, and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs. The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatism; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter-pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store which will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.—Adv.

JUST A LITTLE STORY

In a Harrisburg business establishment was a young woman who was going to work week. She lived at home and paid no board. The firm called her into the office and asked her whether she had bought or intended to buy a Liberty Bond. The girl replied that she couldn't afford it. "Well," said the head of the firm, "so that you can afford it we are going to give you an increase of $100 a week—and we want you to buy a Bond." So the young lady went back to her position, and there told other employees the good news and made the firm "come across."

Woman Burns to Death at Home Near Gettysburg

Gettysburg, Pa., April 15.—Mrs. Mary Little, of Seven Stars, county village, about four miles from Gettysburg, was burned to death when her clothing took fire in a way that is unknown. Appearance of the body was such that it is believed she was in the kitchen, adjoining the house, when the flames started. There is no stove at that place around which she could have been working, but several burned matches on the floor evidently told the tale. She ran to the yard with her clothing and hair aflame, where she was seen by a little neighbor boy, who called his mother. The woman fell in the snow in the yard and by the time help was summoned she had been several hours. For thirty-two years she had been an assistant in the post office.

KILLED IN FRANCE

Riverside, Pa., April 14.—The latest casualty list contained the name of Sergeant Arthur McGee, of Riverside, as being among those killed. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis McGee, of Riverside. He was an inventive genius, was interested in wireless telegraphy and had his own plant.

GERMAN TONGUE IS DYING NATURAL DEATH

erty Bond industries when a Telegraph reporter inquired what effect the war would have on German speaking here. Significant, but not surprising, for although Mr. Moore is recognized now as the soul of patriotism, taking part in every activity leading to the overthrow of his native land, he is equally indifferent to the great mass of Americans to the only logical conclusion, that Kaiserism must not prevail. The German-American Alliance recently declared itself dissolved and gave its treasury to the Red Cross, the local organization automatically disappeared," said he, "although we had not broken up formally by the Maennerchor Society. However, that does not amount to much. It has been dwindling away for years until now there only twenty members, old fellows like myself who are not skillful in speaking English. The younger generation does not join us, and so I know the society will die a natural death very soon.

Plan For Democracy

Mr. Moeslein has received the communication of the Friends of German Democracy, the purpose of which is to further democracy by aiding the people to establish in Germany a government responsible to the people, but he has not signed the petition and is not greatly interested in it. He hardly thinks it necessary to identify himself with this organization which calls on American citizens of German stock to assert manhood by refusing this statement of the Kaiser: "Even now I rule supreme in the United States, where almost one-half of the population is either of German birth or German descent, and where 3,600,000 voters do my bidding at the presidential elections. No American administration could remain in power against the will of the German voters who through that admirable organization, the German-American National League of the United States of America, control the destinies of the vast republic beyond the sea. If a man was ever worthy of a high decoration at my hands, it was Herr Dr. Heister, the president of the league, who may justly be termed to be, by my grace, the acting ruler of all the Germans in the United States."

E. J. Stackpole Tells Rotarians Soldiers He Saw in Camp Are Anxious to Fight

"The morale of the men in the training camps is high. Their one fear is that they may not see France in time for a part in the war. They know full well what the Hun has done and why we are in the war and they are anxious to fight. It remains for us at home to do our part, to keep our spirits up and to do our utmost to provide everything in abundance which our soldiers need. I can assure you, after a visit to the camps, that the soldiers are all that we can ask and that they have their eyes on back home and desire nothing so much as that we do our full part; and that, done, who can doubt the ultimate result."

Urges Quick Action

"If the Allies had lost the war, and if a German tax collector announced that he would sit at the Courthouse on a certain morning ready to receive Harrisburg's property, I imagine that recalling the experiences of Belgium and parts of France, the majority of Harrisburg citizens would be lined up waiting to pay taxes before the window opened," said Andrew S. Patterson this morning.

Rapture Kills 7,000 Annually

Seven thousand persons each year are laid away—the burial certificates being marked "Rapture." Why? Because the unfortunate ones had neglected themselves or had neglected taking care of the signs (swelling) of the affliction and paying no attention to the physician's orders. Are you neglecting yourself by wearing a truss, appliance, or whatever you are choosing to call it? At best the truss is only a makeshift—a false prop against a collapsing wall—and cannot be expected to act as a permanent support. The binding pressure retards blood circulation, thus robbing the weakened muscles of that which they need most—nourishment.
